SUMMARY.

A thrilling story of the landing of the Australasian troops at Gaba Tepe is told by Mr. Ashmead Bartlett.

The landing took place in the darkness of the early morning.

As the boats were nearing the shore the Turks broke the suspense with a terrific fusillade.

The colonials, without waiting to charge their rifle magazines, leaped into the water, and rushed the enemy with cold steel.

More stubborn resistance by the Turks was met with later, the enemy's snipers being well posted.

Our troops, however, maintained their ground, and reinforcements were landed.

The Australians and New Zealanders are pushing towards the coast opposite Nagara.

The latest accounts to hand state that the Allies are advancing steadily.

The Turks have been reinforced by a division, and desperate fighting is in progress.

The "Daily Chronicle's" correspondent states that the fleet has made considerable progress.

Many of the wounded soldiers have arrived at Malta. Accommodation has been provided for 8000 wounded.

In the House of Commons Mr. Asquith detailed the landing of troops at the Dardanelles.

The whole landing, he said, was magnificently supported by the naval forces.

Three Russian airmen dropped bombs on Constantinople, doing considerable damage.

Japan's ultimatum has been presented to China. A reply is demanded within 48 hours.

It is believed in Washington that China will yield to force majeure.

The United States has expressed willingness to offer her services for the adjustment of the dispute.

The German Emperor, the Chancellor, and Herr von Jagow, have returned to Berlin in connection with the Italian situation.

The "Kolnische Volkszeitung" believes that war with Italy is inevitable.

If it comes, it says, Germany's hatred of England will be nothing as compared with her hatred of Italy for her treachery.

Four German cruisers and eight torpedo boats have been sighted in the Baltic going eastwards.

A Petrograd communique reports an engagement near Libau with a number of German torpedo boats.

German submarines by gunfire sank a trawler in the North Sea and a schooner off the Irish coast.

The Danish steamer Cathay was mined or torpedoed and sank near Ramsgate. All hands were saved.

In the western theatre of war the British by a counter-attack recovered portion of the lost trenches on Hill 60.

A Berlin communique claims that the Germans have captured 2000 French soldiers and several guns at Bois d'Ailly.

A Paris message, however, declares that the French by counter-attacks have regained more ground.

Incessant abortive German attacks are being made east of the Mlawa railway, Poland. The enemy left 1030 dead on the field.

An Austrian communique claims that the Russians are retreating along the whole front.

The Russian Embassy in Paris denies the reported victory of the enemy in Western Galicia.

The eighth casualty list issued last night shows that the total number of Australians killed in the Dardanelles fighting is 142.

Mr. Samuel Hordern has been elected president of the Royal Agricultural Society.

The visiting Liberal Ministers of Victoria and Queensland were entertained at Parliament House last night.

Despite the rain 150 men of a good type presented themselves for enlistment yesterday.

The memorial service for the late Colonel MacLaurin at St. Stephen's Church was largely attended.

The Rev. J. Ferguson expressed the hope that the young men of Australia would come forward as they had never done before.

The Minister for Defence has received a cable from the War Office notifying that it cannot utilise the services of women doctors.

The Imperial Government has accepted New Zealand's offer of another stationary hospital at the front.

The National Council of Women urges that the King's health on Belgian Day should be drunk in non-alcoholic liquor.

Empire Day (May 24) is to be proclaimed a public holiday. Bands will perform in the parks and public places.

Mr. Knibbs has prepared a statement of the increases in food prices in Europe and Australia since the war began.

Generally speaking, the increase was much less in Australia than in Europe.

The Chamber of Commerce has made a suggestion to the Federal Government to cope with enemy trading.

It is urged that the trade marks of concerns in which shareholders are mostly Germans should be officially published.

The debate on the bill to annul contracts bill to annul enemy contracts was continued in the House of Representatives.

A Melbourne importer was fined £25 yesterday for attempting to trade with the enemy.

Over seven inches of rain have fallen in the Maitland district this week.

The Hunter is in flood, and a considerable area of farm lands is inundated.

The Premiers' Conference decided to urge the Commonwealth to take over the minting of gold coin.

It was also resolved that each State should take steps to establish uniformity in land valuations.

The Conference discussed in camera with Mr. Fisher proposals for assisting in the formation of Australian contingents.

A conference between Commonwealth and State authorities has been arranged to prevent the overlapping of statistical effort.

Further disclosures with regard to the Australian occupation of Rabaul were made in the House of Representatives.

The Victorian Fruit Commission commenced its inquiries in Sydney yesterday.

A good deal of the evidence taken related to the export of fruit and the treatment of diseases and pests.

In the House of Representatives Mr. Hughes was urged to appeal for the more prompt despatch of war news to Australia.

In the Senate the Government was asked to take steps to make the Interstate Commission "more useful to the Commonwealth."

The Crimes Bill was received from the House of Representatives and passed through all its stages.

The Patents Bill was also received, and read the first time.

After seven weeks' idleness, owing to the miners striking, Lambton B pit has resumed work. A compromise was arranged.

A man named Benjamin Durin was run over by a goods train near Thirroul and killed.

The coursing meeting was concluded at Rooty Hill yesterday. Montroy won the Derby and All Mine the Oaks.

A larger volume of business than the average turnover was transacted on the Sydney Stock Exchange yesterday.

Prices showed a distinct downward tendency.

The mining market was not so active, but values generally were fairly well maintained.

There was a good inquiry for dairy produce at full rates. Butter was unchanged at 126/ per cwt.

Many orders for bacon were received from the other States, and values were well held.

The egg market was quiet, but holders were firm. New-laids brought 2/4 to 2/6.

Four hundred cases of eggs from San Francisco were disposed of at up to 2/.

Forecast: Clearing showers along the coast; otherwise fine; southerly winds generally.

FARMER'S, SYDNEY.
THE HOUSE OF DISTINCTION.

THE GIRL'S COLLEGE DRESS

IS SEEN AT ITS BEST AT FARMER'S,
NEW AND INEXPENSIVE STYLES
ARE FEATURED HEREUNDER.

The stamp of refinement is evident in each Dress, and the prices are more than ordinarily keen. Those who look for serviceability, refinement, and value in the School Frock will find all three in the following excellent styles for present season's wear.

CHILD'S SMARTLY-CUT NAVY SERGE TUNIC. The white collar is of pique, and can be detached. Low waist, finished black patent belt.
Lengths: 22, 24, 26 inches.
PRICE, 8/6.

NEATLY-DESIGNED COATING SERGE FROCK, opens in front, has low waist band, and pleated skirt; white pique collar and silk tie.
Lengths: 24, 27, 30, 33 inches.
PRICE, 12/6.

FINE NAVY COATING SERGE DRESS, ALL WOOL, designed with turned-down collar, Tartan Silk bow, low waist band, and pleated skirt; front of dress finished buttons to tone.
Lengths: 24, 27, 30, 33, 36, 39 inches.

A KEEN-CUTTING EDGE

can only be preserved and maintained by continual stropping on a genuine, well-prepared Strop, such as the
W. JNO. BAKER STROP.
All my Strops are made from leather specially tanned to produce a soft, gripping surface that will give the utmost satisfaction.
I have them worked up before sending out, to give a keen-cutting edge, and this supplies a want which is often forgotten when a new Strop is purchased.
NEW DESIGN.
I wish to announce that, in addition to my regular line of Strops, I now have a new design, made of the finest velvet-surface leather, beautifully made and finished, with padded grip handle. Prices, 3/6, 5/, 7/6, 10/6.
I CAN RECOMMEND THESE as being amongst THE BEST I HAVE YET PRODUCED.
DOWNY TAN.
My famous Downy Tan Razor Strops have stood the test of over 20 years. A Victorian customer writes of one of these:—"And I might add that the fo...aized Strop I procured from you some 12 years ago has proved a beauty." Price, from 1/6 each.
W. JNO. BAKER,
"The House of Steel,"
3 HUNTER-STREET, SYDNEY.

WHAT DO YOU DO?

Most men when their pants wear out cast the remainder of the suit aside as useless. They either keep the coat and vest for gardening in, or fishing in; or give it to the Belgian Fund, or just pass it over to the moths. What do you do?

Well, any of these methods are all right, so long as you can afford them, but there are lots of people who can't, and to whom the purchase of a new suit is a serious financial proposition. It is for those people that this "ad." is written.

Just visit our Trouser Department, and you will find an assortment of smart Striped Worsted Trousers, a pair of which will not only match or blend nicely with your discarded coat and vest, but which will make the old garments themselves look bright and fresh—practically a New Suit for a few shillings.

STRIPED WORSTED TROUSERS

give splendid wear, and, owing to the cut we give them, can be worn anywhere. Made from finest Australian or British materials, with Fancy Stripes, light or dark on grey and black backgrounds. Cross, side, and hip pockets.
PRICE 17/6

Extra well tailored and finished, and the best Trouser value in Sydney.
PRICE .... 17/6.

TWO WEEKS IN SAN FRANCISCO.
THE PANAMA-PACIFIC EXPOSITION
is now open. Forty-one Nations represented at the Exposition emphasises its International Character. It is the most colossal of Expositions the world has ever seen; and its interest to the man of business and to the tourist is something that may not be duplicated for many years. Like Niagara Falls, this great Exposition, which has taken years to prepare, cannot be adequately described, but we have literature on its wonders which will be sent to you on application.

SEVEN WEEKS IN ALL.
Approximately from Sydney to San Francisco and back occupies 7 weeks—5 at sea, 2 on shore. In these 2 weeks you can see the Exposition, the Yosemite Valley, the Grand Canyon, Rocky Mtns., etc. No other line has so fast a time-table; but our return tickets are interchangeable with the other Trans-Pacific Companies. Our route is via Honolulu going; Honolulu and Samoa returning.

LONDON IN 29 DAYS.
The great war has made little difference on our time to London. In conjunction with the Trans-Atlantic "fliers," we are landing Australian passengers in London in less than one month.

SKANDIA. SKANDIA. SKANDIA.
The Successful
Crude or Kerosene Oil Engine.
MARINE. STATIONARY. PORTABLE.
Another record to the long list. Arriving by the S.S. Tasmanic is the largest shipment of Crude Oil Marine Engines to enter Australia in one consignment, and which are sold before arrival. This speaks volumes for the superiority of the "Skandia" Engines.
Manufactured from 2½ to 600 b.h.p., with special advantages. Suitable for every kind of marine craft and cargo winches.
This is the ideal engine for pumping, electric lighting, farm machinery, hoists, mining, and industrial sets.
Fuel used costs 6d per gallon.
Intending purchasers before deciding on another engine, should look further into the merits of the "Skandia," as it will do for them what it is doing for others. A better investment never known. Write to-day for particulars; or, better still, call, and have a practical demonstration.

STANDARD OIL ENGINES
are the highest grade OIL ENGINES on the market. We frequently receive, entirely unsolicited, valuable testimony regarding the exceptional qualities and general efficiency of these famous Engines.
Mr. J. M. Kingwell, of the Bellita Transport Co., Ltd., Mackay, N.Q., to whom we supplied a 12-h.p. "STANDARD" Engine four years ago, writes as follows:—"The Engine is still going good; have carried over twenty-four thousand (24,000) passengers without a miss; pretty good."
WAUGH and JOSEPHSON, Sole Agents,
Goulburn and Brisbane streets, Sydney.

CHEAPER FUEL FOR OIL ENGINES.
In response to many suggestions that we should provide a cheaper fuel for "Standard" and other Benzine Oil Engines, we have pleasure to intimate that we have made arrangements for supplying a high-grade Special Engine Distillate in any quantity at prices which will greatly reduce the running cost of all Benzine Oil Engines. Prices and further information from WAUGH and JOSEPHSON, Goulburn and Brisbane streets, Sydney.

POULTRY FOR PROFIT.
STATISTICS published from time to time by the DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE go to SHOW that there is MONEY to be made by the POULTRY-BREEDER. Indeed, successful POULTRY MEN have LONG SINCE recognised that the LAYING HEN is the PAYING HEN.
The PRACTICAL MAN—the man who makes poultry pay—puts in a PLANT that will REAR STRONG, HEALTHY CHICKS—incubators that have PROVED their merit—the NEWEST ideas in BROODERS, and the most EFFICIENT Bone CUTTERS and Grinding MILLS, and the wise man who keeps a check on his expenditure saves money by buying POULTRY REQUISITES through the AGENCY of
ANTHONY HORDERNS' FAMOUS LOW PRICES.

CYPHERS INCUBATORS.
The Cyphers Non-moisture Incubators are guaranteed by the makers to be self-ventilating, self-regulating, to operate with less oil and at less expense than many other makes, and to produce larger and stronger chicks. The Cyphers is simple and easy to operate.
No. 0, 60-egg, £7.
No. 1, 140-egg, £10/15/.
No. 2, 240-egg, £14.
No. 3, 390-egg, £17/5/.

NEW BUFFALO INCUBATORS.
In the construction of the NEW BUFFALO INCUBATORS (designed and manufactured by CHARLES A. CYPHERS) little wood is used. The casing is of galvanised iron, and can never rust. It is lined with fibre board, which eliminates any loss of heat by radiation. The walls are double, the space between the inner and outer cases being well packed. This makes an incubator as substantial and well insulated as it is possible to manufacture. The front is made of hardwood, finished in the natural grain. In addition to a glass door, it has an outer hardwood panelled door to darken the hatching chamber and to preserve the heat.
The NEW BUFFALO is a non-moisture incubator. The pure air is heated in a three-compartment heater, and evenly diffused through porous diaphragms into the hatching chamber and bottom case, assuring perfect ventilation and heating.
Poultry breeders are invited to inspect the NEW BUFFALO. It possesses many points which stand for efficiency, simplicity, durability, and accurate heat regulation.

GREEN BONE CUTTERS.
Green Bone Cutters have made a firm and lasting place for themselves in the yards of leading practical poultrymen. The successful poultryman who does not have a Bone Cutter is an exception. A Green Bone Cutter will enable you to so feed your hens that they will join the ranks of the layers, and it will be odds on that you'll have plenty of eggs.
MANN'S GREEN BONE CUTTERS, No. 5, 48/6 and 62/6.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL NOTICES

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL OF SYDNEY.
LEVELS OF SHERBROOKE-STREET.

NOTICE is hereby given that a PLAN and Sections, showing the proposed Amended Levels of SHERBROOKE-STREET, are now lying at the office of the City Surveyor, Town Hall, Sydney, and all persons interested in such public way are hereby required to set forth in writing, addressed and submitted to the Town Clerk, Town Hall, Sydney, within one month from the first publication of this notice, any objection to the adoption of such plan and sections, and also any claim for any loss or damage that they may sustain by the adoption thereof.
THOMAS H. NESBITT, Town Clerk.
Town Hall, Sydney, 1st May, 1915.

MUNICIPALITY OF NORTH SYDNEY.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Council of the abovenamed Municipality proposes to alter the levels of the Roads and Lanes hereunder specified—that is to say:—
1. Clark-road, near High-street.
2. Sutherland-street, between Ben Boyd-road and Young-street.
3. Cremorne-lane.
4. Shell Cove-road, from Billong-street to Shell Cove-avenue.
Plans and Sections showing the levels proposed to be altered may be seen at the Town Hall, North Sydney, any lawful day during office hours, and the same will be considered at a meeting of the Works Committee of the whole Council to be held at the Town Hall, North Sydney, on TUESDAY, the 25th day of May, 1915, at 8.30 p.m., or as soon thereafter as the course of business will permit, when any person interested may object, and will be heard thereupon.
Dated this 30th day of April, 1915.

THE TYRES FOR ROUGH ROADS.
PALMER CORD TYRES.
PALMER CORD TYRES.
Winter is setting in—the motorist must now prepare for greasy blocks and muddy pools along his route. The triple-rib Palmer Tyre is the best for such conditions.
Palmer Construction does not permit of canvas in any part of the tyre. Consequently there is no risk of damage by moisture. Write for the Palmer Cord Book, which explains the construction of these remarkable tyres.

WHAT YOU GET IN AN "OVERLAND."

Part for part you get more in an "OVERLAND" for the price you pay than in any other Car on the market. That's why the Overland outsells all Cars in its class.

75,000 Overlands will be built in 1915, and we are usually sold out as shipments arrive. The same applies to all other Overland Agents in all parts of the world.

The demand is greater than the supply, because the Overland is worth from £50 to £100 more than any other Car selling at the Overland price. If you examine and compare the Overland with other Cars, you will see the extra value—YOU MUST see it.

1915 MODELS, £330 TO £395.

THE BRISCOE,
A FRENCH CAR AT AN AMERICAN PRICE.

We ask you to see the Briscoe. We believe you will agree that it is the most beautiful light Car in design and finish ever offered. It looks like £700, but sells with complete equipment, including self-starter and electric light, at £325.

The Runabout Model has "Clover Leaf" Body, to seat three, with separate arm chairs for each passenger.

THE CAR-NATION.

The most amazing value for the money ever offered in Australia.

4-cylinder, 18-22 h.p. Motor, Enclosed Valves, 3 speeds, Gate Change, High Tension Waterproof Magneto, Cantilever Springs, Automatic Pump, Lubricator, with Hood and Boot, Windscreen, Mats, Speedometer, deep Turkish Upholstery, and finished in Grey or Biscuit.

NO ADVANCE IN PRICES.

SINGLE-SEATER, £229. FOUR-SEATER, £248.

THE "SAXON" RUNABOUT.

Creased America under bad weather and road conditions at a total cost of less than £8 over 3400 miles. This represents the lowest upkeep expense possible with any Car. The "SAXON" has 4-cylinder, 15-h.p. Motor, Enclosed Valves, Pressed Steel Rear Axle Housing, Gate Change, Cantilever Springs, and all the latest features.

This Car is just the idea for Travellers, Professional Men, and all those who must motor economically.

The Price, £165, will only last until our next shipment arrives, when it advances to £195.

AGAIN— —THE RUDGE WINS.

AT THE 50 MILES RELIABILITY TRIAL OF THE CENTRAL CUMBERLAND CLUB, HELD ON SATURDAY LAST OVER THE PARRAMATTA-WINDSOR-KINGSWOOD COURSE, B. PRATLEY GAINED FIRST PLACE ON A 3½-H.P. RUDGE MACHINE IN THE SOLO SECTION.

This result offers further proof of the reliability, efficiency, and superiority of Rudge Motor Cycles.

From all parts of the world overwhelming evidence of the soundness of the Rudge-Whitworth workmanship comes forward to testify to the excellence of these splendid machines.

Their remarkable freedom from breakdown under conditions of extraordinary stress and difficulty is continually commented on.

THE CAR BUICK. THAT GLIDES.

SPECIAL EXPORT MODEL.

The small difference (if any) now prevailing between the prices of this special Buick and that of other cars gives us an argument that cannot be logically resisted.

The present-day 22-H.P. engine is now of eight years' standing, and no alteration. Other makers bring out a new model each year. Does it not stand to reason something was wrong with the old model?

Quite 50 per cent. of cars sold to-day are 22-H.P., same as Buick adopted eight years ago.

It is almost inconceivable to imagine a Buick wearing out, so when you buy a Buick you buy it to keep for years and years, and not for a few months.

SINGLE-SEATER, £340. TOURING CARS, £375 & £385.

BUICK SERVICE CAR.

HOUSES AND LAND FOR SALE.

HOME-MAKERS BUSY AT HURSTVILLE.
Among the many bright and pleasant suburbs of Sydney HURSTVILLE ranks as one preeminently picturesque, cheery, and healthy. Its growth during the past ten years is greater than that of many of the suburbs nearer the city. Those who have and are investing in its lands, or building their homes there, know that every penny will bring a thousand-fold return. The population of Hurstville in 1904 comprised a total of 3840 SOULS. TO-DAY IT IS OVER 10,000, an increase of nearly six and a half thousands in just over ten years. PLACES DON'T GROW LIKE THIS UNLESS IT PAYS EITHER IN HEALTH OR POCKET. HURSTVILLE PAYS LIBERALLY IN BOTH. Enjoying a nice elevation of 200ft, it possess a panoramic views of beautiful country with Como, George's River, and Oatley Bay right to your hand for Bathing, Boating, Fishing, etc. Nine miles only from Sydney—a half-hour fan, and an excellent train service. The following Estates are situate at Connell's Point, which overlooks the finest stretches of the George's River, and will appeal instantly to the Home Maker or the Investor, because the value offered is particularly good, and doubly inviting in view of the wonderful progress of this delightful suburb. See them for yourself. Get a Plan To-day!

CANTERBURY. CANTERBURY. CANTERBURY.
Beautiful new Cottage Homes in this most healthy and progressive district, all within a few minutes of railway station. To meet the times and to enable you to get away from the worn-out style of paying rent, which really amounts to paying money for nothing, I have arranged with several vendors to sell their new properties on Deposits of £25—Several of these.
Deposits of £20—Several of these.
Deposits of £50—Good collection to choose from.
The balance of purchase money to be paid at the rate of £1 weekly, including principal and interest, the latter adjusted quarterly on quarterly balances.
This is what the "Sydney Morning Herald" of 21st ult. says about CANTERBURY'S building progress. "Since 1st January this year 190 new buildings have been completed in Canterbury at a cost of nearly £70,000. This is an average of close on 2 buildings per day." Does this not strike you as being the industrial suburb in which to purchase your home? Why pay rent when you have an opportunity like the above placed before you?

"FIVE DOCK VERY MUCH ALIVE!"

Lately the immense advantages of Five Dock as a select residential suburb have come to the front. People who have been wandering around on business or pleasure bent, have, in passing through this beautiful district, been struck with its delightful rural charm, and yet it is within easy reach by direct tram service of the city (fare is 3d from Circular Quay).

Five Dock and Haberfield may be called the TWIN SISTER GARDEN SUBURBS, for one is as like the other as two peas in a general way, FIVE DOCK, however, having advantages in picturesque surroundings and views that Haberfield lacks, because Five Dock is slightly higher in elevation.

BUILD YOUR HOME AT FIVE DOCK!

has become a sort of slogan with a lot of people who appreciate its select, secluded, refined, rural character, while the lovely, lawn-like appearance of the two Estates named below have induced many people to buy HOMESITES ON RICKARD'S EASIEST OF TERMS. The locality is distinctly bright, healthy, and popular. City Water and Gas are already on the FAIRLIGHT ESTATE, where fine homes have been and are being built, while these services will soon be available for the Fairlight Extension Estate, which adjoins the former.

ABBOTSFORD TRAM TAKES YOU THERE.

The Estates front the tram line, and are situate about midway between Haberfield and Five Dock Post Offices, while the Public Schools and stores are quite handy. If you've ever been in a difficulty as to where to locate your permanent residence we counsel you to have a look at these beautiful park-like Estates. The trip by tram is pleasant, and we're sure you will like the properties immensely. Soil is of excellent quality for gardens and lawns, in every way good for those who desire a pretty homesite in a lovely situation.

FAIRLIGHT
ESTATE runs right back from Ramsay-road (a fine thoroughfare, 100ft wide, and along which the Haberfield-Abbotsford tram line runs) to the Henley Marine Drive, and a magnificent Public Park Reserve. Beautifully made roads and streets subdivide the property. Lots average 50 x 150 ft, and exceptional value from 42/6 ft.

FAIRLIGHT EXTENSION
ESTATE adjoins our Fairlight Estate, and extends from Five Dock Public Park, with fine streets and roads. The Henley Marine Drive bounds this property, too, and is a popular rendezvous with the residents of the district. Lots range from 50 x 130 ft, and is a first-class investment from 40/ a foot.

EASIEST OF TERMS. TORRENS TITLE.

If every man and woman in Sydney realised the immense advantages of Rickard's Easy Terms there would not remain a single family paying rent within twelve months. All you pay is £1 down and 10/ a month (which covers both principal and interest at 5 per cent. per annum) for each £25 worth purchased. Therefore, in your own interests, Don't Pay Rent. Call in for plans of any of our Estates. FREE FOR THE ASKING. CALL OR WRITE.

THE GARDEN OF THE STATE!

When people refer to the New England District, particularly Glen Innes, this is the popular expression used. Many fortunes have been wrung from its rich, deep soil, which is so fertile that in some cases farms have been cultivated for over 50 years without any artificial dressing. GLEN INNES is a large distributing centre, midway between Sydney and Brisbane—consequently there is a large and healthy market for produce in the town. All fodder crops grow luxuriantly, while Mixed Farming and Dairying is carried on with huge success. The Farmers' Co-operative Butter Company and Bacon Factory pay considerably over £10,000 per annum for supplies. These are the facts about the famous

FURRACABAD FARMS ESTATE,

GLEN INNES (NEW ENGLAND DISTRICT).

Then the Furracabad Creek, which runs through the property, provides a never-failing water supply, and the Rainfall is excellent, averaging 33 inches. DROUGHT IS UNKNOWN. All the Farms are improved, fenced, cleared, and cultivated, and are ready for occupying and working at once. Situate within a radius of 3 to 7 miles of the town of Glen Innes within easy distance of the Station, Superior Public School, the attendance at which is considerably over 600. The areas of the Farms are from 56 to 696 acres, and are offered at the remarkably low price of £6 an acre. Buyers can reach Furracabad via Glen Innes from Sydney, Newcastle, and Brisbane by Rail direct.

Why Have Poor Hair when—— KOKO is so delightful to use?

"I cannot do without Koko for dressing my hair. It is simply delightful, and a grand tonic. I have used Koko for years as a dressing, because I can do my hair so much easier with it. Koko makes a beautiful sheen on the hair, and keeps it nice and 'wavy.'"

"I never believed Koko could be such a delightful dressing. It is the pleasantest preparation imaginable to make the hair soft and glossy. All that my friends said about Koko is true. It is most cleansing and refreshing, without grease or unpleasant odour. One can hardly credit the improvement after using Koko a few times."

"Koko is excellent; an exquisite dressing that should be on every dressing table. It is so clean, and the hair shows the improvement so quickly. I advised a friend to use Koko, and now she has the loveliest hair imaginable."

"It is only fair to tell you that Koko is the most delightful dressing for the hair I have ever used. After a fortnight a beautiful sheen came on my hair. I find I need only wash my head once in two months now that I use Koko, and my hair is always beautifully clean. Koko makes the hair soft and glossy, and gives a delightfully natural 'wave.'"

(Such statements as these reach us freely without any request. Names will be given or original letters shown to those interested.)

KOKO is British-owned and British-made.

You were given beautiful hair. What are you doing to preserve it? Are you giving it even so much as the five minutes' attention night and morning that will save years of after regret? You must know that Nature only provides sufficiently against inattention while you are reaching years of discretion. And yet you do nothing until serious deterioration startles you. Naturally, you dislike having your hair matted and greasy with oily hair tonics, but surely in the 25 years of our advertising Koko for the hair you have read that it is "neither sticky nor greasy?"

If you "don't read advertisements as a rule," one acquaintance out of the thousand customers recommending Koko for its cleanliness must have counselled you to try this agreeable preparation for failing hair in place of the unpleasant mixture you had been using? Or perhaps you are one of these who "don't believe in advertised goods?" If this is so, Lord Chelmsford does not agree with you, for even with his infinitely wider selection as our Governor he "always bought well advertised goods, because he usually found them the best." If you believe that a hair preparation cannot be efficient and yet delightful to use; quick to obtain results, and yet harmless enough to use on an infant's scalp; helpful to restore to thin and fading hair something of its old time richness, and yet invaluable as a daily dressing for the hair, then it is for you that we publish such convincing records as reach us voluntarily, telling what Koko has done for the hair and how delightful it is to use, because we know that in time you will thus be persuaded to try Koko for the hair. As an inducement to do so now we offer

LIFE IN LONDON AND THEREABOUT.

(CHRONICLED BY SIR HENRY LUCY.)

British Dyes—Workmen and the War—Easter Holidays—Cost of the War—Slaughter on the Battlefield—What Happened in 1870.

WESTMINSTER, March 27.

The check suffered by the project to add the production of dyes to British industries must not be regarded as otherwise than temporary. The number of applicants for shares did not exceed 880, and of the capital of one million offered, little more than half was applied for. In these circumstances the directors wisely decided not to proceed to allotment. But the scheme which has behind it the powerful assistance of the Board of Trade is not dead. It is only sleeping. The interests at stake, involving the prosperity, indeed, the continued existence, of the textile trade, are too colossal to be deserted after a first repulse. The innate difficulty about the scheme is that it does not appeal directly to the investing public, who are ready enough to provide money far in excess of the twelve millions asked for on account of the Queensland loan. It is a trade affair exclusively, interesting to a particular class of manufacturers. From the first they were not attracted by the particular scheme put forward for the formation of a company. By the light of experience that can be altered. The President of the Board of Trade is not the kind of man likely to be disheartened by a first rebuff.

On the other hand, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, engaged in a fresh attempt to deal with the labour question, has met with his accustomed success. His remarkable tact, his shrewd business capacity, and his rare ability to master at a glance a many-sided complicated problem, has been displayed in the fullest measure in his conference with the employers and with the trade-union leaders representing the working men. The secret of his initial success is an open one. For generations it has been the custom for the Chancellor of the Exchequer and the President of the Board of Trade, finding themselves faced by a financial or commercial crisis, to evolve from their inner consciousness a method of compulsorily meeting it. Mr. Lloyd George hit upon a better way. He entered upon successive tasks by privily inviting representatives of the varied interests concerned to meet him for a quiet and confidential talk. "Come, let us reason together," has been his motto, whether in his early Ministerial career at the Board of Trade or later at the Treasury, where, since the titanic struggle on the Continent began, his peaceful victories have been not less renowned than those of war.

The prospects of the coming Easter are not bright from the holiday maker's point of view. It is in ordinary times the season of the year when the railway companies wake up after the comparative torpidity of the winter and make extensive and liberally devised plans to entice the Easter holiday tripper. There will be neither cheap tickets nor excursion trains next week, this for the sufficient reason that the resources of the main lines trending south are fully occupied in the service of the War Office. Whilst the consequences will be inconvenient for the multitude of hard workers in town who look for holiday intervals of four or five days at Easter, it will seriously affect the revenues of hotelkeepers, lodging-house letters, and tradesmen generally in popular watering-places, especially on the sea coast. Some of these, it is true, counting their takings in the last seven months, have no cause to complain. By the billeting of troops in training for the front they have had their daily customers nearly doubled in number. They would have difficulty in finding room for the ordinary Easter holiday maker, his wife and family. All the same, they complain dolefully of the prospect of their absence.

During the first years of the return to office of a Liberal Administration reduction of the national debt steadily went forward at an unprecedented rate. Whilst Chancellor of the Exchequer Mr. Asquith devoted himself to the duty with untiring persistence. The example was followed with equal zeal and ability by his successor at the Treasury. An appreciable reduction was made in the capital sum, materially lightening the burden of interest on the debt. Had it been possible for this state of things to be prolonged the process of reduction, quickened by automatic savings on interest being applied to further purchases of Consols, would have brought the country within measurable distance of the halcyon time when it would be free from the legacy of debt consequent on successive wars.

Then comes the war, forced upon an unwilling world by the ruthless ambition of the Kaiser. Like Napoleon's "whiff of grapeshot" along the streets of Paris at a critical moment, it shattered the comparatively puny efforts of hard-working Chancellors of the Exchequer. Not only has the sinking fund, sacred in the eyes of sound financiers, become a thing of the past, but with a daily war expenditure approaching two millions sterling fresh debt is being piled up. An eminent statistical authority estimates that the war will result in the addition to the national debt of one thousand million pounds—£1,000,000,000! This will involve a permanent addition of forty millions per annum to the burden of our taxation.

There is, happily, a credit side to this stupendous sum. When militarism in Germany is destroyed, and an honest, industrious people are permitted to set about the rebuilding of the prosperity shattered by its domination, the British taxpayer will be relieved from the enormous cost imposed upon him by the rivalry of maintaining an ever-increasing navy. In the financial year approaching a close, 51½ millions were lavished upon the navy. This colossal sum was made necessary in view of the game of beggar-my-neighbour forced upon this country by Germany. With Germany tethered, there is no reason why the maximum expenditure of the British fleet should exceed the 25 millions that serves the French.

A year ago Napoleon held the bad pre-eminence of being the man who had brought upon the world a fuller measure of sorrow than any other individual. The German Emperor has the satisfaction of reflecting that, though he has egregiously failed in other efforts, he has dislodged the Corsican from a place in history held for more than a century. During the eight months the war has raged in the east and west of Europe, more brave men have been slaughtered, more happy homes destroyed, more wives widowed, more children made fatherless, than in any one of the completed campaigns of Napoleon. Before the war is finished, it is probable that its toll of human life and happiness will exceed the aggregate of the butcheries through which Napoleon fought his way to the Tuileries en route to St. Helena.

During the last 10 days the slaughter of British and Indian troops has been frightful. The excessive proportion of officers killed or wounded testifies to their reckless courage. The sad thing is that the long roll of honour that daily occupies columns in the newspapers is only the beginning of the sad story. With an additional million men in the field, it will gruesomely grow. Of course, with the enemy and our Allies, each with more men in the field than Great Britain and her colonies have yet put there, the gaps made in their home life are considerably wider.

There is a vague impression growing out of the memories of the Franco-German war that in 1870 Germany had a walk-over to Paris, inflicting huge losses on the enemy, her own being comparatively trifling. Reading again Bismarck's letters to his wife, a book that reveals much about a great personality, one is reminded that this is far from being the case. Bismarck, with unexpected emotion, laments the loss of life. At Worth, he tells his wife 8000 German troops were slain, not counting 2000 missing. The Fifth Division of the German army lost 100 officers, of whom 19 were killed outright. "I have," he writes, "just seen a battalion on the 12th Regiment, which has but three officers, a sergeant acting as adjutant. It is a shame to lose so many of these heroes. But," he characteristically comforts himself with the reflection, "the moral impression on the French soldiers is so overpowering that it may spare us much bloodshed in the future."

JAPAN AND CHINA.

(BY DR. J. INGRAM BRYAN.)

TOKYO, March 13.

At this moment negotiations between Japan and China appear to have reached a deadlock, and the outcome no one can foresee save the Tokyo Foreign Office, whose counsels are secret. But partial mobilisation has been ordered, and during the next few days Japan's forces in China and Korea will have been doubled. Troops are now daily moving from Japan into Manchuria, Tsingtao, Korea, and North China. On the 10th of this month the 71st Infantry Regiment of Hiroshima received orders to start immediately for North China. The 11th army division of Shikoku has been ordered to send a strong detachment to Tsingtao, while the whole of the 17th army division at Okayama has been despatched to Manchuria. The 10th army division at Himeji and the 4th and 5th at Osaka are also preparing for transportation to China, and equal activity is evident in army centres at Kokura and Tokyo.

These forces are ostensibly to relieve those already stationed at Tsingtao, Manchuria, Tientsin, Hankow, and Korea; but since it is well understood that the troops previously in those stations are not to come home for the present the reinforcements are regarded as doubling Japan's fighting strength in China and Korea. Bearing in mind the number of Japanese troops previously in China the redoubling of forces there may be regarded as significant. Japan already had the 9th army division, as well as a mixed brigade stationed in Korea. The 13th army division and an independent brigade have been for some time in Manchuria. At Tsingtao since the fall of the fortress there has been a mixed brigade of eight battalions. At both Tientsin and Hankow there have been two mixed battalions. Thus the addition of the troops enumerated above means a powerful Japanese army within a short distance of Peking.

Similar activity has been going on in naval circles for some time. Two squadrons have been despatched from Japan, presumably to Chinese waters. Determination has been evident in this direction ever since the middle of February, and now no secret is made of it. The Government organs freely assert that unless China comes to terms Japan will be compelled to resort to decisive measures. It is, says the same authority, to provide for such an eventuality that the Imperial army has decided to increase the strength of its forces in China and Korea. Though the terms for the stay of the former forces in various stations in China and Korea have expired they will not return home until China accedes to the demands of Japan. If necessity arises, says the Government organ, further mobilisation will be ordered, the army having been warned to be in readiness any moment.

A further significant aspect of the situation is that the Minister for War and the chief of the General staff have been in conference with the Emperor at the Imperial winter villa at Hayama, an event that would not usually take place unless some definite warlike action were contemplated. In fact, the public press makes no secret of the purpose of the Government to force China into acquiescence with Japan's demands. It will be remembered that the same policy was adopted toward Korea during her periods of obstinacy; and with what result the world knows.

JAPAN'S NEED OF IRON.

March 30.

The secret of Japan's present attitude towards China is her desire to secure control of the valuable iron mines of that country. Japan has long cherished the ambition to assume the hegemony of East Asia, for the protection of Oriental races no less than for her own security as the greatest empire of the East. This ambition has become more acute since, from her study of modern history, Japan has been convinced that no nation can gain and maintain leadership without adequate resources in iron. She believes that in future the nation with the most iron is the nation with the best prospect of power. People talk of the iron age; but to Japan the real iron age has only just commenced. She is assured that supremacy cannot be attained and held without war, and war is impossible without command of vast supplies of iron.

Japan looks at Germany and England, and she sees that their strength is largely, if not wholly, due to their facility in iron. It is the steel and iron producing capacity of Germany that has enabled the German Emperor to inaugurate his inordinate ambition for world conquest. Superior to France and England in the production of iron and steel, he believes that he is superior in every other way as well. Through the crucibles of the great Krupp works at Essen, the molten power pours over Europe to-day, desolating vast stretches of property and population. Of the more than 60 million Germans over 20 millions make a living directly or indirectly from iron. Germany, says a leading Japanese thinker, is now bent upon securing control of the iron mines of France and Belgium. At the present rate of consumption her own resources will be exhausted in about 30 years. Without iron Germany would at once sink to the position of a third-rate Power. This conviction makes Germany desperate in the present war. The only failure Germany dreads is inability to control the iron resources of the world. Spain and Sweden, growing suspicious of her, have been hesitating to allow Germany any connection with their iron mines. She attempted to gain a footing in Morocco for this purpose, but was prevented by England and France, whom she has never forgiven. It was with a view to this that Germany established a footing in China; for the iron mines of China are among the richest in the world.

In the face of these circumstances, Japan considers her own condition. She has no iron mines to speak of. Japan is dependent for her supply of iron ore on China. That she should be so dependent on aliens at all is regarded by her statesmen as a fatal weakness. The present war has taught her new and valuable lessons in this respect. At present all her shipyards are fully occupied. Should emergency call for the sudden laying down of a new battleship, Japan would be helpless. She has not sufficient construction material on hand, and would have to import it from some alien power. The iron and steel works of the Allies could afford her no help, and those of enemies and neutrals would be out of the question. This utter dependence on foreigners in the matter of so essential an element as iron leaves Japan at the mercy of others. She can never tolerate this condition. The only way out of it is to secure in China the valuable mining concession formerly held by Germany, and even more also. This is the secret of Japan's present attitude towards China. The latter feels that she cannot grant Japan's demands without weakening her own prospects, and threatening her own sovereignty. Japan is convinced that if China will but give her iron she can take care of herself and China, too, but the Chinese apparently have little confidence in the proposed espousal.

But the situation demands that Japan shall make her bid for the iron mines of China now or never. Of the mere 190,000 tons of steel plate produced by Japan last year, 150,000 tons came from the mines of China. Of the more than 60 million yen worth of iron used by Japan last year only 17 million yen worth was produced in Japan. As Japan must of necessity look to the iron mines of China as a means of ensuring her independence, it is clear that she must obtain as many mining concessions as possible in China. She refuses longer to be dependent on alien resources. Such a situation would place the Empire constantly at the mercy of circumstances. As a prominent Japanese politician has said, if one of the results of the war in Europe be the opening of China's iron resources to Japan, the latter can well afford to regard the great war as having been sent by Heaven.

ACROSS RUSSIA TO ENGLAND.

(BY LIEUT.-COLONEL H. C. BARCLAY, M.D.).

I.

When I last wrote, the hospital at Lvow, or Lemberg, was in full swing, and between work at the railway station and in the institution at the Cadettan Schula, we were seeing many hundred patients a day. Aeroplanes reconnoitred us at night, lights had to be put out, and the work of doctor on night-duty was not carried out under the pleasantest circumstances. Snow then began to fall, everything froze in the neighbourhood, the large tennis courts of the Austrian Infantry Cadet Barracks were converted into a natural skating rink, the beautiful Killinskiego Park, with its ponds, its hills and dales, and magnificent fir trees, were covered in a mantle of snow, magnificent in its beauty, especially at night-time, when the city lamps were lit. Intermissions from hard work, gruesome sights and sleepless nights, found the staff bobsleighing or skiing in the park, or rinking in our own grounds.

At the beginning of December I decided that I had better transfer to England, and on announcing my intended departure I again experienced the warmth and the kindly feeling of the Russians with whom I had been associated.

The Commandant asked me to remain on service till the 1st of January, and made my pass include a visit across Eastern Russia, including the old capital of Russia, Kief, and the City of Moscow, known to the Russians as "Mother Moscow." At Kief, where I stayed a week I had the great pleasure of visiting the American Red Cross Hospital, one of the hospitals sent by the United States to each country at present engaged in war. They occupied a huge building, the famous Bolytechnic of Kief; and after almost eight months' residence among non-English speaking people it was a great treat to be again able to converse freely in one's own language. I found the American staff extremely kind, and the visit was made more memorable, at least for me, by the fact that I spent Christmas Eve and Christmas Day with them, and enjoyed once again the merriment of a dance. There was with the American staff a Russian nursing staff, some of whom spoke English, but it was manifest that it was not easy for the two staffs to work in close contact, and the American staff as well were very anxious to get nearer to the front.

But to revert to the occupation of Lvow, I would like to put on record that, during the four months I was there, never once, under any circumstances, did I see a Russian soldier even in the paltriest sense rude to his fellow-man or his enemy. The moment the city was captured the one sincere desire of the Russian soldier seemed to be to treat the inhabitants as friends. It would be impossible to imagine men more inborn innate gentlemen than are the Russian soldiers. Apropos of this, it was interesting for me to be told by a resident of Lvow, a man of high social position, that the worst the Austrians could say against the Russians was that, after all the arms owned by civilians had been called in, the Russian officer in command allowed his own officers to go to the Municipal Building and pick out such as took their fancy; whereas the Austrians had expected their arms to be restored to them in good condition when peace was declared. This, the Austrians themselves admitted, was the sole blot on the Russian occupation of the city of Lemberg—now known as Lvow.

To the medical man the Russian soldier is the most admirable patient conceivable. He never argues, he never disputes, he never complains, he never criticises. This state of things is heaven to the medical practitioner. Tell a sister that No. 38 has to be on the operating table in half an hour, and he is there without discussion. When he wakes up from the chloroform and you blandly tell him you have amputated his arm or his leg he smiles, he seizes you by the hand, and convulsively kisses the back of it. His gratitude is unbounded. When you remark apologetically that you are sorry you had to do it he says, "Neechevo! Spasibo. Vy ochen Loubezny." (It doesn't matter. Thank you. You are very kind.) It is a strange experience for a surgeon accustomed to serve in English communities in public positions, and who has been subjected to the continuous, irritating, often malicious criticisms of public men, of the patients and their friends, and perhaps of his hospital staff, to be suddenly transplanted into an atmosphere where his decision and his conduct are utterly unchallenged, and where his orders are as obediently carried out as a ukase of the Czar of Russia. This is to live in an atmosphere which to the surgeon is no doubt ideal, and its effect is also a little extraordinary. With no irritating environment, with nothing standing between your conscience and your God, with a capacity to do exactly what you honestly believe to be right, you are lifted up into a higher and purer atmosphere than you have ever experienced before. Its effect is to make a man perhaps more conscientious, more thorough-going, more absolutely honest in his conduct than he ever could be under circumstances where he is always being gently pushed in one direction or another by his surroundings. Such was the atmosphere of the hospital in which I had the pleasure to do a vast amount of surgical work. One could leave it with the feeling that one had never deviated for an instant, so far as his own conscience went, from the narrow path of right doing. There was no temptation to do otherwise than was absolutely right.

The Russian physique is of an extremely high standard, possibly due to the fact that on the emotional side of his nature he may not be highly developed. He prays to St. Nicholas and trusts to luck for the rest. Having done that he lets come what may. He is in a way a fatalist, and as long as he feels that his superiors are doing their best the idea even of discontent never crosses his mind. He is a little of the lymphatic temperament; he has not the active irritating nerves of the Anglo-Saxon and Celt, and when he is not in violent pain, or busy eating his thick meat soup and black bread, he is asleep, at peace with God and man—and his doctor! Like a new-born babe he sleeps himself well again.

As illustrative of his simple nature, I may mention that among my books which I carried with me to Lvow was a little one of Japanese fairy-tales. This I lent to some of the English-speaking Sisters, and to my great astonishment these tales were the favourite reading in the wards. The sisters would read aloud to the soldiers the pretty fables of Japan. This little book went all round the building, and it was admitted on all hands that the charming simplicity and pathos of these tales exactly suited the mental calibre of the Russian soldier. Their gratitude was not that of a day, for many of them wrote after they had left the hospital, never forgetting to send their affectionate regards and expressing their gratitude to the doctors who had so cheerfully lopped off their limbs.

Unable to speak any Russian, and depending entirely on two or three Sisters who could speak some English, there was naturally one uneducated class in the hospital with whom I could hold no converse. I refer particularly to the ward attendants, called sanitars, or, as we would say, hospital orderlies. Yet on the morning when I was leaving Lvow, these 42 men suddenly crowded into my bedroom and made me a presentation with an address thanking me for my humane conduct.

We surgeons were a queer mixture; there was an Anglo-Russian at the head, a Frenchman of Jewish extraction, a physician of Polish birth, another physician came of Russo-German parents, not to mention at the tale end a New Zealand Englishman. Notwithstanding this mixture, however, the greatest harmony really prevailed among us (verb sap, we did not know each other's language).

As to the actual medical hospital treatment, the Russian and the British eye do not always look through the same pair of spectacles. I thought the application of purely aseptic and dry dressings to all wounds was not appropriate, but after a little discussion I was allowed entirely a free hand to carry out my work according to my own ideas.

There was a marvellous immunity from chloroform sickness, though for ordinary work absolutely no preparation of the patient was made, still, sickness hardly ever followed. An excellent appetite most frequently resulted from the anesthetic.

On December 9 I left for Petrograd, going on duty to Kief and Moscow, and I found the parting with the Russian soldiers extremely hard to bear. Perhaps I may be allowed to say it was quite mutual; the Russian soldier does not suppress his emotion, and between sobs and tears and blessing and kissings of the hand I found the farewelling extremely painful. The military band that was accustomed to visit us weekly had been duly instructed in an air little known in Russia—our National Anthem—and at concerts it was always played partly out of compliment to my nationality.

THE PORT OF SYDNEY.

FOUNDATION AND DEVELOPMENT.

(BY W.G.C.)

In the early times the geographical features of the site of the port of Sydney and the adjoining country, on which now stands the city of Sydney, consisted of a picturesque panorama of water with hills clothed with dense scrub, and in this primitive condition Sydney Cove, the head of the harbour, was doubtless the gathering ground of tribes of aboriginal natives, attracted by that leading necessity of Australian life—pure water—which existed there at the time, and was subsequently termed the Tank Stream, and fully utilised in the beginning of the port's development.

Many tides have flowed and ebbed since the first fleet—whose 11 vessels did not aggregate more than 3800 tons—dropped anchor in Sydney Cove. The little white settlement of 127 years ago has grown into a city of upwards of 700,000 inhabitants, covering an area of 148 square miles, whose ever-increasing trade is conducted by steamers of as much as 30 times the tonnage of Governor Phillip's time.

GENESIS OF THE HARBOUR TRUST.

Up till the year 1901 the wharfs were mostly in private hands. They were constructed to meet individual requirements, with no system of laying out the foreshores. The city itself had grown up without method, and a lack of plan characterised the provision for shipping. Access to the wharfs was of a most difficult and intricate kind, calling for drastic treatment. Early in 1900 bubonic plague, on its appearance in Sydney, proved a blessing in disguise. Infected rats from vessels trading to the East had invaded the rookeries of the water-front, and through the unsanitary condition of these habitations the disease spread alarmingly. By a marvellous cleaning up the plague rapidly died out, and, to obviate any recurrence of it, the Government at great expense resumed the whole of the wharfs, stores, and dwelling-houses adjoining them, and placed, in 1901, the administration in the hands of a specially-created trust, the bill for which was passed by Parliament on October 25, 1900.

The great progress made in the business of the port is remarkable when compared with the ports of the United States of America, and latterly of Canada and Argentina. Its great distance from Europe, involving a sea voyage which formerly occupied almost as many months as its does now weeks, greatly restricted the flow of immigration, thus retarding development. In 1841 the population of the colony of New South Wales was 116,731. The discovery of gold, in the early fifties, gave an impetus to immigration, and in 1856 the population had grown to 252,140. To-day it is under 1,700,000, yet the shipping trade of Sydney is only exceeded by that of the four great ports of the United Kingdom, namely, London, Liverpool, the Tyne, and Cardiff. The trade of Sydney is the trade of its own State. In this respect it differs from such ports as Capetown and Durban, which supply the needs of inland States as well as their own. There is, however, a considerable amount of transhipment in Sydney for the island ports of the Pacific, including the recent acquirements of former German possessions.

CONSTRUCTION OF WORKS.

The commissioners continue to carry out the extensive scheme of port improvement initiated by the trust. The following may be given to show the character of the valuable work done from the commencement of operations to date:—

The new wharf at Dawes Point is now in full use, and regularly accommodates the incoming Orient mail steamers and the outgoing P. and O. boats. By this arrangement the latter company is enabled to set free its Circular Quay berth for the fortnightly incoming mail boat, and thus obviate the inconvenience of landing passengers by tender in the stream. Considerable work has been done on the new jetties at Dawes Point, but the great depth of water hereabouts makes progress somewhat slow, piles 130ft long being required. The work of passing through Hickson-road in this vicinity has been carried forward, and when completed this thoroughfare will be made available for traffic right through from Circular Quay to the gasworks at Darling Harbour. The Union Company of New Zealand is already in occupation of the new 600ft double-decked jetty built in front of the gasworks site. The widening of Sussex-street and the regrading of Napoleon-street are now well on towards completion. When possession of the gasworks site has been given the commissioners can then make connection between Hickson-road and Sussex-street, when there will be a broad and practically level thoroughfare from Circular Quay to Erskine-street.

Jones Bay.—The extensive and novel works in connection with this scheme have been pushed forward during the year. The stone filling which forms the central roadway of the main jetty has been carried out to the full length of 1200ft, and part of the reinforced concrete wharf on the eastern side has been completed.

Woolloomooloo Bay.—The completion of the great work at Woolloomooloo Bay deserves a visit from all interested in the development of the first and leading port of the Commonwealth. Nos. 1, 2, and 3 berths are now completed, as also is the road approach. A contract has been let for the supply and erection of three-ton electrically-operated semi-portal transporter cranes. The construction of the single-decked cargo shed, 500ft x 80ft, on No. 1 berth, and the erection of a large double-decked shed, 570ft x 120ft, on Nos. 2 and 3, are now well advanced.

Glebe Island Jetty.—Good progress has been made with this jetty, which the commissioners are carrying out on behalf of the Railway Department.

Circular Quay.—The extensive new accommodation for the Parramatta and Lavender Bay ferry services has been completed, and the reinforced concrete pontoon, which is the first of its kind in Australia, and the largest in the world, is working satisfactorily. The removal of the Lavender Bay and McMahon's Point service from No. 5 jetty has enabled the Ferry Company to utilise both sides of the pontoon for the Milson's Point traffic, and at certain times of the day a six-minutes' service is run. This has removed all congestion, and greatly added to the convenience of passengers.

The Ferry Services.—Services have continued to expand, and during the year 1914 35,600,000 passengers have been carried, which shows an increase of 3,100,000 over last year. No serious accident has occurred.

Future Wharfage.—The commissioners have urged upon the Government the advisability of resuming the foreshores of Johnstone's, Blackwattle, and Rozelle bays, in order that a commencement may be made with the new wharfage scheme in that neighbourhood. The city is extending so rapidly in this direction that these bays, which are really natural docks, will soon be in the heart of it.

Dredging.—The ever-increasing size of ships visiting the port has necessitated the dredges being fully employed in deepening existing channels and berths. In order to cope with this work, a new ladder-dredge, capable of dredging to a depth of 40 feet, is in course of construction at Fitzroy Dock, and three steam hopper barges are being procured to attend on it. A new double-grab dredge has proved a great success in deepening at existing berths. The dredging capacity is upwards of 1000 tons per hour. Most of the wharfs are fitted with up-to-date electric and mechanical appliances for handling cargo. Electric light is also established.

Port Jackson is a natural harbour in the fullest sense of the term. It is exceptionally endowed with all the attributes of the leading marine shelters of the world. Its great expanse of navigable water inside the huge protecting rocks of its entrance; its geographical character presenting, with its numerous bays and promontories, a coastline of exceptional beauty, length, and variety; the adjacent country affording at the same time an unique and valuable site for what promises to become the leading city of the Pacific Coast. Built upon gently rising ground, it affords easy accessibility by road, rail, or tram, and its natural and perfect artificial drainage has placed it, as shown by its death-rate, in the best sanitary condition of any Australian city. It is in close touch with the Port—from which the main streets start—and in which, exclusive of the numerous ferry wharfs, and the multitudinous jetties used for private purposes, there are 55,000 feet of wharfage in actual use for shipping, and there is another 12,000 feet under construction.

In the year of the initiation of Federal Union the total income was £58,000. Last year the revenue was nearly £500,000. The total capital debt has reached nearly seven millions sterling, with an annual interest bill of upwards of a quarter of a million, and yet the surplus handed over to the consolidated revenue has mounted up from £29,729 in 1911 to nearly three times that amount now. These results represent deep thinking and arduous and sound administration in designing, and carrying out, the vast improvements made in the foreshores of the harbour, many of which may be compared to the best and most successful harbour engineering efforts in the world.

The greater part of the accommodation is provided within half a mile of the General Post Office, so that the Port, and the city, are practically one so far as the mercantile and shipping community is concerned.

"THE SILVER BULLET."

His Excellency Sir Gerald Strickland has accorded his patronage to the anti-enemy trade entertainments which are being promoted by the Millions Club, under the title of "The Silver Bullet," to commence at the Repertory Theatre on Wednesday, May 19.

The programme, which is a somewhat novel one, will open with a series of tableaux of the war, and will include among other scenes a series entitled "The Sack of Louvain," "The destruction of Reims," and "The Refugees." A number of atmospheric settings have been specially painted by the Cilots, and nearly 100 people are taking part under the direction of Madame Boult. In the second part a one-act play entitled "A German Friend," written for the occasion, and pointing the moral involved, i.e., "don't buy enemy goods," will be presented upon a specially constructed stage, and there will be a pageant symbolical of the industries of Great Britain and her Allies. These entertainments form part of the Millions Club contribution to the trade expansion campaign, in which delegates from that body have been joined with those from the Chamber of Manufactures and the Chamber of Commerce. The box plan is now open at Paling's.

CENTRAL METHODIST MISSION.

The 31st annual report of the Sydney Central Methodist Mission again affords striking evidence of the untiring and widespread labours of Methodism in relieving the numerous evils seemingly inevitable in a great city of 720,000 people. During half the year the Mission has been working under the shadow of a terrible national crisis, the report remarks, in which the very existence of the Empire seems imperilled. The consequent unrest and distraction have been reflected everywhere. Even in the spiritual work of the Mission the effect is seen. People's minds are naturally obsessed with the tragical events in Europe. Their energies are more or less dissipated, and it has not been easy to concentrate them upon purely spiritual objects.

Notwithstanding every adverse circumstance, however, the Mission has been maintained in full vigour, and no fewer than 1811 meetings for direct spiritual work have been held during the past year. As many as 4481 visits were paid to the poor in their homes, 5360 to those in hospitals, 602 to ships, 2101 to hotels, 420 to police courts, besides innumerable visits to Public schools, common lodging-houses, cabmen, etc., and a score of other branches of philanthropic work. At the Queen Victoria Seamen's Rest 21,134 visits were paid by sailors, which shows the degree in which the institute is valued by the men. The Mission has issued altogether 58,162 free meals, as well as 24,062 cheap meals at 1d to 4d each, while 40,362 meals were served at the People's Restaurant.

Admirable work has been done also in finding employment for hundreds of men, and even more by the Sisters of Hope Haven and the Alexandra Home, where homeless and unfortunate girls are helped to win back their self-respect, and to enter upon a new and brighter phase of existence. From a financial standpoint the year's work is equally satisfactory. The income for the year was £11,393 12s 6d, and the expenditure £11,256 15s 4d. The present debt now stands at £704 5s 2d, as against £841 2s 2d last year.

HOUGH MEMORIAL.

The Archbishop of Sydney dedicated a reredos at St. Jude's, Randwick, on Wednesday. The reredos is a beautiful piece of work in carved oak, and has been erected by the parishioners in memory of the late Canon Hough, who for 28 years was rector of the parish. The reredos was unveiled by the two sons of the late rector, and then solemnly dedicated by the Archbishop. Preaching from the text "He being dead, yet speaketh," Dr. Wright paid a touching tribute to the faithful ministry of Canon Hough, whose memory would long live amongst them. "To-night," said the Archbishop, "our thoughts are not only of him, for we are saddened by the news of the loss of so many of our brave men. It seems only the other day that Colonel MacLaurin was with us at that last parade service, and now he and many of his officers have passed within the veil. So truly we may say of each of them, 'He being dead, yet speaketh.'"

The Archbishop was attended by the Rev. T. Hilhouse Taylor (staff-bearer), the Rev. W. J. Cakebread (rector). The Revs. F. R. Elder, H. C. Vindin, H. A. C. Rowsell, W. Morris, J. Hope, and others were also present. The reredos was executed at a cost of £150.

CURRENT LITERATURE.

THE RED CROSS IN BELGIUM.

"A Surgeon in Belgium," by Dr. H. S. Souttar, is a graphic account of the work of the British field hospital for Belgium, of which the author was one of the officers in charge. This hospital began its work in Antwerp early in September, and performed extremely valuable services till the German occupation forced it to leave for fresh fields. It left its going till the eleventh hour. There was barely time to bundle the hundred-odd patients into a number of motor 'buses before the Germans entered the city, and the cavalcade had scarcely crossed over the Scheldt when the bridge of boats was demolished by a shell. Later on the hospital was re-established at Furnes under considerable difficulties. The only building available, an abandoned school-house, was not very suitable for the purpose. The arrangements for sanitation, water, heat, and light left much to be desired, and, worst of all, most of the equipment failed to reach the hospital—it had probably fallen into the hands of the enemy. The surgeons had a whole series of rare and expensive instruments such as few hospitals possess, but they had no knives, no artery-forceps, and not a single stitch of catgut. The author remarks that their plight reminded them of the costume of an African savage—a silk hat and nothing else. However, they contrived ways and means, and gradually achieved a normal routine. When off duty Dr. Souttar toured the neighbourhood with Belgian friends who wished to see what the invaders had left of a once smiling and comfortable countryside. It is not a pleasant tale that he has to tell.

But Dr. Souttar is most interesting when he is describing his own particular job. Others have written about the trail of devastation in Belgium, but we have heard little at first hand from those whose duty lies behind the scenes in those grim walls of pain where the shattered and riven wreckage of war finds a haven, whatever its country, creed, or colour. And the author, though he mercifully spares us the recital of the supreme horrors, tells us enough to make us realise something of the works and days of the staff of a field hospital. We are reminded that even since the South African War conditions have changed. It is not so very long since a battle was fought out in a few hours, and the field at the end of the day was left to the conqueror. Then the doctors could go forward and attend to the wounded on the spot, without any special danger to themselves. A man might lie out all night, but he would be certain to be picked up next day. "But in this war everything has changed. It is one continuous siege, with the result that the removal of the wounded is a matter of extraordinary difficulty and danger. Between the trenches is a quagmire, where lie perhaps some hundreds of wounded, but how in the world are they to be got? This is the problem with which an ambulance is everywhere faced—the recovery of the wounded from disputed ground." The Red Cross helps the medical services of the allies little in this war—on the western frontier, at any rate. To wear one is "simply to offer a better mark for the enemies' fire. A hospital is a favourite mark for the German artillery, whilst the practice of painting red crosses on the tops of ambulances is by many people considered unwise, as it invites any passing aeroplane to drop a bomb." After some experiences of this kind, the author and his colleagues wore the Red Cross, not so much for their own protection, as that "our own troops might know our business, and make use of our aid."

In these circumstances it is not surprising that the condition of the men when they reached hospital was often pitiable in the extreme. "Most of them had been living in the trenches for weeks, exposed to all kinds of weather; their clothes were sodden and caked with dirt, and the men themselves showed clear traces of exposure and insecure sleep. In most cases they had lain in the trenches for hours after being wounded, for it is impossible to remove them at once with any degree of safety. Indeed, when the fighting is at all severe they must lie till dark before it is safe for the stretcher-bearers to go for them." More often than not the efforts of the surgeons had to be first directed to the patient himself, and not to his wound. "Probably he had lost blood, his injury had produced more or less shock; he had certainly been lying for hours in pain. He had to be got warm, his circulation had to be restored, he had to be saved from pain and protected from further shock. Hot bottles, blankets, brandy, and morphia worked wonders in a very short time, and one could then proceed to deal with wounds. Our patients were young and vigorous, and their rate of progress was extraordinary." Incidentally, Dr. Souttar remarks that the abstemious Belgian was an excellent subject under chloroform, but that "this drug does not mix well with alcohol in the human body, and the British were rather fond of demonstrating that fact."

The wounds that the author had to treat were both better in a sense and worse in a sense than might have been expected. Better because modern surgery can work miracles in the direction of healing injuries seemingly irreparable, and saving life and limb where both appear inevitably to be lost. In the whole history of the British Field Hospital at Antwerp it was not found necessary to perform a single amputation. On the other hand, the devilish ingenuity of the modern projectile taxes the surgeon's skill to the utmost. Dr. Souttar makes an interesting comparison of the wounds inflicted by different agencies. The effects of shell fire are ghastly, but fortunately "where the object of the enemy is the injury of individuals and not the destruction of buildings he uses shrapnel, and the resulting wounds resemble those from the old smooth-bore guns of our ancestors." If a bone is struck there will be serious trouble, but, on the whole, shrapnel "does not as a rule produce great damage." The effects of rifle fire have led to a great deal of discussion, and each side has accused the other of using dum-dum bullets. In such bullets the nickel casing at the tip is cut or removed, with the result that on striking the casing spreads out and forms a rough irregular missile which does terrific damage. "But the German bullet is much more subtle than this. It is short and pointed, and when it strikes it turns completely over, and goes through backwards. The base of the bullet has no cover, and consequently spreads in a manner precisely similar to that of a dum dum, with equally deadly results. There could be no greater contrast between the wounds with which we had to deal in South Africa, produced by ordinary bullets, and these which our soldiers are now receiving from German rifles. The former were often so slight that it was quite a common occurrence for a soldier to discover accidentally that he had been wounded some time previously. In the present war rifle wounds have been amongst the most deadly with which we have to deal." And the question of distance has a great deal to do with the severity of the wound. At Antwerp, where the fighting was done at long range, the author was surprised at the comparative mildness of the injuries, but at Furnes the field hospital drew its patients from the line between Nieuport and Dixmude, where the fighting was for the most part at close range, and of a most murderous nature. "The wounds we had to treat were correspondingly severe—limbs sometimes almost completely torn off, terrible wounds of the skull, and bullet wounds where large masses of the tissues had been completely torn away. It was difficult to see how human beings could survive such injuries." And yet the sufferers were all unfailingly cheerful and appreciative. Dr. Souttar pays an especial tribute to the Belgian soldiers who came under his care. "They were all doing their best to made light of their troubles," he says, "whilst their gratitude for what was done for them was extraordinary. The Belgians are, by nature, a cheerful race, but these were brave men, and we felt glad that we had come to do what we could for them."

But when all is said and done it was not the grim sights in the hospital ward or the horrors of the bombardment of Antwerp or the torpedoing of the Hermes in the Channel, which the author witnessed, that impressed him most with the iniquity of this war. "The cruiser has been blotted out by the weary faces of an endless crowd of fugitives, and the scream of the shells has been drowned by the cry of a child. For though the soldiers may fight it is the people who suffer, and the toll of war is not the life which it takes, but the life which it destroys." (Edward Arnold.)

SERBIA.

"The Indo-European peoples express each in their own manner what they contain in themselves, and what elevates their souls," says the introduction to "Hero-Tales and Legends of the Serbians," by Woislav M. Petrovitch. "The Indian manifests this in his huge temples; the Persian in his holy books; the Egyptian in pyramids, obelisks, and immeasurable mysterious labyrinths; the Hellene in his statues; the Roman in his pictures; the German in his music—the Slavs have poured out their soul and their intimate thoughts in ballads and tales." Some of the stories in this book are peculiar to the Serbs; others again spring from ideas which are common to the whole of humanity; thus there are the Slavonic analogies of Jack the Giant Killer, Bluebeard, and Cinderella. In the west such tales remain for the amusement of children, and the edification of anthropologists; in the near East they are still accepted as facts. Throughout the Balkans the peasantry still believe implicitly in the existence of vampires and weir wolves, witches and enchanters; birth, marriage, and death are still accompanied by rites of mystic significance. And the heroes of the past still live for the Serbians, and watch over the destinies of the nation.

Chief among these legendary heroes is Prince Marko, who lived in the fourteenth century, and two years ago led the Serbians to victory. The castle of Marko, under the mountain of Prilip, was strongly held by the Turks; below the Serbian army was waiting for the order to advance. General Mishitch has described the extraordinary proceedings when the order was not given. "During the early morning the infantry kept quiet, but at the first cannon shots we noticed an effervescence among our troops, and soon afterwards we heard them shouting frantically, and saw them running like wolves straight to the castle of the Royal Prince Marko. I could hear the voice of our captain commanding them to stop and await the General's order. When the immediate commanders saw that discipline proved futile they essayed in vain to appeal to the soldiers' reason, assuring them of certain death if they would not await at least the effect of our artillery. Our warriors, deafened by the roaring of Turkish siege cannon and mitrailleuses, ran straight into the fire, and appeared to fall by dozens. The sight was horrible. I was unable to stop my soldiers. My blood froze; I closed my eyes. Disastrous defeat!" But, no. In a few minutes the Serbian flag was flying from the castle, and the Turks were retreating in disorder. The General congratulated his troops on their gallantry, but deplored their insubordination. Then from throughout the ranks came the cry, "Kraleyvitch Marko commanded us all the time. Forward. Did you not see him on his Sharatz." And, indeed, they were convinced that he had led their charge, for no Serbian peasant believes that Marko, the "dragon mounted on a dragon," is really dead. He is sleeping in a cave near his castle. His sword is thrust up to the hilt into the rock; Sharatz is feeding on hay outside. When the hay is finished and when the sword falls from the rock the Prince will know that the time has come for him to mount Sharatz, and, leading his people once again to victory, win back for the Serbians the empire they lost at Kossovo. And the Serbians believe not without reason that the hour has struck. (Harrap and Co.).

A JAPANESE BAEDEKER.

Mr. T. Fujimoto has felt that while many writers have described his native land, few have devoted sufficient attention to her activities after nightfall. Japan is always busy and bright, but when the sun has set the brightness and business increase threefold, and in "The Nightside of Japan" Mr. Fujimoto endeavours to make us realise something of the nocturnal life of Tokyo and Kyoto. He takes us through the teeming streets into the crowded markets where hawkers sell strange delicacies for incredibly low sums, to the tea shops, pleasure resorts, public baths, and theatres. He gives us glimpses of festivals and firework displays and merry junketings amidst the cherry blossoms. He describes the lives of ricksha men, students, geishas, wrestlers and others who contribute to the gaieties of the city; everything, in fact, that men do by night in Japan is the subject of his book.

It is a very readable one, and its effect is enhanced by the author's peculiar style. His English is artless, and the publishers, who at first thought of having it licked into shape, were well advised to change their minds. Otherwise we should have been the poorer for the knowledge that "Restaurants are business for night, though a few visit them in daytime by some unavoidable reasons." As for the hint how to behave in a properly courteous fashion should you find inebriated young men sitting beside you at a place of entertainment—"The young merchants rowdily sing some fashionable songs, and, turning to you, beg pardon for their noisiness; in return, you admire their skill in singing. Then they present a glass of sake to you, and at once you repay it." The proverbial Japanese politeness fails in no circumstances whatever.

The author discusses the philosophy of bathing, and points out that there is a great difference in the principle of this practice between Europe and Japan. In Europe it is merely ablution; in Japan it is lustration. Or, to quote Mr. Fujimoto's own words: "The Europeans are compelled to take bath in order to clean off the filth secreted over their body, and consequently if there is no necessity to bath they are glad to be without; but on the contrary, bathing of the Japanese is far beyond the simple object of cleaning their body, but it is so evolved that they take a bath to wash their life." But Mr. Fujimoto's line of thought is not always so easy to follow. Occasionally his ideas become obscure, as where he represents a Geisha as saying "we girls are altogether said to be fickle, faithless, two-tongued, and plotful, and there may be such a tendency among some of them, but according to my impartial judgment—I know the true features of our circles—criticisms and blames against us should be done after the discriminations on the kinds or qualities of girls were properly done." However, it must not be supposed that the author's failure wholly to grasp the intricacies of the English language is a serious blemish. On the contrary, it adds zest to his picturesque descriptions, and constitutes part of the charm of a delightful book.—(Werner Laurie.)

SOME NEW NOVELS.

Mrs. Humphry Ward's novels, as a rule, provide a thoughtful discussion of some contemporary problem of intellectual or political or social importance, and in "Delia Blanchflower," her latest book, she deals with the question of suffragism. We fear that the author's contribution to the subject will not arouse the same interest that it might have done a year ago. For the time at least militant suffragism in Britain is dead. The boom of the guns has drowned the protestations of the self-made martyrs, and the public has affairs of greater moment to consider than whether the best way to prove one's capacity for making laws is to break them. However, though Mrs. Humphry Ward's story now lacks topical appeal, it is very well worth reading. As always, she is studiously fair. She has dissociated herself from suffragism, but she has a hearty admiration for the constitutionalists as represented by Lady Tonbridge and Mrs. Dempsey, and she appreciates the personal heroism and devotion of the militants, even if she considers them ill-directed. The story describes the conflicting influences which mould the career of Delia, the orphan heiress. At the extremes are her guardian, a personable and likeable man of 40, to whom "the cause" is anathema, and Gertrude Marvin, the fanatic to whom it has become a veritable creed, and proselytisation its principal article of faith. Between these two there are various degrees of influences, and it is in their mutual interaction and conflict that the interest of the book lies. In the end Mark Winnington wins the day, but not before his antagonist has proved her sincerity by the supreme sacrifice. It is a thoughtful and suggestive book, but as time wears on Mrs. Humphry Ward's tendency to diffuseness seems to increase. (Ward, Lock.)

"Richard Dehan," a pseudonym which no longer conceals the identity of Miss Clo Graves, always prefers a large canvas to work upon, but in "The Man of Iron" she has chosen a greater theme than ever before, and dealt with it in a more elaborate fashion. Her stage is France and Germany in the war of 'Seventy. Her dramatis personae include many names immortal in history; her protagonist is the great Bismarck. He dominates the whole book, although the nominal hero whose adventures constitute the thin thread of plot is a young Irishman who trails along in the rear of the German army as an unofficial correspondent. But over all looms the figure of the great Chancellor, grim, sinister, portentous. The author omits nothing that may make the picture more vivid and complete. We see the man with his colossal appetite, his rough humour, his affection for his own kith and kin, his contempt for public opinion, his ruthlessness, his determination, his utter disregard for human suffering in the pursuit of his ambitions for Germany; and the same wealth of detail which Miss Graves brings to the treatment of her principal figure is shown in the setting of the story. Libraries and newspaper files must have been ransacked to obtain all the information about the dress, furniture, and everyday life of the day. Indeed, sometimes we almost regret the author's industry, for she is apt to overload her picture with detail and produce an impression of confusion. The battle scenes are described most graphically, while out of the medley of soldiers, adventurers, intriguers, spies, courtiers, correspondents and women, virtuous and otherwise, arise clear-cut those who play great parts in the tragic drama—Louis Napoleon, Von Roon, Von Moltke, the "expert in slaughter," so gentle in personal disposition, who sacrifices regiments like pawns in the great game of war, humming a nursery song the while. The book is peculiarly opportune at the present time. The author is frank in her appreciation of certain aspects of the German character in arms, and equally frank in her abhorrence of others. In a scathing preface, written since the outbreak of the present war, she points out that since 1870 the latter seem to have developed out of all proportion to the former. (Heinemann: Dymock's.)

Arthur Gurney, the "Brother-in-law to Potts," whose career Mr. Parry Truscott so sympathetically describes, is one of those persons who seem born to shoulder other people's burdens, and do it so cheerfully and uncomplainingly that the other people never realise the sacrifices made, the ambitions surrendered, the hardships endured the while. Gurney would be the last to claim the title of hero. He 's a suburban bank clerk, who realises that he has little chance of emerging from the rut which leads to a maximum of "£200 per," and he has come to the conclusion that celibacy must be his lot. But his is a chivalrous soul, which must continually assume responsibilities that other people shirk. First of all, it is Potts's family. The egregious Potts devotes himself to uplifting humanity in general, but leaves it to his brother-in-law to see that things at home run smoothly. The slackly-inclined Ethel requires an encouraging voice and an eye that nothing escapes; little "Me" and "Thee" need someone who spares the rod without spoiling the child. Mr. Potts is far too fully occupied in persuading people to abstain from vivisection and vaccination to think of these small matters, but Arthur fills his place to everyone's satisfaction, save that of Mr. Potts, who thinks he is frittering away his time in vain pursuits. But the modern knight-errant has so many opportunities for chivalry, even in suburban London, that Ethel and "Me" and "Thee" are not always to have their Arthur to themselves. He fishes out of a shallow pond a little Cockney bent on committing suicide—a sullen, rebellious, bitter girl, who is proof against all sympathy except that which Arthur offers. He picked her up out of the pond with about as much sentiment as he would have rescued a puppy, but she at once establishes a claim, and he adds her to his other responsibilities. The sequel is much less disastrous than might be expected. Annie somewhat unexpectedly develops a soul. Arthur discovers that his altruism has not been entirely wasted, even though some of his dreams may have remained dreams. Mr. Parry Truscott tells us a very kindly and a very human story. The cockney clerk is a favourite butt for satire, but he can be heroic enough, whether he is sweated at home or freezes in the trenches, as so many Arthur Gurneys are doing to-day. (Werner Laurie.)

The heroine of "The Veiled Life," by Miss Henrietta Goldie, is a country girl who goes into domestic service, falls ill, and finally, to save her mother from starvation, marries an admirer whom she neither loves nor respects. Her worst fears are realised; hardly is the wedding over when Anderson, sated with possession, shows himself in his true colours, and develops into an aggressive and domineering brute. Things go hard with poor Laura; her mother dies, so that her sacrifice has proved all in vain; her child is born dead; her husband is utterly antipathetic to her. Her only friend is a young grocer, a pillar of the local chapel, whose scruples are overcome by infatuation. He persuades her to elope with him by threatening to kill himself if she will not, but Laura knows that his conscience will never allow him to be happy in the association, and wins him over to that view. So she goes home the same day only to be turned out of it by a not unreasonably indignant husband. The breezy unconventional doctor of the neighbourhood offers her a haven of refuge as matron of a children's hospital, and, after a decent interval, Laura essays a second matrimonial adventure, with happier results. The story opens well, the descriptions of life "below stairs" being particularly good, but it drags somewhat before the end. (Heinemann; G. Robertson.)

NEW MUSIC.

Miss Rosa E. Dornbusch, of Mosman, is the composer of "Our Khaki Heroes," a very animated and tuneful setting of dashing lyrics (by Eleanor Young), published in London during her stay there last year. Sir Charles Santley wrote: "This is the best patriotic song I have yet seen"; and the young composer then had it successfully introduced in England by Wilfred Essex (at Queen's Hall), Eileen Boyd, and half-a-dozen other artists. Miss Maud Telfer, of this city, sang "Our Khaki Heroes" at a patriotic concert in Belfast amidst great enthusiasm, and Lieutenant-Colonel McCammon adopted it for the band of the 5th Royal Irish Regiment on the march. Each copy bears an imitation of the famous "scrap of paper," with fac similes of the Plenipotentiaries who signed it in 1839, and the red seals attached, whilst beneath it is printed the resolute and royal message sent by his Majesty, Albert, King of the Belgians, to George V. The strong point of "Our Khaki Heroes" is the melody, and for the later editions the song is sure to reach, the composer might easily vary and enrich the harmonisation.

Miss Dornbusch, who has a brother with the Australian forces at the front, left Australia in June, 1913, for further study in Berlin, from which she has recently returned. Whilst holiday-making at Wilhelmshaven just before war was declared, she received friendly advice from the wife of the lieutenant-commander of the Goeben to return to England at once from Bremen, instead of returning to the German capital. Without fully understanding all that was implied, the young Australian pianist did so, but unfortunately left all her personal belongings in her flat at Berlin—where now they remain in the hands of the enemy!

STATE AS PUBLICAN.

The Premier of Saskatchewan announces (states a Winnipeg message of March 19) that his Government will convene the Legislature in May and submit a measure abolishing all liquor licenses from July 1 until the end of the war, the Government taking over the wholesale liquor business throughout the province, and establishing official dispensaries under the control of a commissioner, who will replace the wholesale dealers. In 1919, or thereafter, on a petition signed by 25 per cent. of the citizens, a referendum will be taken to decide on the continuation or abolition of the proposed dispensaries. No compensation will be given to any publican, and no licenses will be revived after the war except after a referendum.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

"Rosy Rapture," a burlesque in seven scenes, produced at the Duke of York's Theatre on March 22, was the talk of the hour when the mail left, less for its intrinsic merit than because it was by Sir J. M. Barrie. The critics admit themselves bewildered by it. Was Barrie perpetrating an ordinary revue, with the usual number of clever bits and dull patches, or was he satirising revues in general as the acme of modern idiocy? In either case the author has missed the humanity, the pathos, the tenderness, and the peculiar humour which have made his literary work famous. "Rosy Rapture" was written for Miss Gaby Deslys, a beauty from the chorus, who leaves her husband, Lord Lil Langour (Mr. Jack Norworth), and her year-old baby, to return to the revue stage. Sir Herbert Tree's "Copperfield" revival is burlesqued in a scene in which Dan'l Peggotty and Wilkins Micawber are perpetually falling into one another's parts; a typical Gaby Deslys dance, the "Foxtrot," full of frenzied energy and tempestuous vitality; a charming little scene between an English Tommy (Mr. Jack Norworth) and a little French girl (Miss Gaby Deslys), very delightfully played by both; a tongue-twisting song by Mr. Jack Norworth, "Which Switch is the Switch, Miss, for Ipswich?" which he sings with great success seated at the telephone, and in which he persuades the audience to join; a song and dance for Mr. Eric Lewis, "I'll Show You How to Dance the Polka," given with polished humour by that accomplished actor. Barrie also dexterously employs the cinematograph at a point where Rosy at the Supper Club receives a note from Lord Lil, "Baby has gone away to think about her parents. It is snowing. She is in her nightgown. Come home." The "movies" then show the adventures with brigands of an adorable infant in a taxi-perambulator in search of her mother to teach "how to be happy though at home;" and the secret, which forms the seventh and last scene, is—to keep a beauty chorus in the house. In this way tedium is banished, and the hostess is escorted into dinner with song and dance! Mlle. Deslys was unanimously voted an immense success in the new piece.

Sir J. M. Barrie, by the way, has lost a young friend, George Llewellyn Davies, of the Rifle Brigade, killed at the front, who was the original of "David," the character in "Little White Bird." In 1901, when this boy was 7 years old, Barrie joined him and his brothers and sisters at Kensington Gardens in a game which he played "as one who never grew up." Afterwards the author frequently walked in the Gardens with the children, and when their father died, with the consent of their mother (Sylvia du Maurier before her marriage) he adopted all five of them. From his prattles and stories with these charming children he conceived "Peter Pan." The boy once collaborated with the dramatist to the extent of one line in "Little Mary," and he was paid a half-penny royalty on each performance of the play.

Graham Moffat, the author-actor, is back here again for the first production in Australia on May 29 of "A Scrape of the Pen." This now popular piece was written before "Bunty Pulls the Strings," and was first produced in a two-act form at a little theatre in Glasgow known as the Athenaeum Hall. The sole object on the author's part was to give local managers an opportunity of seeing it, and to secure some idea of its chances of success in the opinion of the press critics. Mr. Moffat maintains that all young dramatists should follow this plan. The reception was highly favourable, and eventually there was a really long run in 1912 at the London Comedy Theatre, when Harry Lauder made his only appearance in comedy at a matinee, at which he took the role destined for Mr. Barker ("Rab"), at the Sydney Palace. This character was played in London by Mr. Barker's father. "A Scrape of the Pen" will be found to furnish new and freshly humorous types of Scottish character, and Mr. Moffat has accordingly brought out four new artists associated in the best English casts. Miss Margaret Noble, who created the role of Flora, a Highland woman, both at the Athenaeum Hall and at the London Comedy, has just arrived by the Niagara after an elocutionary tour of Canada, whilst the others have come here from London. Miss Mattie Maclellan, of Glasgow, who has played the role of Jean, the heroine, all over the United Kingdom; Alec Hunter, of Kirkcudbright, who will be seen as a country farmer; and Robert Purdie, an experienced artist, who will repeat his London impersonation as a ne'er-do-well son, complete the list. Mr. and Mrs. Moffat will be seen in their original parts as a bickering couple at heart really attached to one another, so that the interpretation should be unusually true to the ideals of the dramatist. Messrs. Purdie, Hunter, Urquhart, and Bob Anderson, of the Moffat company, fought right through the Boer War, a fact which the actor-manager proudly quotes as a proof of the patriotism of the theatrical profession generally—and especially in Scotland, ye ken!

Mr. Frank Harvey, who has just made such a hit as the Man Who Stayed at Home, was educated for the Royal Navy, but his stay at the Devonport Naval College, familiarly known as "the Shop," was ended by an injury to his eyes on the cricket field. His stage career, which began by playing six parts in the blood-curdling drama, "The Executioner's Daughter," is limited to nine years. Of this he spent a year with the famous Compton Comedy Company in the old costume classics, and 18 months as juvenile lead at the London Lyceum. Miss Tittell Brune played the central role in three of the six productions in which Mr. Harvey took part. More than a year ago the actor came out with J. C. Williamson's "Ethel Warwick" Company for the Australian production of "Joseph and his Brethren" and "Secret Service;" but his first real chances were as heavy lead in the Julius Knight revivals. The earliest associations of his life were with the sea, and a vein of poetry crops up in his allusions to them:—"I remember, as a boy, playing among the rocks that lie like giants' teeth round the shores of Jersey, where I was born. I can see myself, a small boy, in a trawler off the coast of Iceland, driving through fogbanks and snowstorms, the fish scales on my jersey glittering in the moonlight, the black water all around, and the melancholy bell amidships that clanged as we rolled. Then come visions of school—Winchester, and the Naval Colleges of Portsmouth and Devonport—and foggy memories of the joy of life lived amongst destroyers, speed, and spray."

The Paris papers chronicle a touching scene during the revival of the military opera "La Vivandiere," which reaches a climax with "The Hymn to Liberty." Under war conditions this anthem deeply moved the audience. Only two men, cheerfully enjoying the opera, did not join in the applause. They were officers in uniform from the front. One had lost his right arm, the other his left. Suddenly, with a mutual smile, they solved the problem of showing their approval by clapping their remaining hands! To the astonishment of these genial heroes, the whole house rose at them. Men cheered, women had tears in their eyes, the artists rushed to the footlights wild with enthusiasm, and the orchestra, sizing up the situation in a moment, played the "Marseillaise."

Fuller details are now to hand concerning the Belgian Band engaged for Messrs. J. and N. Tait after their London representative had heard the artists at a concert. The new band will consist of 28 first-class musicians, refugees from Antwerp, Brussels, and Ostend, under the conductorship of Mr. Philippe Meny. Three solo artists will assist the band—Mr. Florent Hoogstoel, violinist; Mlle. Viceroy, a brilliant Belgian soprano; and Mr. Albert Goossens, of Brussels, described in the advices as "operatic artist." This combination will open their Australian tour in June, and will visit all the larger centres of the Commonwealth and New Zealand.

Mr. Ernest Toy, who left this city last year with M. Paul Dufault, has now settled down happily at La Fayette, Indiana. This accomplished artist spent four months in New York amidst a very crowded musical season, where amongst prominent names from all over Europe, Percy Grainger was at, or near, the top, and had all New York at his feet. Mr. Toy has now been appointed violin-director at the La Fayette Conservatory of Music, and forwards ecstatic reviews (March 19) upon his first appearance in the city. "I like America," he concludes, "but it does not displace Australia in my affections."

THE CHURCHES.

MOTHERS' DAY.

To-morrow will be Mothers' Day, when men and women and children, old and young, everywhere, will unite to honour and uplift motherhood, and to give comfort and happiness to "the best mother that ever lived—your mother!"

Mothers' Day had its origin in the heart and mind of Miss Anna Jarvis, of Philadelphia, U.S.A., and was introduced into Australia in 1910, under the auspices of St. James' Presbyterian Fellowship Association, Burwood. Since then its growth has been phenomenal; it has spread to Victoria, Queensland, South Australia, and New Zealand. Everywhere its appeal has met with an immediate response, and the New South Wales committee is confidently looking forward to an extensive observance to-morrow.

The present time of stress lends itself peculiarly to the idea of Mothers' Day, and the many brave lads in the Liverpool camps are to be given every opportunity to take part. The Y.M.C.A. Field Service department is making a special feature of the day, and a large number of white flowers are being forwarded by St. James' Presbyterian Church, Burwood, for distribution amongst the soldiers. Similar gifts of white flowers by other bodies will be gladly received.

A large number of churches of all denominations have arranged special services, but the Mothers' Day committee desires to emphasise the importance of personal observance, particularly in the home.

Everyone is invited to wear a white flower and to promote the day by giving a white flower to someone else to wear.

While any flower may be worn, the white carnation is the Mothers' Day special flower. Its whiteness stands for purity; its form, beauty; its fragrance, love; its wide field of growth, charity; its lasting qualities, faithfulness—all a true mother's attributes.

THE SPIRIT OF THE IRONSIDES.

The Rev. F. Herbert Stead, head of Browning Hall Social Settlement in London, and brother of the late famous journalist, William T. Stead, has arrived in America to serve for a brief term as minister in residence with Auburn Theological Seminary, Auburn, New York. Interviewed by newspaper reporters on landing in New York, Mr. Stead made an interesting statement, which has attracted wide attention, in respect to the spread of religious feeling among English soldiers in the field. He is quoted as saying that this feature of the war promises to result in a "real national regeneration" for Great Britain. The new army which Lord Kitchener has drilled through the last six months in England has been so thoroughly evangelised that it goes into the field with almost the same Puritan spirit that pervaded Cromwell's regiments. And it is said that like religious feeling has spread among the regular troops already at the front. Not only are men learning to pray individually, but incidents are reported where companies and regiments have insisted that their commanding officers shall lead in audible prayer before they go into battle.

The Rev. J. H. Willcoxson, assistant curate at St. John's, Parramatta, for the past four years, was accorded a farewell recently and presented with a purse of sovereigns from the parishioners of St. John's, St. Luke's, and St. Paul's. The occasion was made an opportunity for various other presentations both to Mr. and Mrs. Willcoxson.

A presentation of a purse of sovereigns was made to the Rev. H. A. C. Rowsell prior to his departure from Camden, where he has been assistant priest for the past two years. Mr. Rowsell was also in entire charge of the parish last year during the absence of the Rev. C. J. King at Yanobah and in New Guinea.

The Rev. H. F. A. Champion, rector of Gundagai, has found it necessary to take a month's rest. His work has therefore been taken in charge by the Rev. H. E. Hetherington, late rector of Bunda, in the Goulburn diocese.

The Rev. Cassian Crotty, says the "Church Standard," has accepted the position of lecturer in social science at St. John's College, Melbourne. Mr. Crotty is a brother of the Rev. Horace Crotty, rector of St. Thomas', North Sydney.

A new arrival in Sydney is the Rev. T. V. Wallace, warden of the new Moore College hostel, who has now come into residence.

At St. Philip's Church of England, Kingswood, Mr. H. Cocks, who has been for some months catechist at Penrith parish, and who was recently appointed to the Crow's Nest parish, was recently presented by the choir and congregation with a pocket communion set and cathedral psalter.

A total of about £300 was realised by a fair held recently at Portland in aid of St. Stephen's Church of England. The fair, which continued for three successive evenings, was opened by Mrs. Hosking, of Lithgow.

Mr. Noel Stretch, fourth son of the Bishop of Newcastle, has received a commission in the imperial army.

In spite of the war, St. Giles' Church, Greenwich, has experienced the best financial year recorded. On September 6, 1914, the sum of £119 was given, without recourse to a sale of work.

St. Aidan's, Longueville, has so far presented one of the best balance sheets on record. Curiously enough, with one or two exceptions, both the Rector (Rev. J. H. Best, M.A.) and his catechist, Mr. R. Pontifex, have worked single-handed, in a parish of four square miles.

The quarterly conference of the clergy of the Roman Catholic diocese of Sydney was held on Wednesday last week, and 120 priests were present. Dr. Kelly presided.

On Sunday Dr. Kelly blessed the new school of St. Joseph's at Rozelle, and declared it open.

On Wednesday Dr. Kelly left Sydney on an episcopal visit to Menangle, Picton, and Appin.

Roman Catholic soldiers in camp are looking forward to a visitation by Dr. Kelly, who has arranged to go to the camps at Liverpool and Smithfield, in addition to paying a visit to Liverpool itself, on Tuesday next. He will return to Sydney on May 17.

On Sunday Dr. Kelly administered confirmation to a number of adults at St. Mary's Cathedral, after the 11 o'clock mass. At the evening service the Archbishop also officiated at the procession of the Blessed Sacrament. The sermon was preached by Rev. Father Tighe.

A total of £2652 was realised by the recent fair in aid of St. Mary's Cathedral funds, the expenses amounting to £39 only. At a meeting in the Chapter Hall on Thursday last week, the Rev. J. O'Gorman presided. Among those present were Revs. B. O'Farrell, W. Byrne, and Bro. Wynne.

Dr. Kelly has despatched a further sum of £1000 for the Belgian Fund to Bishop De Wachter, Auxiliary Bishop to Cardinal Mercier, making a total of £1500 to date.

The Rev. Father Tighe is conducting a retreat at St. Mary's Cathedral for the members of the Sacred Heart Society. The retreat will close to-morrow afternoon.

A retreat will be opened to-morrow evening at St. Canice's Church by Rev. Father Tighe.

The Rev. Mother General of the Brigidine Order in Ireland and Australasia, and Mother M. Alacoque, late provincial of the Order in New South Wales and New Zealand, are on a visit to the Convent at Coonamble.

The new Roman Catholic Church at Leeton was opened and blessed on Sunday, the ceremony being performed by Dr. Gallagher, Bishop of Goulburn. The Rev. J. Bonnar (Albury) preached the occasional sermon. High mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Reidy, pastor of Leeton, assisted by Rev. Father Clarke, deacon (Ganmain), and Rev. Father O'Connell, sub-deacon (Junee). There was a large congregation. The new church is a fine brick structure, which cost £1800.

The Rev. Arthur Edmunds, a minister of the Welsh Presbyterian Church, is expected to arrive in Australia shortly with a view to taking work in New South Wales.

The Rev. J. B. M'Kissock, formerly of Kyogle, was inducted to the Presbyterian charge of Mascot by the Presbytery of Sydney on April 26, this being the first settlement of a minister in this charge.

The Rev. Joseph M'Dowell has just concluded a very successful visit to the Parkes district, where he has been attending to the organisation prior to the settlement of another Presbyterian minister, the result being that the congregation is prepared to offer a stipend of £300 per annum and a manse, and they have invited a minister to go out to them for a month with a view to a call.

The Rev. W. G. Sharpe, B.A., has just completed the reorganisation of the Peak Hill district, and it is the intention of the Presbyterian Home Mission Committee to send a suitable representative to work the charge.

The Rev. Robert Steel, M.A., of Campbelltown, is still in hospital. His condition has somewhat improved, and he may be able to return to his home next week.

The Rev. Thomas Morgan, convener of the Home Mission Committee, accompanied by the Rev. C. F. M'Alpine, paid a special visit to the Moruya charge, and met the congregation there, and came to an arrangement with regard to the supply of the charge. The action of the Home Mission Committee in sending the convener, and of the Presbytery of Monaro in sending their representative, was much appreciated. The Rev. T. Morgan travelled overland, via Milton, doing the outwards journey on the Monday, and the return journey on the Wednesday.

A Sunday schools' demonstration was held last evening in St. Stephen's Church, Phillip-street, by the Welfare of Youth Department of the New South Wales Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. W. Woolls Rutledge, who has been working vigorously on behalf of the Centenary Fund, recently preached at Wesley Church and Mt. Lachlan, and also held three week-night meetings in succession. On Sunday he was at Mosman and Neutral Bay, and attended meetings on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

The Rev. Owen Spencer Watkins, senior Wesleyan chaplain at the front, had a narrow escape recently (says "The Methodist"). The field ambulance to which he is attached was shelled by the Germans. One officer, standing close to Mr. Watkins, was killed outright, and others were more or less seriously wounded.

On Sunday and Monday the Methodist Church at West Maitland celebrated its 56th anniversary. The Rev. L. H. Kelynack, B.A., of the Methodist Ladies' College, delivered the sermon. It is hoped that the sum of £50 will be realised.

A successful flower show was held last week in aid of the new parsonage of the South Grafton Methodist Church. It is expected that the profits will amount to over £100.

The Methodist Ministers' Association meeting was held last Monday. A special welcome was accorded to the Rev. S. J. Hoban, late of Victoria, and the Rev. W. H. Cox, of New Britain.

The Rev. Raymond Prescott, Conference Evangelist, is conducting a three weeks' mission at Singleton, which is attracting crowded congregations.

The Rev. Fred. Colwell, who has been appointed as chaplain to the forces, is to be accorded a public farewell this evening at North Sydney, at which the president will be represented by the Rev. Dr. Carruthers and the Rev. W. G. Taylor.

The Rev. W. H. Cox, of New Britain, who arrived in Sydney recently, is returning shortly. Mrs. Cox, for health reasons, will remain in Sydney. Before leaving Mr. Cox has arranged to give an address on Wednesday evening next in the Burwood Methodist Church, under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of the Foreign Missions Society.

The trustees of the Walker-street Methodist Church at North Sydney have completed arrangements for the celebration of a jubilee of their church. The church was opened on Tuesday, May 18, 1865, the Rev. W. Taylor, of California, being the preacher. Mr. Taylor also laid the foundation-stone of the church in August of the preceding year. When the church was opened in 1865 it stood in a picturesque spot, being surrounded by gum trees, and some distance from either house or shop. The land was given by Mr. James Wilson. During its 50 years the Church has a fine record, being the mother of many churches and circuits.

The Rev. L. H. W. Purnell, of Gerringong, has been called to the pastorate of the Congregational Church at Bathurst. About five years ago Mr. Purnell was in charge of the Bathurst Church, and he has now been called to its pastorate a second time. His decision is not yet known.

Next Saturday the foundation-stone of a new Congregational Church at Stanmore will be laid by Mr. Rupert Cook, who was one of the pioneers of the Congregational mission work in Stanmore some years ago.

As a result of the special effort organised by the Pitt-street Congregational Girls' Club, and joined in by the guilds and clubs of several of the suburban churches, about £150 will be handed over to the Belgian Fund.

The graded work committee of the Mission Study Council is giving special attention to the matter of training leaders for junior missionary education. A curriculum has been drawn up, based on the circle method, with text-book study, and one course has already been conducted in the city. Several such are being arranged for in suburban centres under leaders especially qualified to deal with the educational and missionary problems involved.

Miss Ella MacNeil, secretary-elect under the National Board of Australasia for the Young Women's Christian Associations of China, and Miss Mary A. Geddes, of Auckland, secretary-elect for girls' work of the Young Women's Christian Associations of Australasia, arrived in Sydney this week, and are in attendance at the training school for secretaries and volunteer workers now being held at National headquarters.

The membership receipts of the Sydney Y.M.C.A. for the four months of 1915 are the largest for the same period in the history of the association.

LATE COL. MACLAURIN.

MEMORIAL SERVICE IN SYDNEY.

The memorial service in memory of the late Colonel Henry Normand MacLaurin, commanding the 1st (N.S.W.) Infantry Brigade, was held at St. Stephen's Church, Phillip-street, yesterday morning, and was very largely attended. The service was a most impressive though simple one.

Among the deceased officer's relations present were Dr. and Mrs. Charles MacLaurin (brother and sister-in-law), Mr. James MacLaurin (brother), Mr. and Mrs. Hugh MacLaurin (brother and sister-in-law), and Messrs. G. A. and V. V. Nathan (cousins). The Governor, Sir Gerald Strickland, accompanied by Captain Pascoe, R.N., A.D.C., was present, and Mr. B. C. Fuller represented the Lieut.-Governor and Chief Justice. The Supreme Court Judges who attended were Mr. Justice Simpson, Mr. Justice Street, Mr. Justice Ferguson, and Mr. Justice Harvey. Mr. E. L. Best represented Mr. Justice Rich. The Attorney-General and Minister for Justice, Mr. D. R. Hall, and Mr. J. D. Fitzgerald represented the Premier and the State Ministry, and Mr. Nesbitt (Town Clerk) and Mr. Layton (deputy town clerk) represented the Lord Mayor. Colonel Wallack, C.B., the District Commandant, Colonel Jobson, and Major Parker, O.C., and officers of the 26th Infantry Regiment were also present. Mr. Justice Heydon, Judge Rogers, Judge Backhouse, Judge Fitzhardinge, Judge Docker. The New South Wales Bar was represented by Messrs. Langer Owen, K.C., A. G. Ralston, K.C., B. R. Wise, K.C., J. Garland, K.C., M.L.C., A. B. Shand, K.C., E. J. Loxton, K.C., E. Wickham, C. Delohery, F. S. Boyce, J. Carlos, A. R. J. West, Mr. J. A. Browne, J. P. Sheridan, E. M. Stephen, G. A. Barton, A. M. Cohen, J. Young, R. K. Manning, A. G. James, M.L.A., R. S. Bonney, P. H. Rogers, K. W. Street, T. S. Crawford, M.L.A., T. R. Bavin, J. A. Ferguson, D. Maughan, R. C. Teece, and W. J. Creagh. The Incorporated Law Institute was represented by Messrs. Ellison Rich (president), L. Gibson, E. G. Dawes, J. S. Cargill, and J. Stinson; the Australian Gaslight Company was represented by Messrs. R. J. Lukey (secretary) and A. Wilson (chief engineer), the Gas Employees' Union was represented by Mr. S. Rawlins (secretary); Mr. H. E. Barff (Warden), and Professors Anderson Stuart, MacCallum, and David represented the Sydney University, and the solicitors present included Messrs. G. A. Gaden (Messrs. Norton, Smith, and Co.), A. W. M'Carthy, and R. N. Henderson.

The Rev. John Ferguson said that they were gathered together to lament a great loss, and to pay a tribute to the memory of a brother, a friend, and a comrade, a noble-hearted man, a patriot, and a brave soldier, who had died at his post, and whose death they accepted as a presage of victory. Dealing with the personality of the late colonel, the preacher spoke of his loving disposition, great endowments, devotion to his profession, and his zeal in the study of the science of war, and his intellectual gifts in the art of war, which had won for him the admiration and support of the men under his command. The passing of such a soldier as the deceased officer and of so many of their brothers and sons must bring home to Australians how serious a thing was this war. The heroism displayed by Australians at the front would affect those who were undecided as to whether they would join the great campaign for liberty and honour. He expressed the hope that the young men of Australia would come forward as they had never done before, and consider themselves as dedicated to Christ's service in this holy war.

The musical portion of the service included the Dead March in Saul, the "Flowers of the Forest," and the hymns, "Soldiers of Christ, Arise" and "Lead, Kindly Light."

A TIGHT CORNER.

BY ARTHUR W. MARCHMONT.

(ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.)

CHAPTER VI.—Continued.

He turned away just in time to stop the old woman as she was rushing down to warn Gaudin. "None of that," he said sternly, gripping her and forcing her back to the room. "Breathe a word of this, and I'll pinch the life out of you," he threatened, frightening her intensely. He had learnt enough to know that he had a reputation for brutality and he traded on it.

Gaudin came back with words of [illegible] "Look here, Jean," he said as he came up the stairs; "I can't leave you here like this. We mustn't let this girl come between us. You shall have your way about her, but you mustn't get in the clutches of the police."

He reached the room as he uttered the last sentence, and Bob saw the swift change in his look as he saw Enid was not there. There was another significant thing. Gaudin's right hand was in his pocket.

"All right," agreed Bob readily. "Hands on it;" and he held his out.

"Where is she?" asked Gaudin, drawing his hand slowly from the pocket.

"He took her into another room," cried the woman viciously.

At that Gaudin let out an oath and whipped his hand from his pocket. But not quickly enough to prevent Bob gripping it and wresting away the revolver. He pushed him into the middle of the room, and stood in front of the door.

"I thought so. I know your sort," he said quietly. "That girl's going, and you won't stop her. You can go now," he called loudly to Enid, without taking his eyes from Gaudin's face.

The man's conduct puzzled him then. For a moment he made ready to spring at Bob, but with as quick a change he shrugged his shoulders and laughed.

"I only meant to give you a scare, Jean. I'd rather let her go a dozen times than quarrel with you," and he sat down on the bed.

"That's all right, then. But keep where you are; quarrel or no quarrel."

"I can't think what's come over you, man; but it doesn't matter. You'll get over it. I daresay that row with Estelle to-day has shaken you up. She's told me what a fool she made of herself, telling you things and threatening you with the police, if she tried anything of the sort, I'd be the first to wring her neck, although she is my daughter!"

Interpreting this as nothing more than a preface to some treachery, Bob kept his eyes riveted on the man on the watch for the slightest movement, while listening intently for the sounds of Enid's footsteps.

The pause which followed Gaudin's words was broken by a loud cry from Enid on the landing. He jumped up with an oath and sprang at Bob. But the latter was too quick for him. He avoided the rush, slipped through the door, slammed it behind him in Gaudin's face, and dashed at a couple of men who had seized Enid and carried her to the head of the stairway.

The butt end of the revolver came down on the head of one of them and knocked him senseless. The other released his hold of Enid and turned, but a terrific uppercut from Bob's left landed on his jaw and stretched him by the side of his fellow, just as Gaudin, with a roar of rage, sprang on Bob's back and fought to get a grip on his throat.

The revolver flew yards away in the shock of the attack, and the two men grappled in a struggle in which each knew his life was the stake. Gaudin's story was true—that the police were coming—and capture by them meant death, or, what he dreaded more, a life in the galleys or the Isle du Diable, and he put every ounce of his great strength into the fight.

But Bob was the stronger of the two, and was fighting for the girl, and in her presence, and, what was of even more importance, he knew how to use his strength to the best advantage. The one man fought more like a wild beast, with oaths and guttural cries of rage, clawing and kicking and writhing, mad with lust for the blood of his antagonist. The other was as cool and resourceful as he had shown himself many a time with the gloves on in the gymnasium.

There could be only one issue in such a combat, and but for Bob's weakened condition, as the result of his recent injuries, the end would have come sooner than it did. A practised wrestler, he had no difficulty in avoiding his adversary's attempts to get at his throat, and, despite the advantage which the first attack had given to Gaudin, they were soon on equal terms as they writhed and wriggled and struggled across the narrow and almost dark landing.

Foiled in his attempt to choke the life out of Bob, Gaudin's next effort was to get his thumbs into his eyes, intending to gouge them out; but the attempt failed, for Bob, finding the other man's grip relax for the moment, dashed his fist again and again into his face.

At that moment a smothered scream from Enid drew Bob's glance to her. The old hag had thrown a large shawl over her, and was dragging her away toward the stairs. Maddened at the sight, he made a frantic effort to end the fight and get to her assistance. The two men were close to the stair-head, and with the object of thwarting the old woman's progress with Enid, rather than with a thought of any advantage in the struggle itself, Bob forced his antagonist in that direction.

But in an instant he saw the advantage it gave him. Gaudin was underneath then, and when they reached the stairs his head hung over the edge of the stair and was without support. Realising his danger just as Bob saw the chance it offered, Gaudin made a desperate attempt to get away. It was useless. A crashing blow came down on his face, almost breaking the neck with its tremendous force. The hands relaxed their grip instantaneously, and the struggle was over.

As Bob rose, breathless, but unhurt, the old woman shrieked and fled into one of the rooms, locking the door behind her. He had no thought for her, not even seeing where she had gone; his only care was for the girl who lay, huddled up in the heavy shawl, just where the woman had dropped her. He tore off the shawl and found that she had fainted.

He called to her and tried to rouse her, slapping her hands and using such crude means as he thought of to restore her, but she made no response, and he was at his wits' end to think of the best thing to do.

One of the three men—the second he had struck—was beginning to show signs of recovering his senses, and as he was likely to be armed Bob was in no mind to remain in the house. He had had enough fighting for the struggle with Gaudin had been severe enough to exhaust him.

There were two other considerations moreover. He had already lost more time than he could afford, and there was the unpleasant prospect of the arrival of the police. He would have no difficulty in explaining things to them—he knew that; but he also knew that the average French policeman insisted upon such explanations being made at the station. This would inevitably entail delay, and no one could say for how long—quite probably long enough to destroy all hope of his winning his wager.

There was only one thing to do, therefore. He couldn't remain, and couldn't leave Enid there, and thus, whether she liked it or not, he must take her away with him.

Pulling himself together, and removing the results of the struggle from his clothes as best he could, he dashed into Enid's room for his hat, and then carried her downstairs and left the house.

To his surprise two motor-cars stood in the little semi-circle in front of the house —one a small two-seater, the other a fine powerful modern car.

"A loan from the gods!" he chuckled, as he laid Enid on the front seat of the bigger car, started the engine, and took his place at the wheel. As the smaller car was in front of his he backed out of the gate behind, which stood open. The path was narrow and winding, and the car a big one, so that progress was slow, and as Bob had no idea where he was he stopped a moment or two, the car drawn across the road, while he hesitated whether to turn right or left.

That to the right, which ran to Rueil through Fontenay-aux-Roses, although he did not know it, appeared to be fairly open, so far as he could see in the twilight, while to the left there was a bend with some houses showing beyond. He decided for the more open way. Enid had not yet recovered consciousness, and he was averse from meeting more people than possible until she was better. To drive through a town with an insensible girl by your side might start all sorts of questions and suspicions, and lead to trouble; and his thought was to reach some spot at a sufficient distance from the villa and then wait until she came to herself.

He had just turned the car to the right when a loud shout startled him. A glance over his shoulder showed that the shout came from some men in a car which had come rapidly round the bend of the road, two or three of whom were gesticulating excitedly and yelling to him to stop.

Gaudin's warning about the police was then in his thoughts. These were the police, of course; and for just one second he hesitated whether to obey and explain or make a dash for it and escape so as to be free to get away to Marseilles. At the same instant his eye caught sight of the congested blood on his hand, and he saw in a flash how seriously he might be implicated in the long and wearisome investigation which would be held into the matters at the villa.

This settled the question, and instead of halting he quickened up and dashed off, hoping that the speed of his car was as good as its looks.

ANY PLAYER-PIANO
WILL PLAY,
BUT THE QUESTION IS,
HOW WILL IT PLAY?

People are demanding more in a Player-Piano than they ever did. They want a Player that will enable them, easily and simply, to get good, natural-sounding music, music that sounds as if it were being played by hand. To get this means that you must own a Player-Piano that is simple in operation, effective in its expression devices, and sensitive to every feeling of the operator.

LAW REPORT.

HIGH COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Rich.)

LAND TAX APPEALS.

WARRANA STATION.

His Honor delivered his reserved judgments in two appeals against assessments under the Commonwealth Land Tax Act.

William Keogh, owner of Warrana station, of about 87,237 acres, near Coonamble, appealed against the Land Tax Commissioner's assessments for 1910-11, 1911-12, 1912-13, and 1913-14, on the ground that they were excessive. His Honor dealt only with the first of these years, stating that the other years could be adjusted on that footing.

It was not suggested, said his Honor, that the land was not being put to its most profitable use. Keogh returned the unimproved value as £117,900 1½s. The Commissioner's assessment was £158,212. From those figures the statute allowed a reduction of £5000. The evidence consisted of estimates and opinions of experts called on both sides. These experts propounded rival theories of arriving at the added value of the improvements. His Honor declined a request to state a case for the decision of the Full Court, so as to get defined the proper method of ascertaining the added improved value, because he considered no question of law emerged for consideration. Each case presented different facts, and it was impossible to lay down a rule of universal application. The benefit arising from improvements—the result of the work of man and the operation of nature—was progressive. After weighing the whole of the evidence, his Honor concluded that the Commissioner was fully justified in the assessment of £158,212. As the taxpayer had failed, he must pay the costs.

Mr. Campbell, K.C., and Mr. A. Thomson, instructed by Mr. F. R. Cowper, agent for Mr. H. T. Korff, of Coonamble, appeared for the appellant. Mr. Knox, K.C., and Mr. Pike, instructed by the Commonwealth Crown Solicitor, appeared for the Federal Land Tax Commissioner.

MERRIMBA STATION.

John William Fisher, owner of Merrimba Station, of 25,457 acres, 35 miles west of Coonamble, appealed against the Commissioner's assessments for the same year. The area in this case consists of conditional purchase and conditional lease lands. Fisher returned the unimproved value at £1 per acre, while the Commissioner assessed it at 23s per acre.

His Honor said the point of law was argued that a conditional lease was not liable to assessment or taxation. In his Honor's opinion, a conditional lease is a lease with a right of purchase, and the holder thereof is liable to assessment and taxation under sections 26 and 29 of the Land Tax Assessment Act. His Honor found, after reviewing the evidence, that the unimproved value of both the c.p. and c.l. land was £1 2s 6d per acre. He reduced the assessment to £28,639 2s 6d, from which the statutory £5000 is to be deducted. As the respondent Commissioner had substantially succeeded, the appellant must pay the costs.

Mr. Campbell, K.C., and Mr. Pitt, instructed by Mr. G. B. Cadden, agent, for Mr. J. D. Y. Button, of Coonamble, appeared for the appellant. Mr. Knox, K.C., and Mr. Pike, instructed by the Commonwealth Crown Solicitor, appeared for the Federal Land Tax Commissioner.

(Before the Full Court, Sir Samuel Griffith, C.J., Mr. Justice Isaacs, Mr. Justice Duffy, Mr. Justice Powers, and Mr. Justice Rich.)

ENEMY TRADING APPEAL.

Argument was concluded in the case in which Moses Moss and Co., Australasian agents for Wolfe's Schnapps, appealed against two convictions by Mr. Macfarlane, Chief Stipendiary Magistrate, under the Trading with the Enemy Act.

The Court reserved judgment, and adjourned to Melbourne, where the sittings begin next week.

SUPREME COURT.

IN BANCO.

(Before the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Gordon, and Mr. Justice Ferguson.)

APPEAL AGAINST A VERDICT.

Prattis v Bexley Council.

This appeal, which is one by defendant against a decision in favour of plaintiff, who was injured by the fall of the jib of a crane at Bexley, is till part heard.

QUESTION OF MILITARY SERVICE.

Re C. T. Collier, an Articled Clerk.

This was an application by abovenamed for an order permitting a period of six months' service as a soldier on active service (with the New Guinea Expeditionary Force) to be considered as part of the period of his articles of clerkship. Mr. Rolin, K.C., and Mr. A. R. Holdship, instructed by Messrs. a'Beckett and Holdship, appeared in support.

The Chief Justice, in giving judgment, said that the Court would make the required order in this case, but only on the ground of the special circumstances set out in the affidavits. He wanted it to be clearly understood that the Court did not bind itself to grant future applications of a similar nature by articled clerks who had enlisted, and been absent for a longer period, and whose legal education might not have been so advanced as that of the present applicant. Such applications, however, would be considered as favourably as possible, and each dealt with on its own merits.

IN EQUITY.

(Before Mr. Justice Harvey.)

APPLICATION FOR SECURITY FOR COSTS.

Mount Oxide, Ltd., v Gould and others.

This was an application on behalf of Sir Albert John Gould, Francis William Bacon, Gerald Francis Allen, Thomas B. Birkbeck, some of the defendants in the suit of the Mount Oxide Mines, Ltd., (in liquidation), v Gould and others, that, pursuant to section 259 of the Companies Act, 1899, the plaintiff company may be ordered to give security for the costs of the defendants, and that in the meantime all proceedings in the suit may be stayed as against each of the abovenamed defendants; and that the plaintiff company produce to the said defendants, their solicitors, or agents, a copy of the evidence of the defendants in their examination held at the instance of the liquidators of the plaintiff company; and allow the defendants to inspect and peruse the evidence so produced and take extracts therefrom, or a copy thereof, as they may be advised; or, in the alternative, that each of the said defendants may be at liberty to inspect his evidence in the office of the Master in Equity, and to obtain a copy thereof from the master upon payment of the usual charges, or to take copy of, or extracts from, such evidence of any part of it.

Mr. Maughan, instructed by Messrs. Gould and Shaw, appeared for Sir Albert John Gould; Mr. R. K. Manning, instructed by Messrs. Pigott and Stinson, for Francis William Bacon and Gerald Francis Allen; and Mr. S. A. Thompson, instructed by Messrs. Asher, Old, and Jones, for Thomas B. Birkbeck. The other defendants in the suit—viz., Joseph Earle Hermann and J. Earle Hermann, Ltd. (in liquidation), were not represented. Mr. Harper, instructed by Messrs. Minter, Simpson, and Co., appeared on behalf or the liquidators of the plaintiff company to oppose the application.

The suit has been instituted by the liquidators of the plaintiff company against the defendants, who were directors of the company, for alleged negligence of duty in connection with the administration of the affairs of the company.

His Honor directed that all proceedings, subsequent to date, at which the suit was at issue, be stayed until the plaintiff company had given security in three separate sums of £300 each, one for each separate set of defendants, the order not to prejudice any subsequent application for further security. A further order was made allowing the defendants the right to inspect and take copies of the depositions before the Master as soon as it was filed, subject to an undertaking that all reasonable precautions would be taken to prevent the contents being made known to anyone other than solicitors and clients.

AN EPPING SUBDIVISION.

IMPORTANT APPLICATION BY REGISTRAR-GENERAL.

This was a special case, stated at the instance of the Registrar-General of New South Wales, under setcion 123 of the Real Property Act, for directions as to what he was to do with respect to certain applications for the transfer of certain allotments in a subdivision of land at Epping.

Mr. Bethune and Professor Peden, instructed by the Crown Solicitor (Mr. J. V. Tillett) appeared for the Registrar-General; and Mr. Maurice E. Price for Alma William White, attorney under a power of attorney from Conrad Machens; and also for Conrad Machens and Martin Frederick Vollmer, registered proprietors of the land.

The case set out that a state of war existed between his Majesty the King and the German Emperor, as from 11 p.m. on August 4, 1914; and on or about August 5 and September 9, 1914, respectively, certain proclamations were issued, wherein it was stated that as a state of war existed between the British Empire and Germany, it was contrary to law for any person resident, carrying on business, or being in British Dominions to trade, or have any commercial intercourse with any person resident, carrying on business, or being in the German Empire, without his Majesty's permission.

It appeared that a certain estate near Epping, known as the "Railway Estate," was in process of subdivision, the land being comprised in a certificate of title, which was registered under the Real Property Act in the names of Conrad Machens, a merchant residing at Hildesheim, in Germany, and Martin Frederick Vollmer, a naturalised British subject, of Epping, near Sydney. In the course of the subdivision, transfers of the land had been executed by Vollmer and one Alma William White, the latter purporting to act on behalf of Machens under a power of attorney, dated January, 1913. Under the contracts entered into with purchasers, the purchase moneys were payable by instalments. It was believed that some of the contracts had been entered into before the present war, and payments of the instalments to Vollmer and White (as Machens' attorney) were made, in some cases before, and in others after, the war—in some cases on August 7, 1914, in some between that date and September 12, and in others on September 12. Other contracts, it was stated, might have been entered into after the commencement of the war, or on or before August 7, and payment of the instalments might have been made in some cases before and in others after August 7 and September 12, respectively. In other cases where contracts had been entered into after August 7 and before September 12, or after the last-mentioned date, payments of instalments had been made of or become due before or after September 12.

Two transfers, dated February 19, 1915, had been lodged by Alice Rose Oakes and William Southwell, for registration under the Real Property Act in March last. The Registrar-General, having regard to the outbreak of the war having occurred on August 4 last, and the legislation and proclamations in connection with trading with the enemy, was in doubt whether he was not in duty bound to inquire into the dates of contracts and payment of instalments, his contention being that those facts were material for him to consider before registering the transfers, hence the special case.

Counsel for the Registrar-General submitted that, on the outbreak of war, all intercourse with the enemy had necessarily to cease, except so far as it was expressly permitted by his Majesty the King, and in consequence therof, although the power of attorney might be effectual so as to enable White to complete contracts definitely concluded prior to the outbreak of the war; as to the other contracts, the power of attorney and the agency thereunder was at an end.

The matter stands part heard.

(Before Mr. Justice Street.)

A BUNGONIA HOTEL.

Alderson and another v Sheedy and another.

The suit of Sarah Ann Alderson and Louise Parker v John Sheedy and Michael Robert Shanley, in which plaintiffs asked, among other things, that the sale of a certain hotel at Bungonia, near Marulan, should be set aside, was mentioned.

In his judgment on the previous day his Honor ordered the plaintiffs to pay the costs of the defendant Sheedy, and ordered Shanley to pay plaintiff's costs, but not including any payable by them to Sheedy under his Honor's order, Sheedy's costs against the plaintiff Alderson to be in the usual form of an order for costs against a married woman. On a certain application having been made by Sheedy's counsel, his Honor allowed the question of costs to stand over till the following day.

Having heard counsel for Sheedy and the plaintiffs, his Honor said he would adhere to the order as to costs as already made.

Plaintiffs' counsel asked for a stay of execution under the decree for 14 days, to enable plaintiffs to consider what steps they might take with respect to filing notice of appeal.

Sheedy's counsel undertaking not to proceed to execution in a certain District Court judgment, and also not to proceed to execution under the decree until the expiration of 14 days, his Honor declined to make any order for a stay of proceedings.

Mr. S. A. Thompson and Mr. Wilson, instructed by Messrs. Vindin and Littlejohn, agents for Messrs. Johnson and Sendall, of Goulburn, appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. R. H. L. Innes and Mr. S. Betts, instructed by Messrs. Betts and Son, of Goulburn, by their Sydney agents, Messrs. Pigott and Stinson, for the defendant Sheedy.

NO. 2 JURY COURT.

(Before the Chief Justice, without a jury.)

A RESUMPTION CASE.

VERDICT FOR £5500.

Henry Haigh and Son, Ltd., v Commonwealth of Australia.

Mr. J. L. Campbell, K.C., and Mr. Victor Haigh, instructed by Messrs. Robberds, England, and Vickery, appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Blacket, K.C., and Mr. Flannery, instructed by the Commonwealth Crown Solicitor, for the defendant. The action was in respect of the resumption by the Commonwealth Government for military purposes of 66 acres of land at Liverpool, being portion of 221 acres, which were leased by the beneficiaries of the Haigh Estate to the plaintiff company. The plaintiffs claimed £14,818.

The defendant pleaded that the sum offered by the Minister (£6000) exceeded, or was equal to the compensation to which plaintiff company is entitled. Evidence and argument were heard a short time ago, and judgment was now delivered.

His Honor, after referring to the facts elicited in the case, said that on a full and careful consideration of the whole of the evidence, he had come to the conclusion that the claim to an added value to the land in the hands of the plaintiffs, due to its adaptability for growing vegetables, fruit, and rich grasses under their scheme, must be rejected. He also rejected the extra claim for compensation outside that based upon the value of the land resumed. These were (1) damage through severance of the 30 acres across the road adapted to irrigation; and (2) detriment to the plaintiffs as lessees, through the excessive cost that they would be put to in carrying out the covenant in the lease which provided for the distribution of waste waters. Coming to the claim based upon the value of the resumed land, he dealt with it as land, which, on the balance of testimony, he regarded as land fairly suitable for cultivation by market gardeners and orchardists under one of the ordinary systems of irrigations. For this purpose an abundant supply of water existed in the adjoining river, for which there was reason to believe that a license at a nominal rate could be obtained from the Crown under the Water Act. The whole of the 66 acres was not of equal value, and an estimate of £9 rental per acre made by some of the plaintiff's witnesses, for the 55 acres shown to be suitable for the scheme put forward, seemed to him, in the light of all the evidence, to be unduly high as an average of the whole block of 66 acres. He thought that £8 would be an outside estimate of the prospective rental. There was nothing in the evidence to show that the land would have produced any greater return in the hands of the plaintiffs themselves. It was admitted that of the ground rent payable by the plaintiffs under their lease, £100 per annum was the proportional part to be allocated to the 66 acres. He estimated the value of the land at £5500, and he found for plaintiffs for this sum. He made no order as to costs.

VICE-ADMIRALTY COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Street.)

CLAIM FOR COLLISION.

DAVIS v AUSTRALIAN STEAMSHIPS, LTD.

This suit, arising out of a collision between the tug Federal and the steamer Konoowarra in the Parramatta River, is still part heard.

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.

(Before Acting Justice Docker and jury.)

Mr. Herbert Harris, Crown Prosecutor.

CHARGE OF CONSPIRACY TO DEFRAUD.

The hearing of the charge of conspiracy to defraud Jeremiah Franklin, Annie Tattersall, Freda von Dyke, Emily Hardy, Ethel Mildred, and Joseph George Darlington, of large sums of money, against Andrew Scott Page and John William Hinton, was resumed at the Criminal Court yesterday.

Mr. S. Mack appeared for Page, and Mr. Jaques for Hinton.

Page, in a statement to the jury, said he had distinctly stated in the papers that he was not a medicine man. He did not undertake to treat by miracle. He was confident of being able to do good to sick people. He had considerable experience in the treatment of complaints by diet, of which he had been a student for many years. He asked Hinton to come over from Melbourne to help him. He had great faith in Hinton's ability to diagnose. There had been no fraud.

Hinton said that he had been a herbalist for many years, and his father had been a herbalist. He came from Melbourne, where he had successfully treated people for some time. His name was not Hinton; it had been assumed for a certain reason; and there had been no intention to defraud.

In summing up his Honor said that it was no offence against the law for a person to carry on business for the purpose of healing.

The jury retired at 5 o'clock, and, being unable to agree at 8 o'clock, were locked up for the night.

IN BANKRUPTCY.

(Before the Registrar, Mr. F. H. Salusbury.)

HEARING OF CREDITORS' PETITIONS.

William Francis Weeden v Richard McGrath. Mr. Briscombe appeared for the petitioning creditor. An order sequestrating the estate was made, Mr. W. H. Palmer being appointed official assignee.

James Walker v John Sullivan. Mr. C. L. Mackenzie, of Messrs. Mackenzie and Mackenzie, appeared for the petitioning creditor, and, on his application, the matter was adjourned to May 21.

Julius Blau and Sons, Ltd., v Charles Alexander Menier. Mr. Lane, of Messrs. Laurence and Laurence, appeared for the petitioning creditors, and, on his application, the matter was adjourned to May 14.

The Australian Bank of Commerce, Ltd., v Alban Shannon. Mr. A. D. Fisher, of Messrs. Fisher and Macansh, appeared for the petitioning creditors. An order sequestrating the estate was made, Mr. C. F. W. Lloyd being appointed official assignee.

Gamboola Cabonne Phosphates, Ltd., v Peter Martin Metzler. Mr. Delohery, instructed by Mr. Millington, appeared for the petitioning creditors. An order sequestrating the estate was made, Mr. C. F. W. Lloyd being appointed official assignee.

VOLUNTARY SEQUESTRATIONS.

Pearce Jones, of Frederick-street, Dudley, miner. Mr. W. H. Palmer, official assignee.

Arthur Aaron Herman, of Redmyre-road, Strathfield, motor garage proprietor. Mr. W. H. Palmer, official assignee.

PROBATE COURT.

COURT OF CRIMINAL APPEAL.

(Before Mr. Justice Pring, Mr. Justice Sly, and Mr. Justice Gordon.)

REX v GLEESON.

Mr. C. A. White appeared for the Crown. The prisoner—James Gleeson—who was not represented, was convicted at the Quarter Sessions, before Judge Backhouse, in February last, on a charge of assault and robbery, and sentenced to five years' penal servitude. He now asked for leave to appeal, mainly on the grounds of alleged false evidence, and that the sentence was excessive.

Leave to appeal was refused.

Applications on behalf of several other prisoners were, by consent, adjourned.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

(Before Judge Backhouse and jury.)

Mr. A. F. Dawson, Crown Prosecutor.

Ethel Violet May Benn and Richard Benn were charged with stealing in a dwelling at North Sydney, and with receiving property to the value of £5. The accused were found not guilty on the first charge, but guilty on the second, and were remanded for sentence.

NOT GUILTY.

John Masters was found not guilty on a charge of maliciously damaging two plate-glass windows. John M'Mahon, charged with assault and intent to rob, was found not guilty.

SENTENCES.

The following sentences were recorded:—

Cleeve Handfield, stealing in a dwelling (two charges), 15 months' imprisonment with hard labour, sentence to be suspended and prisoner released as a first offender on his own recognisance of £40 and one surety of £40 to be of good behaviour for 15 months, and to pay £9 12s 6d compensation.

Charles Conway, stealing watch and chain and clothing, 12 months' imprisonment with hard labour; prisoner to be allowed to petition at the end of six weeks, when £5 compensation is to be paid. The Judge will then recommend his release on license.

Archibald Hughes, breaking and entering a dwelling and stealing, two years' hard labour Bathurst Gaol; prisoner to be allowed to petition at the end of 12 months.

William Beale, maliciously injuring property, six months' imprisonment, concurrent with a sentence now serving. If satisfactory arrangements can be made for the payment of compensation, the Judge will allow him to petition, and recommend his release on license.

Frederick James, aged 16, feloniously receiving stolen property (three charges), nine months' imprisonment with hard labour. Sentence was suspended, and prisoner was released on his own recognisances and one surety, £30 each, to be of good behaviour for 12 months.

Carl Carlstoff, forgery and uttering (three counts), 18 months' imprisonment in Goulburn Gaol on each count. Sentences to be concurrent.

John Dickie and Jas. Quinn, breaking and entering a shop and stealing there. Each two years' imprisonment in Bathurst Gaol.

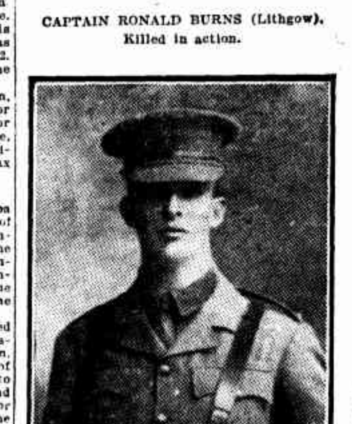

Ethel Violet May Benn, who pleaded guilty to seven charges of breaking and entering, was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, with light labour, on each charge, sentences to be concurrent.

HEROES OF THE DARDANELLES.

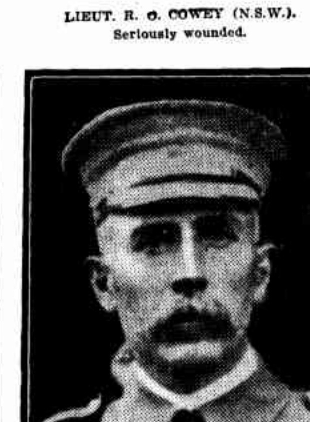

CAPTAIN RONALD BURNS (Lithgow). Killed in action.

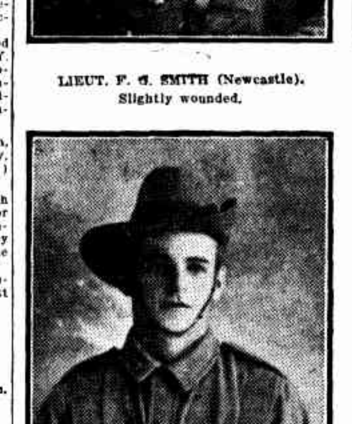

MAJOR S. B. ROBERTSON (Ipswich, Q.). Killed in action.

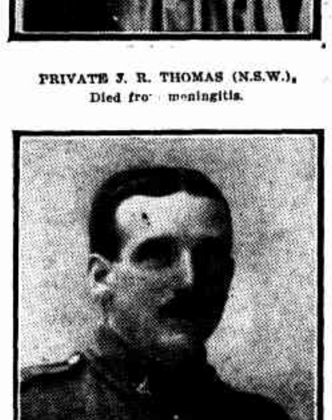

LIEUT. R. O. COWEY (N.S.W.). Seriously wounded.

LIEUT. F. G. SMITH (Newcastle). Slightly wounded.

PRIVATE J. R. THOMAS (N.S.W.), Died from meningitis.

CAPTAIN C. E. LEER (Woollahra). Killed in action.

PRIVATE H. R. CROSS (N.S.W.) Wounded.

PRIVATE F. PAGE, of Sydney (N.Z. Forces). Wounded.

SERGEANT E. A. SHAPLEY (Sydney). Died of wounds.

YOUTH'S DEATH.

ALLEGED NEGLECT AT HOSPITAL.

A FATHER'S COMPLAINT.

MELBOURNE, Thursday.

Serious charges against the methods employed in the treatment of a patient at the casualty ward of Melbourne Hospital were made at an inquiry to-day into the death of Howard Edwin Wood, a driver, who was thrown from a lorry in Flinders-street on May 4.

Wood, who was 19 years of age, was taken to Melbourne Hospital on Tuesday morning suffering from fractures of the upper arm and ankle and from internal injuries. He was admitted by Dr. McMeekin. Wood, who never lost consciousness, died four hours after admission.

The father of deceased said that when his son was taken to the hospital he was treated like a dog. He was kept waiting 2¼ hours before being operated on, and all the time he was in intense agony. When he (witness) spoke to a nurse about the delay she said: "Well, if you don't like it, go somewhere else." His son died a little later from hemorrhage, and the only explanation offered was that some veins or arteries had been severed and had been overlooked. Witness also complained that an anesthetic had not been administered to his son to relieve him of his pain, and was told that it could not be administered without the parents' consent. He asked why they had not obtained his consent when they notified him by telephone that his son was in the hospital? He was told, further, that the injury to the arm was merely a flesh wound. Dr. Vera Scantlebury had attended deceased. Witness wanted an explanation of the delay.

The Coroner said he would adjourn the inquiry in order to get the evidence of the doctor and nurse. The nurse had no right to speak to witness as she had done. It was apparent that deceased was suffering from hemorrhage all the time and had died from it. It should have been stopped. He intended to get this matter cleared up. The hospital existed for the public, and not for the doctors and nurses.

BOGUS "BRITISH" GOODS.

ENEMY'S METHODS.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MAKES A SUGGESTION.

It is not always possible to know when one is buying German goods. Even patriotic purchasers who take the trouble to look at the labels are sometimes deceived. German factories are established in various parts of the world. Some of them bear English names, and to all outward appearances are British. A glance at the shareholders' list would show, however, that while the wages might be paid in the country in which the industry is established, the profits go to Germany. There are many ways by which this money can reach the enemy. Holland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, and America are in communication with England, and there is nothing to prevent agents in those countries acting on behalf of the German shareholders in the English factories. That is a leakage which even the might of the British navy cannot prevent.

How, then, is a remedy to be applied? A suggestion has been made to the Federal Government by the Sydney Chamber of Commerce. It is that the trademarks of concerns in which the majority of shareholders are known to be Germans should be published officially as a guidance to shoppers. It might then be found that even in Australia there are manufactures of this kind. If we are to assist in crushing Prussian militarism by means of a commercial boycott, the Chamber maintains, it should be thoroughly done. And unless assistance is afforded by the Federal Government it is feared that many people will continue to unwittingly help the enemy by supplying him with the means of providing poisonous gases and other barbarous devices associated with German kultur.

SEPARATION.

TROUBLES OF NORTH COAST RESIDENTS.

BELLINGEN, Friday.

At the Chamber of Commerce meeting last night the following resolution was carried unanimously:—

"That a public meeting be called to consider and decide the question of joining the agitation for severance of the North Coast districts, and the establishment of a separate State."

The reasons advanced in support of the resolution were firstly the inability to get a bad river entrance dredged, the Department's reason for non-dredging being that the dredge Latona had damaged a pipe; the refusal to build a wharf connecting the railway system with the river; the grounds of the refusal being that it was a work for the shire council; the refusal to advance more than £80 for construction of at least £1000 worth of roads at the railway station; the decision of the Works Department that freightage from Sydney via Coff's Harbour to the Bellingen River can be only by six-ton truck at a cost of 30s per truck, insufficient subsidy and delay of payment of the same to the shire council; repeated refusals to construct the traffic bridge over the south arm of the Bellinger River approved by the late Mr. O'Sullivan when Minister for Works; finally, the serious interference with the main industry of the district, dairymen being compelled to send butter to Sydney and sell at 124/ per cwt, while on the Brisbane market, which is much closer, it is selling at 196/ per cwt.

SOCIAL.

At the Presbyterian Church, Glebe, on March 27, the marriage was solemnised of Hugh Ramsay, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Christie, of Ryde, with Violet Evelyn (Essie), eldest daughter of the late G. L. R. Brown and Mrs. Brown, of Waratah, Tralee-street, Annandale. Rev. G. R. S. Reid officiated, and Mr. H. Fleming played the organ. The church was decorated. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. G. W. Brown, wore a gown of ivory crepe de Chine, trimmed with silk shadow lace, with pearl trimming, and Court train finished with orange blossom and pearls. She also wore a tulle veil and wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations, which, with a gold wristlet watch, was a gift of the bridegroom. Misses Ivy and Edna Brown, as bridesmaids, wore white silk, with mob caps of white tulle, and pale pink bebe roses. Their bouquets of pink roses and carnations and gold bangles were gifts of the bridegroom. Mr. A. J. Coutin acted as best man, and Mr. F. M'Donough as groomsman. After the ceremony a reception was held at Record Reign Hall, Glebe, where over 60 guests were entertained. Later Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Christie left for Katoomba. The bride's travelling dress was a navy crepe de Chine, with hat of white crepe de Chine and white mount.

At St. Peter's Church of England, Mortdale, on April 3, the marriage took place of Rosalind Amelia, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hill, of Glenlee, Morris-road, Mortdale, and Reginald Oswald, eldest son of the late Mr. E. G. Hart and Mrs. Hart, of Arncliffe. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore ivory crepe de Chine, with a tunic of crepe mikon, and lace and pearls, an ivory satin Court train trimmed with white satin roses and true lovers' knots, and a wreath of orange blossoms and tulle veil. Her bouquet and a single-stone diamond ring were gifts of the bridegroom. The bridesmaids, Misses Marie and Ilone Hart (sisters of the bridegroom), wore dresses of white paillette silk trimmed with shadow lace, and white flowers in their hair. Their gifts from the bridegroom were their bouquets of heliotrope cactus dahlias and gold bangles. Messrs. E. Austin and A. M'Coy (cousins of the bride) were dressed alike in dainty frocks of white silk, with sprays of pink flowers in their hair, and they carried glass wands. Their gifts from the bridegroom were gold cable bangles. The reception was held at St. George's Hall, about 180 being present. Later Mr. and Mrs. Hart left for Kiama and Nowra on their honeymoon.

On April 2, at Stanmore, the Rev. Dr. Bromilow married Joseph, only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh M'Caffery, Kildare, Ireland, to Anne Leithhead, third surviving daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Thompson, of Burra Burra, Strathfield. The bride wore a gown of silver grey charmeuse, with an overdress of crepe de Chine of the same shade, with aluminium trimmings, and a small white hat, with an ostrich feather mount. She carried a small pony. Mr. Jardyn acted as best man. After the ceremony the guests adjourned to Burra Burra, where the reception and wedding tea were held, only the relations of the bride and bridegroom being present. The bride's going-away costume was of navy blue silk, and a small vieux rose hat.

Lewisham Methodist Church was the scene of a quiet wedding on April 7, when Valetta, elder daughter of Rev. J. G. Morris-Taylor, was married to Rev. J. E. A. Chapman, younger son of Mr. T. H. A. Chapman, of Mitchell's Island, Manning River. The church was decorated, and the bridal party stood under a wedding bell. The bride entered the church with her father, who subsequently performed the ceremony. Miss Morris-Taylor was attired in white crepe de Chine. The train being finished with a true-lover's knot, outlined with pearls and touches of pink ninon. She wore the customary wreath and veil, and carried a shower bouquet, which, with a black opal and diamond ring, was the gift of the bridegroom. Miss Norma Taylor (sister) and Miss G. A. (Topsy) Chapman (sister of the bridegroom) were bridesmaids, gowned alike in pale apricot seafoam crepe and black velvet hats. They carried bouquets of red cactus dahlias, asparagus, and maiden hair ferns, gifts of the bridegroom, as were also Nellie Stewart bangle and silver chain bag respectively. Mr. Anderson (Helensburgh) attended the bridegroom as best man, and Mr. H. Morris-Taylor as groomsman. Mr. Cooper played the "Wedding March." The reception was held in the school-hall. The presents included a silver afternoon tea set and hot-water kettle from the Helensburgh Church. Later the happy couple left by motor for Port Macquarie, en route to Bruthgrove, their future home. Mrs. Chapman travelling in a navy coat and skirt, and hat to match, and a set of white furs.

St. Matthew's Church, South Grafton, was the scene of a wedding on April 29, the happy couple being Lorna Muriel, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McKittrick, of Rathgar, and Charles Wilfrid, son of Mrs. M. E. Mallam, Glebe Point. The church was decorated by the choir members, the ceremony being carried out by the Rev. D. J. Collins, Th.L., and Rev. C. J. Armstrong, vicar. The bride was gowned in white crepe de Chine, with draplngs of Donde lace, high Medici collar and deep wrathed belt, embroidered tulle veil worn cap-fashion, and lootped to the narrow train with a large buckle of orange blossoms. The bridesmaids were Miss Hilda E. McKittrick, youngest sister of the bride, and Miss Ethel Harper, the bridegroom's cousin. Their frocks were of white crepe de Chine, made with kilted tunics, and draped with apricot. The hats to tone were in shades of apricot, a single claret-coloured dahlia making a smart contrast. Their bouquets were of similar cactus dahlias, and their gifts a motor dress-ing-case and a compro flacgle. The bride's wedding gift was a handsome emerald and diamond cluster ring. The groomsmen were Mr. Ernest Mallam, as best man, and Mr. Jack Mallam (cousin). The bride's mother wore a very rich gown of white satin with overdress of black chiffon finished with appliques of black guipure as corselet and vest; the whole completed by a Napoleon tonic of black panne, with dull gold. Mrs. Mallam (mother of the bridegroom) was gowned in striped grenadine, relieved with black and white taffeta, toque with military mount. The wedding breakfast was served at Rathgar, the residence of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Mallam left by train for Casino and Brisbane. Their future home will be in Lismore. The bride's going-away dress was of purple crepe de Chine, and she wore black furs and a black satin sailor hat.

At the conclusion of the opening concert at the Conservatorium on Thursday Mrs. Arthur Griffith entertained at tea Miss Strickland (who was accompanied by Miss Birch), Mrs. Finn, Mrs. Holman, Mr. and Mrs. C. Carmichael, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Hall, Miss Ella Lapsley, Judge Backhouse, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bradley, Mr. Arundel Orchard, Mr. Alfred Hill, Mr. Wm. Carpers, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Vincent, and others in a room opening on the vestibule. Tables were arranged in both places, pink roses being used for decoration. Mr. R. L. Salmon was congratulated on the success of his efforts as secretary. The social aspect of the Conservatorium opening was in every respect worthy of the occasion.

On April 2, at St. Mary's Church, Waverley, the wedding of Ruby Beatrice, elder daughter of Mrs. R. B. Treacy, of Taviuni, Waverley, and Ernest H. Stephens, of the Premier Diamond Mine, Transvaal, South Africa, was solemnised. The Rev. R. M'Keown officiated. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. H. B. Treacy, wore white satin with corsage of mecklin lace and a square train. Her veil of Limerick lace, which was over 50 years old, was caught with sprays of orange blossoms. The bridegroom's gifts were a pearl bouquet and diamond and pearl earrings. Miss Vera Treacy, sister of the bride, who acted as bridesmaid, wore pale pink crepe de chine and black hat lined with pink. Her bouquet and diamond ring were gifts of the bridegroom. The bride's mother wore black satin charmeuse with black military hat with osprey, and carried a bouquet of violets and maiden hair fern. Mr. J. H. M'Laughlan acted as best man. The church was prettily decorated by girl friends of the bride. A reception was held at Taviuni, Waverley, the home of the bride, and later Mr. and Mrs. Stephens left, the bride travelling in a gown of putty coloured broche. Amongst the guests were Mrs. R. B. Treacy, Dr. and Mrs. Carruthers, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Logoe, Dr. Carruthers, Mr. and Mrs. Church, Mr. and Mrs. D. and Mrs. Prior, Mrs. Church, Mr. and Mrs. D. Cuchent, Mrs. W. H. Lee (aunt of the bridegroom), Mrs. and the Misses Pindagan, Mr. and Mrs. W. Vero, Mrs. Maudrell, Mr. and Mrs. W. Vero Read, Miss J. Smith (Adelaide), Mrs. and Miss Curtiss, Mr. and Mrs. Grant, Mrs. M'Elhone, Miss Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Donovan, Mr. and Mrs. Harper, Donovan, Mr. and Mrs. F. Ball, Callum, M'Laughlin, Lavery, F. Ball-gerg, the Misses Moore, Maudrell, Bruce, Levings, Campbell, Lawry, and Messrs. R. H. Tepper, H. Steel, Du Pre, Rev. R. M'Keown, E. Carruthers, R. H. Treacy.

ENGAGEMENTS.

The engagement is announced of Miss Kathleen Crossman, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Crossman, Bennett-street, Neutral Bay, to Dr. Claude J. Teyer, of the Royal Hospital for Women, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Toyer, Cootamundra.

The engagement is announced of Agnes, daughter of the late Mr. John Scholey, and of Mrs. Scholey, Mayfield, Newcastle, to Dr. F. J. Fahy, of Waratah.

The engagement is announced of Miss Gladys Beatrice Webster, eldest daughter of Mrs. W. R. O. Hill, Brisbane, Queensland, to Mr. Thomas James Ervin, eldest son of Mrs. M. Rhode, Tivoli, Mosman, Sydney.

AMUSEMENTS.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.

With the usual 1.45 matinee at Her Majesty's Theatre to-day, "Cinderella" will enter upon the last twelve nights of its prosperous season. Ballets, songs, eccentric dances, and a story in which Misses Dolly Cashier, Minnie Love, Maggie Dickenson, Messrs. Lupino, McArdle, Stugant, and Darrell, are prominent, sustain the popularity of the pantomime.

THEATRE ROYAL.

"The Man Who Stayed at Home" is drawing large audience at the Theatre Royal, and promises to prove one of the successes of the year. Mr. Frank Harvey, whose career is alluded to in our "Music and Drama" column, keeps up the dual side of the central character, and there are equal parts for Misses Paget and Parker, Messrs. Cornell, Victor, Lewis, and Massey.

PALACE—"THE PARISH PRIEST."

This evening, at the Palace Theatre, Mr. Allen Doone will revive (for six nights only) "The Parish Priest," a charming and idyllic picture of Irish life quite away from other characters in his repertoire, as he appears as the Rev. John Whalen, an elderly, patient, and lovable pastor, in this clever sentimental play. Miss Edna Keeley will appear as the pastor's ward, Helen.

CRITERION THEATRE.

George Broadhurst's problem-drama, "Bought and Paid For," with Mr. Chas. A. Millward as the millionaire who thinks he owns his wife, and Miss Muriel Starr, who satisfactorily teaches him that he does not, continues to prove attractive at the Criterion Theatre. "Under Cover" is now in rehearsal at the Criterion.

ADELPHI—"EAST LYNNE."

The revised version of Mrs. Henry Wood's emotional drama, "East Lynne," will be revived at the Adelphi Theatre this afternoon (2 p.m.) and evening. Miss Olive Wilton will appear as the erring Lady Isabel, and Mr. Robert Inman as the much-wronged husband, Archibald Carlyle.

TOWN HALL—BELGIAN CONCERT.

Mr. W. Reginald Goodall will conduct the Western Suburbs Philharmonic Society, forming a choir of 300 voices, in a programme of selected music at the Town Hall to-night, the concert being in aid of the Belgian Fund. Those assisting in an attractive programme will be Misses Dorie Ward, Lilian Frost, Maud Ferguson, Messrs. Percy Evans, W. Reg. Goodall, Mowat Currie, Harry Thomas, and Tomlife. Popular prices are notified.

ILLINGWORTH BELGIAN CONCERTS.

The students of Mr. Nelson Illingworth will give two grand-opera recitals (in costume) at the Repertory Theatre to-night and Monday next, in aid of the Belgian Fund. The programme will include popular scenes from well-known operas. Mr. Illingworth will sing Alfred Hill's "1914," and a chorus will be heard in the same composer's "Song of the Belgians," which has been specially written for this occasion. The assisting artists will be Messrs. William Card, J. Carl-ton Fay, Frank Hutchens, Cyril Monk, and Walter Tom-son. The plans are at Nicholson's.

HARRY THOMAS'S HOSPITAL CONCERT.

Mr. Harry Thomas will give a dramatic recital in aid of the South Sydney Hospital at St. James's Hall to-night at 8 o'clock. Mr. Thomas will appear in scenes from Dickens and from "Pygmalion and Galatea." Mrs. Jack Maiden, Misses Rita Rouck, Belle Ritar, and Messrs. Sid Macdonald, Murray-Gibbes, Vern Barnett, and the Gibson Orchestra will assist. The plan is at Paling's.

THE CALEDONIAN SOCIETY.

The Caledonian Society will give their Scottish concert at the Southern Cross Hall at 7.45 to-night, when Chief T. Clark will preside, and Mr. A. Atchison will direct the music. The programme will be contributed to by Misses Ethel Thompson, Clarice Hardcastle, Vera M'Donald, Jessie Macfadzean, pupils of Jas Coates (dancing), and Messrs. David Mackenzie (society's piper), A. E. Y. Benham, S. J. Wilson, G. Hindmarsh Jamieson, and Tom Angus.

MISS DOROTHY TOPPIN'S CONCERT.

Mr. George Grimm will introduce his pupil, Miss Dorothy Toppin (soprano), at a vocal recital to be given in the St. James's Hall on Friday, May 21. Assistance will be given by Miss Muriel Cassy, Messrs. Bryce Carter, Frank Hutchens, and George Grimm. The plan opens at Paling's next Wednesday.

TRINITY COLLEGE EXAMINATIONS.

The Board of Trinity College of Music (London) announce the appointment of Mr. Charles Scuthy as the examiner for the colleges in Queensland, New South Wales, Victoria, and South Australia this year in practical subjects. As a pianist this artist, who is a British subject by birth, and was educated in London, Berlin, and Paris, has toured England and the Continent with success, and is an accomplished linguist who speaks four languages. Entries for the September practical examinations close June 5. Mr. Campbell Carmichael, M.L.A., will distribute the annual prizes at St. James's Hall, May 21.

THE FIRST PHONOGRAPH.

Mr. C. L. Garland writes, in connection with the phonograph exhibited by Professor Douglas Archibald, in September, 1866, under the late James MacMahon's management, that in February of that year he purchased an Edison phonograph. This was not exhibited publicly, but was examined by hundreds of leading people, including the late Sir Henry Parkes, who was much interested in a message sent to him by Mr. Scott Sutton. The veteran Agent-General's advice was the first to be appreciated in Australia.

LOUISE MACK'S WAR LECTURE.

Louise Mack (Mrs. J. F. Green), well known to Australian readers of fiction, who was sent to Belgium at the outbreak of the war for a London paper, recently received an ovation on her return to London under engagement to Messrs. J. and S. Tait for a lecture tour of Australia. Her tour will open in this city during June.

MR. JOSEPH BLASCO'S TOUR.

Mr. Blasco's will play a farewell season in Sydney in July next, before leaving Australia to appear at the Grand Opera House, London, in Mr. Alfred Butt's touring New Zealand, and is meeting with great success in his up-to-date version of his famous society spectacular entertainment, in which he is supported by Miss Alice Austin.

SYDNEY REPERTORY SOCIETY.

The Repertory Society's first production of the new season will be either Shaw's "Man of Destiny" or Stanley Houghton's "Hindle Wakes." The former is singularly up-to-date, and the remarks on war at one of the characters, I understand, a correspondent of leading London papers, are well worth considering. Mr. Frederick Ward will direct the stage, and to him applications should be made, as noted in another column.

MR. JENSEN'S CONCERT.

The usual monthly students' concert in aid of the Children's Hospital will be given in Paling's Concert Hall, to-morrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Items will be contributed by Miss Jessie Tiverton and Master Jensen (pianists), Misses Lennon and Cullen (violinists), Arthur Jensen (cornet), Misses Lucy Nelson and Ethel Jensen (vocalists), and ensemble pieces, piano quartets, and concertos by Mr. R. Cowlishaw. All items were warmly applauded.

THE DANDIES.

That popular company of entertainers, The Dandies, will make their first appearance at the Coronation Hall, Bondi Junction, on Saturday next, May 15, under the direction of Mr. Edgar Brownsdale. The box plan is at Cavanagh's, George-street, and Paling's, Corporation Hall.

BELGIAN ENTERTAINMENTS.

On Monday last the students of Franklin Jensen's Academy of Music gave a concert in aid of the Belgian Patriotic Relief Fund, in the Town Hall, Moruya. The hall was crowded, and the concert will realise to the amount of £40. Those who took part were Misses Nellie Fellon, Mr. Bernard Cohen, the Rev. Brothers, and Mr. John Cohen.

At Woods's Coronation Theatre, Leichhardt, on May 5, an entertainment was given in aid of the National Belgian Fund, in the presence of the Mayor of Leichhardt and aldermen. Over 1000 people contained and the proceeds realised £50. The Belgian flag, made and presented by Mrs. L. J. Wood, brought a handsome sum. Mrs. Walter Reed, who has been successful in the Wood Patriotic Fund, sold a lucky doll, dressed as an admiral, collected £2 from the audience. Arthur Jeon won Miss Cheney Read also assisted. Mr. Wood presided. The fund, with a handsome addition, will be sent to-day. Woods Brothers have generously offered the use of their theatre in the Belgian Fund committee on the first Wednesday in each month.

A concert was given in the Chatswood Hall, Pennant Hills-road, on Monday, May 3, under the auspices of the Abbotsford Literary and Debating Association, in aid of the Legion of Frightfulness. The proceeds, which will run to £25 to £30 will be handed to the Belgian Consul. Artists contributed were Misses Mona Jay White, Lulu Allen, Brimbell, Scully, Messrs. Jay White, Arthur, Clarence Campbell, Lawrence, F. A. Scott, Keith Weir (accompanist), and Sergt. Major Hamley (stage manager). Master Hazel (cyclist) also performed. Mr. Edward Gillies organised the concert.

SPENCER'S EYE-FILM.

A thrilling drama of the present war, by "Rita," Mrs. Desmond Humphreys, is announced for the Lyceum Theatre on Monday next, under the title of "Spencer's Eye." The story deals with the interest of a Scottish regiment and the inside scene is laid in the action of the film being set in Scotland and on the battlefields of France. The producers have promised many stirring scenes depicting actual warfare, the trench fighting, bayonet charges, artillery bombardment, and aerial reconnaissance being particularly realistic and interesting.

PICTURE BOOK THEATRES.

English Gazette, "The Photo-play Theatre," "The Little Red Devil," "Ambrose's Adventure," "Dr. Rabinet," and "Pills," series No. 15, will be screened at the Crystal Palace on Monday. Odd Jenson's Dog Pastime will be the feature for Adelaide. The Lyric programme on Monday is entitled Topical Budget, "Pierrefonds," Marines on Land," "The Million Dollar Mystery," and "Visiting of Prince Maurice." On Thursday "Winning the Empire," will be screened. "Common Enemies," "In Search of His Ideal," "Spencer's Eye," and "Conflict in the Northern," "War in Pictures," and "Vendetta" in search of His Ideal" are the special items of the Majestic for Tuesday to "The Rose Bud." Monday's programme for the Empress Theatre will include Warwick Cinematic, "Our Another Crime," "Pearces and Bullets," "Affair of the Burning House," and "A Book of a Hunchback." "The Million Dollar Mystery" will be shown on Thursday.

ROYAL ROLLER RINK.

The Royal Roller Rink at the Agricultural Society's Ground, Moore Park, will be opened this evening. The huge floor has been re-surfaced, and is in excellent condition, while the management has provided many new attractions for its patrons.

WEST'S PICTURES.

A special and attractive programme is to be presented at the above theatre to-day at both West's picturedrom and Olympia theatres, the star feature being entitled, "Fire and Sword," which is said to be of a highly exciting character. At the Majestic on Monday next will be presented "The Locked Door," and at the Olympia the feature attraction of "The Million Dollar Mystery." The Majestic Viceregal Orchestra are in attendance at both houses, and will supply special and appropriate music.

An Invitation to the Public

BEARD, WATSON, Ltd., desire to announce the re-opening of their Showrooms after re-building.

Ladies and Gentlemen who take an interest in beautifying their homes are invited to call and inspect our modern equipment and facilities.

The Exhibition will be open on FRIDAY NEXT, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.
AND ON
SAT. NEXT, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Afternoon Tea will be provided and a Souvenir Booklet will be given away to those interested.

During Friday and Saturday NO SALES WILL BE EFFECTED—the exhibition of the building and its contents being intended as a demonstration of the resources and capabilities of the Company, and as a justification of its claim to have brought ART and ECONOMY into complete harmony and unison in every department of the furnishing business.

Nearly the whole of the Furniture exhibited is Australian, made and designed in our own factory.

Every article is priced in plain figures.

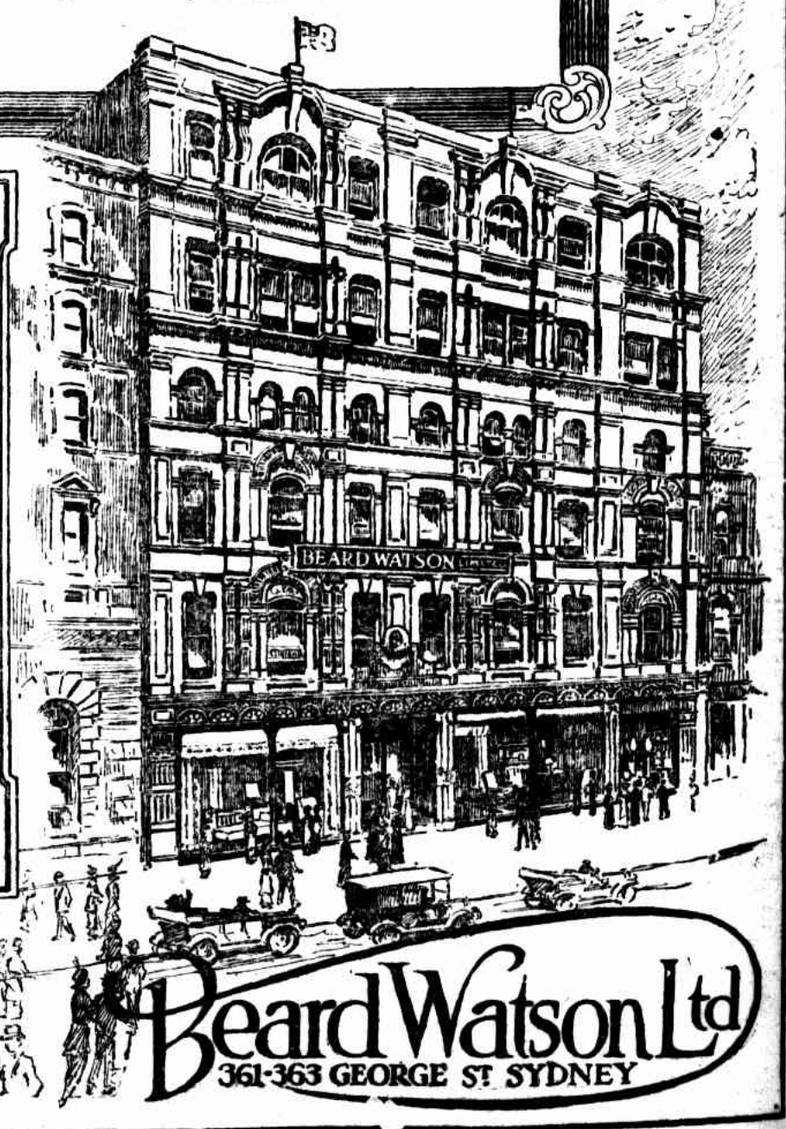

Please note the days of Exhibition will be FRIDAY NEXT, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., and SATURDAY NEXT, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

We shall be glad to see you and your friends.

Everything that will add to the aesthetic value of your home, that will give it that refined emphasis, and, at the same time, that judicious repression that betokens true taste:—

Persian Rugs and Carpets,
Hand Painted Vases,
English Cut Glass,
Irish and French Linens,
Beautiful Furniture,

all, in short, that will create a lasting atmosphere of comfort—you can obtain by a visit to our Showrooms.

ON THE LAND.

FARM AND STATION.

THE NORTH-WEST.

(BY J.S.H.)

In the history of the development of New South Wales the north-western portion of the State has only within the last few years begun to come into its own. This belated fulfilment is mainly because it lacked that greatest of natural facilities to the speedy appreciation of land, namely, that it shall lie on the direct route to somewhere else. Following the track of development the world over Australians gave priority of settlement to districts situated on the main lines of communication. To this is due the early pre-eminence of a great part of Victoria and Riverina as farming and grazing districts. It was in a large measure the enhanced land values resulting from the success of these parts that sent some of the best of the settlers in them, and their sons, exploring for new country and cheaper land values. Here came a distinct trend of inland emigration northward and westward, which has resulted in the "discovery" of a great stretch of lands of even greater possibilities than Riverina.

After crossing the mountains at Murrurundi there is a vast extent of country running right away to Wee Waa, known as the north-west slopes, while from Wee Waa to the north and west stretch the great black soil plains. For many years to come these black soil plains will mainly and necessarily be devoted to sheep and cattle, and will continue to enhance the wealth of the State as a stock and wool growing asset. But the north-west slopes give promise of a steadily increasing output in mixed farming, which within the next few years will reach magnificent proportions. With the exception of the rich Liverpool Plains and river flats, which go to make up some of the best fattening country in Australia, almost the whole of these slopes are admirably suitable for mixed farming. Around Quirindi, Werris Creek, Curlewis, Gunnedah, Boggabri, Baan Baa, Narrabri, and Wee Waa, there are enormous areas of agricultural lands, at present largely used for grazing, that equal the famous Temora and Cootamundra country. The average rainfall of the country in question, too, exceeds the rainfall of Riverina. Crops of wheat up to 40 bushels to the acre, and of oats up to 60 bushels, have been obtained in many cases; but reviewing the crop yields as an average, it is at once evident that they are nothing to what they should be, given such soil and such rainfall. A little investigation will explain this, at present, small result.

Fallowing is an absolute necessity, and you will find little—practically no—fallowed land in the north-west. You will find many broadcasters and few harrows, and you will find very few cultivation paddocks that have been grubbed. These things show that too much has been expected of the land, magnificent as it is, and that advanced and up-to-date farming methods have only in isolated instances arrived in the north-west. But the time is coming when the resources of scientific farming will be given full play, and already several prizes at the Royal Show, Sydney, have gone to the north-western wheats. Another cause of the slow development of the agricultural lands of the north-west is the excellence of its grazing properties. When land will raise fat stock for the Sydney market and top the market there (the fat bullock prize at the Sydney Show this year went to Barker Bros., near Narrabri), it takes a lot of persuasion before the landholder will embark upon the more strenuous life of the agriculturist. But of late years land which, so far, had been looked upon from the graziers' point of view only, and at that had been classed as inferior, has been cultivated and yielded 40 bushels of wheat to the acre. Further farming experiments were made, and agriculture has now become firmly established, but, it must be remembered, only within the last few years.

Conservation of the waters of the Namoi River would supply a teeming population of small farmers and millions of stock. In addition, as has been said, the rainfall is good, and, for further accommodation in the supply of water, that indispensable adjunct is to be struck almost anywhere at varying but never very great depths. The railway nowadays traverses the whole district. Added to this programme of advantages of the north-west, iron, coal, and lime abound; and, finally, in addition to fattening country, the equal of anything in Australia and its practically unplumbed depths of agricultural treasure, it is backed by the Pilliga Scrub, or, more properly called, forest, with its splendid supply of the best hardwoods on the continent. Pilliga possibilities have lately been comprehensively dealt with subsequent to a Ministerial-cum-Forestry Department inspection, and need no further comment here.

To sum up these observations upon a great district that is as yet only in the early stages of its development, there should, in the near future, be an enormously increased wheat yield from the north-west of New South Wales, and an enormously increased population should be entirely self-supporting, and, in addition, largely exporting, if only nature's gifts are freely, fearlessly, and energetically taken advantage of.

THE WOOL TRADE.

AN EXTRAORDINARY WEEK.

A critical stage was reached in the Sydney wool-selling dispute this week. When it was ascertained last week that freight space was presumably available for 45,000 bales, the associated brokers resolved to offer a limit of 30,000 bales this week, and to adhere to the ordinary terms and conditions of sale. This decision was given effect to; last week's roster was observed, fresh catalogues were prepared, the wools displayed on the show floors, and the auctioneers mounted the rostrum, in rotation, each day, at the wool sale room, at 3 p.m. Buyers attended, some prepared to operate in the usual, strenuous way, if the unexpected happened; while others were present, satisfied that no business would be transacted as far as the catalogues of the associated brokers were concerned.

On Monday the auctioneers called out each lot in the catalogues, and failed to elicit bids; but drew a query from the chairman of the Wool-buyers' Association as to the terms under which the auctions were to be held. On Tuesday each lot in the catalogues up to 14 was offered separately; after which the lots were bunched; and the buyers were asked if they would like any special lots submitted. There was no response of any kind. Buyers were as passive as if seated in a church, listening to a sermon, instead of in the room that normally resounds with their shouts and observations. On Wednesday the only change on the previous day's proceedings was the offer for a couple of lots by an occupant of one of the back seats. This was not taken seriously, and the wool was passed in. It was obvious from start to finish on the three sale days that members of the Wool-buyers' Association did not intend operating under the usual terms and conditions. On Thursday, they were equally adamant with the two catalogues submitted by the associated brokers; but gave full play to their energy in the opposition sale-room, where unusually large catalogues were submitted by the two unassociated firms.

As soon as it was apparent last week that no solution of the difficulty could be found by the two opposing associations, preparations were made by the two firms of unassociated selling brokers to prepare large catalogues, and thus fill up some of the gap made by buyers' abstaining from operating in the principal sale-room. The proportion of the two firms ordinarily, with a 30,000 bale limit for the week, would be within the region of 4000 bales; whereas on Thursday rather more than 13,000 bales were offered. There was the full force of the Buyers' Association present, and the auctions were held subject to the special conditions against buyers operating for principals in Germany or Austria, and subject to the proviso releasing buyers from payment, interest, or storage charges, in the event of non-shipment through military necessities arising out of the war.

These features of the week tended to accentuate the differences between the Wool-selling Brokers' Association and the Wool-buyers' Association. The dispute was entirely with regard to over-sea shipping, and was a federal matter for all practical purposes. There have only been three interstate selling centres with wool since the question of freight became a serious bone of contention. It was raised in Melbourne, and was not persevered with. When it was mooted in Brisbane a circular letter was sent by brokers to growers, asking individuals to reply whether they would agree to have their wools offered at the last series under the buyers' proviso. The sales were held in the northern centre, under the conditions asked for; and as the largest number of buyers attending the Brisbane sales proceed from Sydney, the special terms conceded there were demanded here. In fact it was the Sydney and Brisbane Wool-buyers' Association that made the stand.

The case by each side has been set forth tersely and clearly, the associated brokers practically wanting to confine the offerings to shipping possibilities, and sell under the ordinary terms and conditions. The buyers seek to have payment suspended, and no interest or storage charged on any purchases if the wool is shut out from shipment through the Government requisitioning ships in which freight has been booked. If this demand by buyers had been made in Victoria, and they had abstained from operating in Melbourne and Geelong during the past fortnight, the position would not be so strange; but buyers making no demur there, and standing off in Sydney under precisely the same terms and conditions, makes the case a peculiar one. Possibly it is because both sides there are equally united; and that if the buyers refused to bid at the sales of the associated brokers in Victoria they would have to whistle for wool. There may be slightly better shipping facilities there, but not sufficient to make such an absolutely different change of front—an accountable one.

That anomalous position with regard to Sydney and Melbourne has a somewhat similar counterpart in Brisbane. The Sydney-Melbourne phase is anomalous so far as the buyers are concerned, and the Sydney-Brisbane phase is with the selling brokers. There, however, is this distinction between the two, and that is that the Sydney Wool-selling Brokers' Association did not endorse the action taken by the brokers in Brisbane. Reduced to its finest point, it can be seen that because Victorian buyers did not seek or obtain concessions, that was no reason why Sydney buyers should not seek concessions in Brisbane and Sydney as set out in their proviso; or, on the other hand, because Brisbane brokers ceded the demands in the northern State, it was not incumbent on the associated brokers in Sydney to follow suit. The question of freight is a Commonwealth one, and the deadlock assumes an interstate character. Under these circumstances, it was expected that an interstate conference of selling brokers would be held to deal with the matter, and try to arrive at some settlement of the dispute.

It is stated that there was a twofold object in preparing and offering the associated catalogues in Sydney from Monday to Thursday. One was to demonstrate the actual offering of wool within the freight limit, and the other to comply with the selling regulations which provide that wools should not be sold privately until they have first been offered at auction. Such wool now becomes available for sale by private treaty. But this was not expected to be a solution of the difficulty. The quantity is not large, and what was hoped for was that yesterday's interstate conference would devise means by which the bulk of the wools in store can be catalogued before next shearing season comes round. The drought that has been so persistent over the greater part of the wool-growing areas of New South Wales will result in a much reduced clip, that will be thinly grown. There must be a material shortage in the 1915-16 clip from New South Wales, Victoria, and South Australia; with no increase in Queensland, even if it equals the cut for the statistical year closing on June 30 next.

Shipping, however, more or less controls the situation for the time being; and Melbourne is hoping to make capital out of what it contends is its more favourable position with regard to freight. This again brings the question of sales into prominence, and shows how necessary it is for the various selling centres to be on an equal footing in the matter of terms to buyers. The "Age" on Wednesday last said:—"We have already referred to the serious inadequacy of freight with which the wool trade in Australia is faced. This is felt more acutely in the northern markets, where it has forced brokers to limit their offerings to what are very modest dimensions when the large quantity of wool still awaiting sale is taken into consideration. As in all justice clips must be offered in rotation according to the date of their arrival in the seaboard stores, it stands to reason that those now arriving in crowded stores will have to wait a long time before they can be catalogued. It is easily understandable that this is not altogether satisfactory to growers, who are anxious to benefit by current high prices, and as a consequence these clips are being forwarded to Melbourne for sale, where the stores are more or less empty, and where no curtailment of offerings is necessary in the winter."

There is no difficulty here with regard to storage, and no curtailment of offerings is necessary beyond what is imperative through the war. If the wool in store had to face a bumper 1915-16 clip the case might be different, but with a considerable shortage in view, and wool continuing to be one of the necessities in this world's history crisis, there will be no banking up of the wool beyond storage capacity. A fair proportion is sure to be shipped. The Melbourne remarks, however, point to the necessity for some interstate action which will enable one centre to support the other in matters that are of Commonwealth concern. All that is wanted is for the trade to proceed on sound lines, selling within shipping limits, and enabling some of those growers who have been awaiting the sale of their wool so long to get some some returns. What has been done by the associated brokers has been deemed to be in growers' interests, and the buyers have acted believing their case to be an equitable one in quite exceptional times. All that is wanted is a settlement of the dispute.

THIS WEEK'S SALES.

The two catalogues offered on Thursday totalled 13,018 bales, and the sales at auction 7131 bales. As the offerings included a large proportion of faulty wools held over from the earlier part of the season, and as these continue to be neglected, the proportion of passed in lots was considerable. Values for all good wools were equal to the best rates ruling at the sales last week, but burry and medium lines continued irregular and difficult of sale. Greasy sold to 15d for the top lot of a line from Armidale, and to 21½d for scoured.

BRADFORD TOPS—MERINOS HIGHER.

According to our cable of yesterday's date merinos were strong, while medium and low crossbreds were neglected. The course of prices has been as follows:—

SYDNEY WOOL RECEIPTS.

There has been an increase in the receipts of wool by rail and boat during the week. The season's decrease is now reduced to very small proportions. The quantity for the week and for the season to date compares with the corresponding period last season as follows:—

BY RAIL.

Season.	May 1-7th. Bales.	July 1-May 7th. Bales.
1914-15	4,376	671,550

HORSE-BREEDING.

EXAMINATION OF STALLIONS.

ABANDONED THIS YEAR.

COMPULSORY SYSTEM PROPOSED.

In a circular letter to the various agricultural societies, the Chief Inspector of Stock, Mr. S. T. D. Symons, says:—

"Re the Government scheme for the examination and certification of stallions now in operation for the past few years, I beg to advise you that on account of the veterinary staff of this branch being very considerably reduced, many of the officers having joined the Expeditionary Forces, and it being impossible to fill the vacancies, the Honourable the Minister for Agriculture has approved that no examination of stallions at country centres be undertaken for this year.

"It might be pointed out that the present scheme is a voluntary one, and has never been considered satisfactory, in that it does not prevent rejected stallions from still being used for stud service. With a view, therefore, of placing the horse-breeding industry on a better footing, it is proposed to effect by legislation that only duly approved and licensed stallions may be allowed for the public service of mares. To this end a draft bill has been prepared, and it is hoped that it may become law during the present year.

"I might add that horse-owners holding seasonal certificates for stallions can, if they care to, forward them here, and get them extended for another year."

EGG-LAYING COMPETITIONS.

AT HAWKESBURY AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

The following are the returns from each pen of six hens in the various sections of the egg-laying competition conducted at the Hawkesbury Agricultural College up to the 4th inst. The numbers of eggs laid during the period May 1 to 4 inclusive are shown in parentheses:—

ORCHARD NOTES.

During the past week the orchards in the Parramatta district have received soaking showers, and are looking in excellent condition. Growers are busy getting away the second crop oranges. In some places it has turned out a record crop, and at first prices were excellent; but as so much of it has been rushed into the market there has been a reaction, and prices have fallen considerably. This particularly refers to the common or Parramatta orange. Still, even with the reduced values, there is in most parts such a heavy crop that a good return per tree will be realised. Growers fear to leave too much fruit on the trees at present. One reason is that the late rains have caused a strong flow of sap, which is very likely to force the matured fruit off the trees, even without the aid of a high wind. In regard to the mandarins, however, splendid prices are yet being realised, and the fruit is of splendid quality, being clean and solid. In fact, some of the growers state that their second crop of mandarins has been of much better quality than the main crop, and has paid them handsomely. The rains have benefited the summer fruit trees, which look well, and to all appearances the coming spring should see a heavy crop of stone fruit. There is a good deal of planting going on at present, both of citrus and summer fruit trees, and it is notable that many of the growers are going back to some of the later varieties of the latter. Some years ago, when the fruit fly was very prevalent, the late crop suffered so severely that many growers rooted their late bearers out, and planted early stock. Now that the fly has been got well under growers are going back to the late varieties again.

REAL ESTATE.

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

YEAR'S LARGEST FREEHOLD SALE.

The week's business was unevenly distributed, though the volume was fairly large and prices well sustained. Some agents made many substantial sales, and were able to report good inquiry for residential sites, good factory sites, and investment properties generally, while others said they were feeling what they regarded as a dull period due, in their opinion, to the change of seasons, the immediate wet weather, and the news from the Dardanelles. The fact, however, that values did not recede was regarded as being indicative of a steady market, even while the war continues. The outstanding feature was, of course, the sale of a big portion of the Cooper Bellevue Hill-Bondi Estate. This result, referred to below, was an astounding realisation to those pessimists who had thought the bottom was out of the market. The business at the weekly indoor auctions was fair to moderate, but there were good inquiries privately, which further indicated that there is no "slump."

Arthur Rickard and Co., Ltd., in conjunction with J. Frank Cox, Ltd., held a successful sale of the Cooper's Bellevue Hill-Bondi estate on the ground on Saturday last. There was a large attendance, and the bidding was spirited. Lots were sold at prices ranging from £3 to £7 10s per foot, the total sales amounting to £29,765. This represented one of the largest subdivision sales held this year. It was the largest of freehold; yet it was not equal to the first subdivision of the same estate, which took place in 1912, and constituted a record of any afternoon sale of freehold properties. On that occasional the total sales reached nearly £40,000. Saturday's sale, however, is an evidence that the market is not dead, and that people are inclined to invest in subdivision allotments as much almost as ever. On inquiry yesterday it was reported that somewhere about £11,000 worth of this property sold within two days of Saturday's sale. The firm reports unusual activity for general home-site, farming, and waterside holiday estates.

There was some spirited bidding at yesterday's sale by Richardson and Wrench, Ltd., in respect to some properties which, however, did not reach the reserves. The sales were:—A cottage at Cliff-street, Manly, £1100; a cottage at Church-street, St. Peters, £700. During the week the business transacted included the sale of two allotments of the Farleigh Estate, Ashfield, at £3 per foot; four allotments at Harbour Vista Estate, Manly, at £2/2/6; land at Phillip-street, Newtown, at £8/5/; and a brick cottage at Blackheath, at £575.

There was no bid at Thursday's sale by Messrs. Raine and Horne, for the property in Spring-street, occupied by the Perpetual Trustee Co., Ltd. In other respects, however, this weekly sale of freehold city and suburban properties was distinctly successful. Four cottages in Union-street, Newtown, realised £900. A building site at Pymble, with frontages to Orme, Alma, and Inkerman streets (over three acres), was sold for £500. A poultry farm and garden at Dee Why, in the Manly district, 11 acres 1 rood 20 perches, (fronting three Government roads (a mortgagee's sale), realised £285. For a freehold residence on Ocean and Cooper streets, Double Bay, the best offer was £2900. Subject to approval, a bid of £1100 was accepted for a residence in Walker-street, North Sydney (Public Trustee's sale), and another bid of £670 was similarly accepted for a double-fronted cottage in Allison-road, Randwick (executor's sale). For a brick cottage in View-street, Woollahra (mortgagee's sale), £510 was offered. For a weatherboard building in Alfred-street, Marrickville (Public Trustee's sale), £132 was noted for approval. An offer of 2/ per foot for 480ft, was accepted, subject to approval, for building blocks, fronting Linda and Fairfield streets, Fairfield. This was an official assignee's sale. The room was crowded, and the auctioneer, Mr. Rabett, expressed himself as being well pleased with the result of offerings.

Sales made privately during the week by Messrs. Raine and Horne include the following:—Residence, at Bellevue Hill, £4000; residence site at the same place, £15/10/ per foot; and a factory site at Alexandria of three acres, £1100 per acre. This firm reports solid business for the week.

Messrs. Hugh Duff and Co. included in their sales this week the whole of the Glossop Estate, Gordon-road, Roseville, for £1727, an allotment of the Killarney Estate, St. George's Basin, for £135, and a block of land at Longueville, for £260. Of the Killarney Estate there are only eight lots remaining from the 206 offered on April 8. It is proposed to offer, in the rooms, some choice properties at Burwood-road, Burwood, on 20th inst. It is seldom that property in this locality comes into the market.

The Jervis Bay Township Estate will come under the hammer in the rooms of Messrs. Hugh Duff and Co., on the 27th inst. There has been a big demand lately for land at Jervis Bay. Evidence of this was forthcoming at a recent sale by the same firm of another estate. The subdivision to be offered on this occasion occupies a good position, about a mile and a half from Huskisson, where Sydney steamers call.

Messrs. Stanton and Son will, on Tuesday, at the association rooms, offer the right, title, and interest of the official liquidator to some leases to bond premises in Macquarie-street. These leases have about a year and five months to run, at an annual rental of £225. The holding capacity of the premises is 1500 tons (cubic measurement). Immediate possession can be obtained.

On Tuesday last, under instructions from the Public trustee, Messrs. Medcalf and Co., of Redfern, sold by auction in the real estate auction room, Castlereagh-street, Sydney, the property, corner of Wells and William streets, Redfern, in the estate Miss Jane Alexander, the annual rental being £194 16s. The property readily found a purchaser at £2125. The same firm disposed of two allotments in Bryant-street, Rockdale, at £3 17s 6d and £3 15s per foot respectively.

The shire clerk, Kuring-gai, forwards a statement of building applications approved by his council during the period from January 1 to April 30, inclusive, and the corresponding periods in 1914 and 1913. New buildings:—1913, 89; 1914, 101; 1915, 94. Alterations and additions: 1913, 62; 1914, 71; 1915, 40. It will be noted that there is only a slight decrease this year in the number of new buildings, and even at that the number for 1913 has been exceeded. Alterations and additions to existing buildings have fallen off, but no significance is attached to them.

Mr. C. H. Crammond reports having sold during the week the following:—Cottage residence and land, 50 x 120, North-street, Stanmore, £700; house at Nowrainie-street, Summer Hill, £565; two blocks of land at Strathfield West, £285; subdivision block of land at Bankstown, £1320; and a pair of leasehold cottages at Neutral Bay, £360. At Strathfield on the 18th instant, Mr. Crammond will offer land forming portion of Dalmeny, the residence of the late Mr. Jas. Inglis, and more recently occupied by the late Mr. John Wheeler. There are plants on this (Boulevarde) property that are quite exquisite. Purchasers will, therefore, have gardens already made for them.

SUBDIVISION WORK.

The only sale for this afternoon will be conducted by Messrs. Richardson and Wrench, at Belmore, an important centre on the Bankstown railway line. The subdivision is in the Mooney Estate, and the land comprises business sites and cottage blocks, right alongside the railway station, and with frontages to main roads. Belmore is a suburb that has made rapid strides during the last few years.

There are several subdivision sales announced for the remainder of this month. Next Saturday Messrs. Hardie and Gorman will offer Pearce's Duggan Farms Estate, between Blacktown and Seven Hills. This is a district famous for orchards and early market products. The subdivision, the first to be offered of this estate, comprises 45 acres of from five to eight acres each. On some of the blocks there is citrus fruit in bearing, and a cottage ready for occupation is also on the estate. The land is distant about two miles from Blacktown, but Quaker's Hill station is right at the estate.

Another sale for next Saturday that should prove attractive is to be held at Bexley, where Messrs. Piercy Ethell and Co. will offer the Alphington Hill Estate—a subdivision which fronts the Arncliffe-Bexley tramline and the local park. This land has evidently been locked up for some time, and, judging by the inquiries, the sale ought to be a successful one.

Messrs. Guest and Fox announce a big subdivision sale of choice orchard and building lots at Kurrajong on the 22nd inst. This estate is the well-known orchard property of Major Phillip Charley, and is situated on the main road about four miles from Richmond. It is highly improved land. Several lots are planted with citrus trees in full bearing. There is a good house, stabling, etc., and a large dam, holding several million gallons of water, with irrigation plant. The estate, comprising 217 acres, has been subdivided into 24 lots, ranging from 3½ to 14 acres each. This should prove an exceptional chance for anyone requiring a small orchard or site for a country home.

The Bellinger River district, which has a reputation for fertility, is before the public in connection with a sale of the famous Raleigh estate on the river), which is to take place at the School of Arts, Bellingen, on 22nd inst. Mr. F. R. H. Baker, auctioneer, is offering, on account of Mr. F. T. Matthews, 172 level building sites, near the Raleigh railway station, and five alluvial farms on the river bank, all under grass and cultivation. The rainfall at the Bellinger averages 60 inches.

Messrs. Richardson and Wrench have a sale on 22nd inst., at Punchbowl, on the Bankstown line. This subdivision is close to the Punchbowl railway station. The sites (42) are elevated, and command fine views.

SALES OF THE WEEK.

Richardson and Wrench, Ltd., report having sold by auction and private sale during the week the following properties.—Eighteen allotments of Wandoo Hill Estate, Ryde, at prices ranging from £3 to £2/12/6 per foot (£2442). Weatherboard cottage, fronting Cliff-street, Manly, in conjunction with Innes and Shearman, for £1400. Freehold property, Crown-street, Woolloomooloo, for £600. Cottage and land, Church-street, St. Peters, £700. Two allotments, Farleigh-street, Ashfield, in conjunction with G. Weatherill, for the sum of £240. Four allotments, Harbour Vista Estate, Manly, in conjunction with Burns and Co., for the sum of £420/15/. Allotment of land fronting Phillip-street, Newtown, for £165. Cottage and land, Wentworth-street, Blackheath, in conjunction with W. A. Pettit, for the sum of £575. Allotment of land, third subdivision, Darvall Estate, Ryde, at 27/6 per foot.

Mr. C. Monro, Cronulla, reports having sold during the past two weeks the following properties at Cronulla and Miranda, exclusive of those under £100:—Lots 88, 89, 90, 91, 94, 95, 120a, 14, 15, 16, 17 Yatheng Heights Estate, £730/10/. Six acres leasehold, Boulevard, £120. Weatherboard cottage and eight acres, leasehold, Sylvania-road, £600. Wine bar and four acres, King's Way, £810. Cottage and one acre, Port Hacking-road, £380. FOOD PRICES.

From information received from official sources particulars have been compiled by the Commonwealth Statistician (Mr. G. H. Knibbs) comparing the increase in food prices and in unemployment in various European countries and Australia since the outbreak of war up to the end of January last. From these comparisons it appears that generally speaking the increase in prices has been much less in Australia than in Europe. In the larger towns of England the increase in price of food stuffs at the end of January, 1915, since July, 1914, was 23 per cent. compared with an increase of 31 per cent. in Germany and of 6½ per cent. in Australia during the same period.

The results of the investigations made by Mr. Knibbs as to variations in prices of food and groceries (46 commodities) have been made available for the month of March, 1915. The aggregate result for the 30 towns covered by the investigations shows that prices were 9 per cent. higher in March of this year than in July last.

HOSPITALS AND CHARITIES.

At first sight the new volume of "Burdett's Hospitals and Charities, 1915," bewilders one with the sheer number of the institutions whose names and descriptions it contains. It is no wonder, embracing as it does charitable institutions in almost every part of the English-speaking world, including British India and the United States. Yet in some ways the 1915 edition is less complete than that of the previous year, which, being a jubilee edition, comprised a wealth of historical and other information, which has now been omitted in order to find space for a new chapter containing a forecast of many possible changes in connection with the relief and treatment of the sick in voluntary hospitals throughout Great Britain. The volume, of which we are in receipt of a copy, likewise contains the latest figures from the audited statements of accounts of some 6000 separate institutions for the year ended December 31, 1913. Of the value of so compendious a work of reference nothing need be said.

"BONNINGTON'S IRISH MOSS." The best remedy for COUGHS and COLDS. Strengthens the voice, eases the throat, builds up the lungs. Avoid all imitations.—Advt.

Inserted by her broken-hearted mother, Elizabeth M'Intosh, Manly.

ADAMS.—In sad and loving memory of my dear sister, Ciss Adams (nee M'Intosh), who departed this life May 9, 1912, aged 28 years.
Her cross was hard, she bore it well,
But what she suffered none can tell.
Inserted by her loving sister, Pops.

ADAMS (nee McIntosh).—In fond and loving memory of my dearly loved sister, Ciss, who died May 9, 1912, aged 28 years. Inserted by her brother, Jack.

ATHERTON.—In sad but ever-loving memory of my dear husband and our dear father, Charles Pembroke Atherton, who died May 9, 1914.
Friends may think we have forgotten,
When at times they see us smile;
But they little know the sad and aching heart
That smile hides all the while.
Dear Dad, they miss you most who loved you best.

BRYANT.—In loving memory of our dear son and brother, George Leslie, who departed this life May 8, 1910, in his 21st year.
Your weary hours and days of pain,
Your troubled nights have past;
The ever-patient, worn-out frame
Has found sweet rest at last.
Inserted by his loving mother and brothers.

CLEARY.—In loving memory of our dear son, Wally, who departed this life May 6, 1914, aged 1 year 4 days.
We did not know the pain he bore,
We did not see him die;
But only know he passed away,
And could not say good-bye.
Inserted by his loving father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Cleary.

CORISH.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Gwendoline Corish, who departed this life May 8, 1913.
Though lost to sight, to memory ever dear.
Inserted by her loving children.

CORISH.—In loving memory of our dear mother and grandma, Gwendoline, who departed this life on May 8, 1913.
Not lost, but gone before.
Inserted by her son and daughter-in-law, Harrie and Edie, and family.

CURRAN.—In affectionate remembrance of my dear husband and our loving father, Ernest Augustus, who fell asleep May 8, 1911, aged 78.
We who loved you sadly miss you,
Though we know that God knows best;
When He eased your pain and suffering
And He laid you down to rest.
Inserted by his loving wife, daughter, and son-in-law, Rebecca and Raymond Windred, and grandchildren.

CURRAN.—In loving memory of our dear father, Ernest Augustus, who passed away May 8, 1911.
He bore his pain, he bore it well,
And what he suffered none can tell.
Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
Life's weary pains suffered and past.
Inserted by his loving daughter and son-in-law, John and Amelia Wilson, and grandson, Tonygym.

CURRAN.—In loving remembrance of our dear father and grandfather, who died May 8, 1911. Inserted by his loving son and daughter, Mark and Ettie, grandchildren Lavinia, Rebecca, Alice, Ruby, and Slade.

DOLTON.—In loving memory of my dear husband, Frederick A. Dolton, who died May 9, 1911, in his 60th year.
Though dark my path, and sad my lot,
Let me be still and murmur not,
Or breathe the prayer Divinely taught,
Thy will be done.
Inserted by his loving wife, Margaret Dolton.

DOLTON.—In loving memory of our dear father, Frederick A. Dolton, who died May 9, 1911, in his 60th year.
You are always in our thoughts,
It is sweet to breathe your name;
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.
Inserted by his loving daughter and son, Min. and Bruce.

DOLTON.—In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, Frederick A. Dolton, who died May 9, 1911, in his 60th year.
Thou hast passed o'er death's dark river,
And we pray that whate'er betide,
We may some day dwell in the glory
That shines on the other side.
Inserted by his loving daughter, Emily Douglas, and grandchildren, Elsie, Florrie, Mary, and Tom.

DOLTON.—In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, Frederick A. Dolton, who died May 9, 1911, in his 60th year.
After years of life together,
We are parted now by death.
But we hope some day to meet you
In heaven, dear father,
Where all find rest.
Inserted by his loving daughter and son-in-law, Vic and Frank Locus, and grandchildren, Fred and Stan.

EVANS.—In loving memory of our dear brother (Ted), who died May 9, 1914. Inserted by his sister and brother-in-law, Mrs. and Mr. G. Murphy.

GIVINS.—In loving memory of our dearly-loved brother, Charles Colwell Givins, who departed this life May 9, 1894. Deeply regretted.
One that was so dear to us
Now is numbered with the blest.
Inserted by his loving brothers and sisters, of 81 Australia-street, Newtown.

HAYES.—In memory of my beloved wife, Nora Mary, who died at Tyee, Garner's-avenue, Marrickville, May 9, 1914, aged 25 years.
Just when life's day was sweetest,
White flowers were placed on her breast;
Just when her hopes were brightest
She was laid forever to rest.
Inserted by her loving husband, Patrick J. Hayes, and baby Mollie.

HAYES.—In loving memory of our darling daughter, Nora Mary, who died at her residence, Tyee, Garner's-avenue, Marrickville, May 9, 1914, aged 25 years.
A sudden call, at God's command she fell.
She had no time to bid her parents dear farewell;
Our loss is great, we'll not complain,
But trust to meet in Heaven again.
You are not forgotten, Nora dear,
Nor will you ever be;
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.
Inserted by her sorrowing parents, John W. and Mary Young, Erskineville.

HAYES.—In loving memory of our dear sister, Nora, who departed this life May 9, 1914.
The end came sudden, Nora, dear,
It made us weep and sigh,
And, oh, it is so hard to think
You could not say good-bye.
Inserted by her loving brother and sister-in-law, Will and Maude Young.

HAYES.—In loving memory of our dear sister, Nora Mary Hayes, who died May 9, 1914, aged 25 years.
May she rest in peace.
When alone in my sorrow, and bitter tears flow,
There stealeth a dream of dear days long ago,
And, unknown to this world, Nora stands by my side,
And whisper, Dear sister, death does not divide.
Inserted by her loving sister and brother-in-law, Annie V. and J. Higgins.

HAYES.—In loving remembrance of our dear sister, Nora Mary, who departed this life May 9, 1914, aged 25 years.
You are ever in our thoughts, dear Nora,
'Tis sweet to breathe your name;
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.
Inserted by her loving sisters, Sadie and Vera Young.

HAYES.—In loving remembrance of my darling sister, Nora Mary, who departed this life May 9, 1914, aged 25 years.
She has crossed death's gloomy valley,
Laid life's griefs and sorrows down,
That she, with her loving Saviour,
May bear no cross, but wear a crown.
Inserted by her loving brother, Jack Young, and niece and nephew, Ninna and Jack.

HAYES.—In loving memory of my dear sister, Nora, who departed this life May 9, 1914.
Some day when shadows deepen,
And a call comes down the line;
May your face be there to welcome
At the gate, sweet sister mine.
Inserted by her loving brother, Walter Young.

HAYES.—In loving remembrance of my dear friend, Nora, who departed this life May 9, 1914.
What though in lonely grief I sigh
For my friend beloved no longer nigh,
Submissive will I still reply,
Thy will be done.
Inserted by her loving friend, R. Christie.

LARRATT.—In sad but loving memory of my dearest friend, Herbert Webster Larratt, who was accidentally killed in England May 8, 1914, aged 24 years, 5 months.
Not one he loved was by his side
To hear his last faint sigh,
Or whisper just one loving word,
Before he closed his eyes.
He bade no one his last good-bye,
He waved his hand to none;
His spirit fled before we knew
That from us he had gone.
Inserted by his loving friend, Maggie.

PENSON.—In sad but loving memory of our dearly loved mother, Bertha Penson, who departed this life May 8, 1913.
In the calm of the evening God's messenger came,
And slowly relieved our dear mother of pain;
A mother more gentle no one ever knew,
Our tears fall afresh in remembrance of you.
Inserted by her loving son and daughter-in-law, Will and Daisy, Christchurch, New Zealand.

PENSON.—In sad but loving memory of my dear sister, Bertha, who departed this life, May 8, 1913.
No one knows the pain she suffered,
Only those who watched her side;
Yet no resistance did she offer
When going beyond the tide.
Inserted by her loving sister, Beckie, and Thomas Furse, and niece, Mabel Rogan.

PITT.—In loving memory of my dear wife and fond mother, Rebecca Pitt, who departed this life at Randwick, May 9, 1913.
Friends may think you are forgotten,
When they see us smile.
But they little know the aching hearts
That smiles hide all the while.
Inserted by her loving husband and family.

SPECIAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

MONEY-SAVING COUGH MIXTURE.

SPLENDID HOME-MADE REMEDY.

COSTS 2/; MAKES ONE PINT; SAVES YOU 10/.

The cheapest and most effective remedy for coughs, colds, throat, and chest complaints, is made in your own home. It is no trouble to make, and every pint means an actual saving of at least 10/ for yourself.

The reason is quite simple. All cough mixtures contain a small proportion of concentrated medicinal ingredients and a large percentage of water and sweetening. If you buy the medicinal ingredients only, adding the water and sweetening yourself, you save all the money you would otherwise pay for water, bottles, corks, wrappers, and mixing.

Buy a bottle of HEAN'S ESSENCE from your chemist or store, take home and dilute as directed on label. Pour into a large bottle on which paste the label you will find in Hean's Essence packet.

The first sip of this mixture gives immediate relief. It clears the nasal passages instantly; loosens the phlegm; eases the throat and bronchial tubes in a way that will surprise you. Sip each dose slowly, so as to lubricate the throat thoroughly. If your cold is very bad, take a few doses at intervals of half an hour. For sore or inflamed throat use Hean's Essence Mixture as a gargle. Prompt relief is certain.

HEAN'S ESSENCE CONTAINS NO POISON OR HARMFUL DRUGS, such as paregoric, opium, laudanum, etc. That is why it is so thoroughly safe for all members of your family. Even your wee baby benefits by having a few drops in case of a cold. When used promptly, it will prevent whooping cough or croup. There is nothing else that will ease them so quickly.

Hean's Essence is sold by most chemists and stores, or post free on receipt of price 2/, from G. W. Hean, Chemist, 178 Castlereagh-street, Sydney. Note how the name is spelt H-E-A-N. Look for the signature on every packet, and accept HEAN'S ESSENCE only, as no other will do.

A GREAT CURE FOR COLDS

"NAZETHA." "NAZETHA." "NAZETHA." Remarkable for its simplicity and effectiveness. A couple of drops on a handkerchief snuffed up the nose gets to the seat of the trouble. ASK YOUR CHEMIST. 1/6 A BOTTLE. "NAZETHA." "NAZETHA." "NAZETHA."

THE GLORY OF IT.

After nine months of war, the tragic reality of it all has suddenly come home to us. Month in and month out great armies have faced each other, striving mightily in the shock of war, and we have never been able adequately to appreciate the immensity of the thing, the tremendous issues that hang in the balance. For the moment some gallant feat of arms on land, or some striking naval action, touched our imagination, but the full realisation was slow in coming. It all seemed so far away. Distance blurred the picture; there was a mist before our eyes. And now, suddenly, the fog of war has lifted for us. On the day the news came that Australian soldiers were in action at the Dardanelles, and the first list of our killed and wounded arrived, we were a changed people. The fact that Australia was at war was at last driven home. It came hard on the heels of that glorious battle of "Hill 60," which has been called Canada's battle; and to-day Canada, Australia, and New Zealand are in mourning—as the motherland has been in mourning for the past nine months. From this out, until the end, our sons and England's will be fighting without ceasing—doing and dying—in the same great cause. So it is that the temper of the people has changed. What the recruiting and equipping of our volunteers, and even the marching of our soldiers through the streets, could not do, what the battle stories from France and Belgium could not do, the story of the gallantry of our soldiers at the Dardanelles has done; and even while we mourn the loss of our men who have gone, we cannot but rejoice that they showed the same brave spirit, the same devotion to duty, as the Canadians. And what do we find? One of the old football comrades of Private Doodson, of Pyrmont, who is one of those who have died gloriously, said:—"It's a bad job, but I am going to take his place, and I know others are going to do the same. That's the way we feel over the matter." And that is the way many others feel—a fact that is attested by the increasing numbers who are giving in their names to the recruiting sergeant. It is the way we ought to feel. As fast as one goes down there must be another to take his place. Within the last day or two the Prime Minister has stated, in appealing for more recruits, that no limit has been placed on the number to be sent to the front. And in New Zealand we have Mr. Massey's appeal to those who are physically fit and have not yet enlisted:—"The country calls, the King needs your services; register now, so that you may be ready when wanted." The call is an urgent one, and it will not be made in vain, for there never yet was a time in the history of our island race when a Briton fell and there was not another Briton waiting to take his place. Danger does not deter; death does not dismay.

And there never was a more righteous war. It was the righteousness of this war that led the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in New South Wales to pass a resolution expressing its confidence in the wisdom and patriotism of those who are now guiding the destinies of the British Empire, and praying that the nations who have been called to make such terrible sacrifices for the maintenance of a Christian civilisation in the world may stand firm until the menace of German domination has been broken. If ever there was a Holy War, said the Rev. Principal Harper, who moved the resolution, this one was. If ever England's hands were clean, they were clean now. It was just such an answer as this that the Oxford Churchmen made to the document signed by a group of German theologians, among them Professor Eucken and Professor Harnack, and addressed "To the Evangelical Christians abroad." Strange, indeed, does it seem to us that the war should be attributed to those "who had long, secretly, and cunningly been spinning a web of conspiracy against Germany, whose efforts were always for peace;" but whilst we can believe in the sincerity and good faith of these eminent German teachers and ministers of religion, we know that the only account of the origin of the war that they had was that which was supplied by the German Government. Their pamphlet, which was widely circulated, especially in America, was written in August; they had not read the diplomatic correspondence published in the British White Book. That White Book, indeed, was expressly prohibited from entering Germany. If Germany ever exerted efforts for peace during the last forty-three years, as was claimed for her, then she did so with her tongue in her cheek. The Franco-Prussian war but served to whet her appetite. Treitschke, from his professor's chair, and Bernhardi, in more recent days, have ministered to that appetite; and a nation, like an individual, grows by what it feeds on. The sword has for ever been rattling in the scabbard; William II. has spent his time urging his soldiers to keep their weapons bright and their armour shining. It was Germany who set the pace in a gigantic competition in armaments. When Mr. Winston Churchill made his proposal for a naval holiday, Germany would have none of it. Lord Haldane, always a friend of the German people and a lover of German literature, went on a special mission to Berlin a few years ago in the hope of arranging an Anglo-German understanding. The mission failed. Germany went on consolidating her power. Not content with the power of her army, she aimed at wresting the trident from Great Britain. She had her destiny to fulfil—and that destiny was world-domination. What a world it would be! We have seen how Germany makes war, and it is for us to see that she makes no more such wars. It is for this that our sons go forth. The Turk of the West and the Turk of the East must both be trodden down, else there will be no more peace in the world. It is, indeed, a war of righteousness; and if in one sense it brings grief and pain, in another sense it must bring great joy—a joy shared in by the whole Christian world. Those of our young people who died in this war, said the Rev. Dr. Harper, lived more nobly than those who had gone to grey hairs. And that is the glory of it. In one thing at least we can subscribe to the wish of the German theologians—the hope that through God there shall arise from the responsibility of the hour a stream of new life for the Christian peoples.

THE ENGLISH POET.

This time of crisis will be for hundreds of men and women throughout the British Empire a test of beliefs which they have thought themselves to hold for a lifetime as permanent articles of faith. Confronted with personal and national loss, they will ask themselves of what value and what validity are the maxims which in times of security they have accepted as guiding rules of conduct, or as answers to questions of secular duty. In doing so they will realise the difference between truths accepted on the authority of tradition or because they are appreciated with the intellect and those others which experience and suffering have made part of each individual character. Schiller had this difference in his mind when he declared that the wisdom of others is worth nothing to any man unless he can conquer it and possess it for himself. In the first moments of personal grief the truths accepted by a great nation are worth no more than those stereotyped forms of consolation which Tennyson enumerated and rebuked. Of what avail, men are tempted to ask themselves, is the progress of our race and the continuance of its ideals when the best beloved of our manhood is no longer alive to participate in them? What is gained by fighting for liberty and for justice when the struggle has deprived us of lives which embody the most precious qualities of our race? Are the imponderable things, the traditions, the ideals of Englishmen, worth anything in comparison with the lives lost in defending them, the lives without which neither qualities nor ideals can find their place in the world? It is because such questions are certain to be asked and to be answered during the next few months that there is any truth in the promise of a national purification to come to a people engaged in this war. The statement so often repeated that a new country like Australia can have no real national life until it has passed through a great war means nothing unless it means that in the face of trials and sufferings the people shall realise the imperative obligation of maxims they have previously treated as negligible. If it is so interpreted it is supported by the events of this last week. We shall not ask ourselves whether any gain could compensate us for the lives of the fallen. No rate or usance of earthly exchequer has yet been invented by which we can measure the value of any human life. But we shall know ourselves better, we shall know the force of our impulses, and we shall know where to look for the genuine source of consolation.

One of the maxims which will be tested most severely during these months is that which bids us remember that to sustain and to console is the function of great literature. Liberty is the chief gift of England to the world, and after liberty literature; these are the tests by which the greatness of that country would be proved in any comparison with other nations before the courts of civilisation. In English literature, if anywhere, we shall find the thoughts which will console the grief and sustain the resolution of the whole British people in such a crisis as this. It may be said that nothing could be found by turning to such a source, since no war has ever impressed its terrors on a people or afflicted them so greatly as this. The Napoleonic wars, though they threatened to destroy the power of England, left the general life of the country almost untouched. Yet it is in the long struggle against Napoleon that we find the closest parallel to our present case and the wisest counsel for doubts or fears. The dangers and the ultimate triumph of England, though they were unheeded by many minds, both great and small, profoundly impressed the most English of all the poets. In Wordsworth's verse there is a reflection of all the alternating moods of disappointment, of resolution, of pride in and love of country which have been known by British subjects all over the world since the war began. To Wordsworth the outbreak of war was a tragedy as the outbreak of this war has been to many of those Englishmen who have served their country best. There were many occasions between the beginning of last century and the final victory when the danger of defeat was greater than it has ever been or can ever be to-day. England for a time stood alone against the world, whereas now she is the ally of two great Powers and the hope of civilisation. But though the parallel is not exact, the circumstances are so nearly alike and there is so large a universal element in the poet's work that the thoughts expressed in it are no less relevant to the war against Germany than they were to the England of his own day. In his noble series of sonnets, Wordsworth reflects all the doubts and the hopes which can pass through the mind of an Englishman as he thinks of the history of his country and of the dangers now before it. The lesson of Wordsworth, however, is not to be gathered from a reading of detached sonnets or from an attempt to match any single one with a contemporary event. Wordsworth by his whole tone has shown Englishmen how they should face their enemies, and what it is they have to defend. These sonnets have lived and will live because they are concerned only with great ideas and are free from appeals to small passions. There is no abuse of the enemy. There is nothing but an insistence on the greatness of the traditions of Englishmen and an exhortation never to despair. The phrase "the healing power" of Wordsworth was used of the nature poems rather than of these. But times such as ours have shown us that there is no less healing power in these appeals to Englishmen to remember the true greatness of their country and the greatness which it confers on themselves. We find no such power in Shakespeare, nor even in that "God-gifted organ voice of England" which Wordsworth so revered. The doubts and fears of Wordsworth bring him nearer to the average man than supreme greatness has ever reached. He has the faculty of returning on himself, which is denied to omniscience and yet is the one convincing proof of sincerity. The message of the sonnets at least is not for those only who know the English country, but for every one of us who speaks "the tongue that Shakespeare spoke, the faith and morals hold that Milton held." His appeals touch the heart of everyone who inherits the traditions which Englishmen have handed on to their descendants all over the world. He bids them believe in their country whatever may come, because it is built on a foundation of justice. He bids them in the face of personal grief to remember that the stream of a great tradition must flow on, bearing with it and enriched by the bravest and the noblest of individual lives.

For backward, Duddon, as I cast my eyes
I see what was, and is, and will abide;
Still glides the stream, and shall for ever glide,
The form remains, the function never dies.
Enough, if something from our hands have power
To live, and act, and serve the future hour;
And if as toward the silent tomb we go
Through love, through hope, and faith's transcendent dower,
We feel that we are greater than we know.

PERSONAL.

VICE-REGAL.

His Excellency the Governor, attended by Captain Pasco, R.N., A.D.C., was present at the service in memoriam of the late Colonel MacLaurin, held at St. Stephen's Church, Phillip-street, yesterday morning.

Lady Edeline Strickland entertained the wives and friends of the visiting delegates to the Premiers' Conference at Cranbrook yesterday afternoon.

Sir Samuel Griffith (Chief Justice), Mr. Justice Isaacs, Mr. Justice Duffy, Mr. Justice Powers, and Mr. Justice Rich, left Sydney for Melbourne yesterday. The Victorian sittings of the High Court begin next week.

Mr. B. R. Wise, K.C., the newly-appointed Agent-General, has booked, through Messrs. Burns, Philp, and Co., Ltd., passages for himself, wife, and son by the R.M.S. Niagara, which leaves Sydney for Vancouver on Thursday next.

So that a few visiting Adelaide residents and Sydney public men might meet to welcome Sir Douglas Mawson back to Australia Mr. Ryan, M.L.A., of South Australia, gave a dinner last Wednesday night at Hotel Australia. Among those present were Mr. Crawford Vaughn, Premier of South Australia, Mr. H. Jackson, Minister for Public Works, South Australia, Sir Langdon Bonython and Mr. Angus Parsons, of Adelaide, Mr. A. C. Carmichael, M.L.A., Mr. Sullivan, Attorney-General of Queensland, Mr. H. D. M'Intosh, Mr. Frank Emslie, M.L.A., leader of the Labour party in Victoria, Mr. Hugh Ward, and Mr. M'Kay.

Yesterday the Full Court admitted to the Bar of New South Wales Mr. Cecil Rodwell Lucas, B.A., LL.B., of the Sydney University, and who is at present associate to Mr. Justice Ferguson. Counsel stated that he moved, notwithstanding that applicant had not been a student at law for two years, on the ground that Mr. Lucas had volunteered for service with the Australian Imperial troops. Mr. Justice Pring said that in exceptional circumstances the Court had power to grant the order asked for, and it thought the present was a case in which it was certainly justified in acting under the new rule.

Sir Langdon Bonython, who has been on a visit to Sydney, left last evening on his return to Adelaide.

Mr. W. Williamson, president of the Master Builders' Association, who is leaving for England next Thursday, and Mr. A. S. Loveridge, treasurer of the association, who is leaving for America to-day, were yesterday entertained by the members of the association at luncheon at Farmer's rooms.

The Rev. A. B. Tress has accepted the positions of vicar of Alstonville and archdeacon of the Richmond and Tweed diocese of Grafton.

Mr. Elwood Mead, accompanied by Mrs. Mead, left Melbourne yesterday for Sydney, en route for America.

At a meeting of the teachers of the Enmore S.P. School assembled on Wednesday under the presidency of the principal, Mr. H. Buckland, Miss A. Macdonnell, who has been promoted to the charge of the Newtown S.P. School, received several presentations.

Mr. G. S. Beeby has resigned the chairmanship of the various Industrial Boards to which he was appointed last year.

ENEMY TRADE.

MELBOURNE MAN FINED.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

In the City Court to-day Alfred Adams, trading as Alfred Adams and Co., was fined £25, with five guineas costs, for attempting to trade with the enemy on August 12, 1914.

Adams sent an order for 100,000 steel washers to Kronheimer and Co., Germany, under cover of a letter to Williams, Adams, and Co., London, requesting that firm to forward the letter to Germany, and any further letters they might send.

Defendant explained that he acted in complete ignorance of the law, and directed, as soon as he was aware of the enemy trading proclamations, that no further German goods be procured, but, rather, British goods.

The Police Magistrate said the case was not nearly so grave as other cases heard by him. Defendant had merely acted unwisely.

AUSTRALASIANS

GLORIOUS ENTRY INTO WAR.

HISTORIC CHARGE.

BRILLIANT FEAT AT GABA TEPE.

The story of how the Australasian troops landed at Gaba Tepe, and made good their footing, in the face of the Turkish fire and subsequent counter-attacks, is vividly told by Mr. Ashmead Bartlett.

The work of the covering force was splendidly carried out, and Mr. Bartlett says there has been no finer feat of arms in this war than that of the Colonial troops.

Operations, according to an official statement, are now being pressed on under highly satisfactory conditions, though the enemy is offering stubborn resistance.

The eighth casualty list issued by the Defence Department last night contained the name of one additional officer, who had died from wounds.

The list mainly consisted of the names of a large number of wounded non-commissioned officers and men from all the States except Tasmania.

The total number of killed announced to date is 142.

MR. ASHMEAD BARTLETT'S STORY.

LONDON, May 7.

Mr. Ashmead Bartlett, one of the correspondents permitted to accompany the fleet to the Dardanelles, was aboard a warship with five hundred Australians, who formed the covering party for the landing at Gaba Tepe.

Mr. Bartlett says: It required splendid skill, organisation, and leadership to get the huge Armada under weigh from Mudros Bay without accidents. The warships and transports were divided into five divisions. Never before has an attempt been made to land so large a force in the face of a well prepared enemy.

At 2 o'clock on April 24 the flagship of the division conveying the Australasians passed down the long line of slowly-moving transports, amid tremendous cheering, being played out of the bay by the French warships. At 4 o'clock the ship's company and troops assembled to hear the Admiral's proclamation to the combined forces. This was followed by the last Service Before Battle, in which the chaplain uttered a prayer for victory, and called a divine blessing on the expedition, all standing with uncovered and bowed heads.

RESTING FOR THE ORDEAL.

At dusk all lights were put out, and the troops rested for the ordeal at dawn. It was a beautiful, calm night, with a bright half moon. By 1 o'clock in the morning the ships reached the rendezvous five miles from the landing place, and the soldiers were aroused and served with their last hot meal.

The Australians who were about to go into action for the first time under trying circumstances were cheerful, quiet, and confident, showing no sign of nerves or excitement. As the moon waned the boats were swung out, the Australians received their last instructions, and men who six months ago were living peaceful civilian lives began to disembark on a strange, unknown shore in a strange land to attack an enemy of different race.

Each boat was in charge of a midshipman, others were loaded with great rapidity, in absolute silence, and without a hitch. The covering force was towed ashore by ships' pinnaces. More of the Australians' brigade were carried aboard the destroyers, which were to go close inshore as soon as the covering force landed.

TENSE MOMENTS.

At 3 it was quite dark, and a start was made shorewards, amid suppressed excitement. Would the enemy be surprised or on the alert?

At 4 o'clock three battleships, line abreast, and four cables apart, arrived 2000 yards from the shore, with their guns manned and searchlights made ready. Very slowly the boats in tow like twelve great snakes, moved inshore. Each edged towards each other in order to reach the beach four cables apart. The battleships moved slowly in after them, until the water shallowed.

Every eye was fixed on the grim line of hills in front, menacing in the gloom, the mysteries of which those in the boats were about to solve. Not a sound was heard nor a light seen, and it appeared as if the enemy was surprised. In our navy state the stars often were mistaken for lights ashore.

THE ALARM.

The progress of the boats was slow, and dawn rapidly was breaking. At 4.30 the enemy showed an alarm light which flashed for ten minutes and disappeared. The boats appeared almost on the beach, and seven destroyers glided noiselessly inshore.

At 4.30 came a sharp burst of rifle fire from the beach. The sound relieved the prolonged suspense, which had become almost intolerable. The fire lasted a few minutes, and then a faint British cheer came over the waters, telling that the first position had been won. At 5.3 the fire was intensified, and by the sound we could tell our men were firing. The firing lasted twenty five minutes and then died down somewhat.

The boats returned, and a pinnace came alongside with two recumbent figures on deck and a small midshipman cheerfully waving his hand, with a shot through his stomach. Three wounded in the first burst of musketry.

A TERRIBLE FUSILLADE.

The boats had almost reached the beach when a party of Turks entrenched ashore opened a terrible fusillade with rifles and a Maxim. Fortunately most of the bullets went high. The Australians rose to the occasion. They did not wait for orders or for the boats to reach the beach, but sprang into the sea, formed a sort of rough line, and rushed the enemy's trenches. Their magazines were uncharged, so they just went in with cold steel.

It was over in a minute. The Turks in the first trench either were bayoneted or ran away, and the Maxim was captured.

Then the Australians found themselves facing an almost perpendicular cliff of loose sandstones, covered with thick shrubbery. Somewhere about half way up the enemy had a second trench, strongly held, from which poured a terrible fire on the troops below and the boats pulling back to the destroyers for a second landing party.

A TOUGH PROPOSITION.

Here was a tough proposition to tackle in the darkness, but those colonials were practical above all else and went about it in a practical way. They stopped a few minutes to pull themselves together, get rid of their packs, and charge their rifle magazines. Then this race of athletes proceeded to scale the cliff without responding to the enemy's fire. They lost some men, but didn't worry, and in less than a quarter of an hour the Turks were out of their second position, and either bayoneted or fleeing.

As daylight came it was seen that the landing had been effected rather further north of Gaba Tepe than originally was intended, at a point where the cliffs rise very sheer. The error was a blessing in disguise, because there was no glacis down which the enemy could fire, and the broken ground afforded good cover for troops once they had passed the forty yards of flat beach.

The country in the vicinity of the landing is formidable and forbidding. To the sea it presents a steep front, broken into innumerable ridges, bluffs, valleys, and sandpits. Rising to a height of several hundred feet the surface is bare, crumbly standstone, with thick shrubbery about six feet in height, which is ideal for snipers, as the Australasians soon found to their cost. On the other hand, the Australasians proved themselves adepts at this kind of warfare.

CASUALTIES IN BOATS.

In the early part of the day heavy casualties were suffered in the boats conveying troops from the destroyers, tugs, and transports. The enemy's sharpshooters, hidden everywhere, concentrated their fire on the boats. When close in, at least three boats broke away from their tow and drifted down the coast without control, being sniped at the whole way, and steadily losing men.

The work of disembarking proceeded mechanically under a point-blank fire. The moment the boats touched the beach the troops jumped ashore and doubled for cover; but the gallant boat crews had to pull in and out under a galling fire from hundreds of points.

All through the 25th this went on, the boats landing troops, ammunition, and stores. When it was daylight the warships endeavoured to support them by heavy fire from secondary armaments; but not knowing the enemy's position this support was more moral than real.

SPLENDIDLY CARRIED OUT.

When the sun had fully risen we could see that the Australasians had actually established themselves on the ridge, and were trying to work their way northward along it. The fighting was so confused and occurred on such broken ground that it was difficult to follow exactly what happened on the 25th; but the covering force's task was so splendidly carried out that it allowed the disembarkation of the remainder to proceed uninterruptedly, except for the never-ceasing sniping. But then the Australians, whose blood was up, instead of entrenching, rushed northwards and eastwards, searching for fresh enemies to bayonet. It was difficult country in which to entrench. They therefore preferred to advance.

AUSTRALASIANS IN TROUBLE.

The Turks had only had a weak force actually holding the beach, and had relied on the difficult ground and their snipers to delay the advance until reinforcements came. Some of the Australasians who pushed inland were counter attacked and almost outflanked by oncoming reserves. They had to fall back after suffering heavy losses.

The Turks continued to counter attack the whole afternoon; but the Australasians did not yield a foot on the main ridge. Reinforcements poured up from the beach, but the Turks enfiladed the beach with two field guns from Gaba Tepe. This shrapnel fire was incessant and deadly. The warships vainly for some hours tried to silence them.

The majority of the heavy casualties during the day were from shrapnel, which swept the beach and ridge where the Australasians were established. Later in the day the guns were silenced or forced to withdraw, and a cruiser moving close inshore plastered Gaba Tepe with a hail of shell.

PRESSURE BY ENEMY.

Towards dusk the attacks became more vigorous, the enemy being supported by powerful artillery inland, which the ships' guns were powerless to deal with. The pressure on the Australasians became heavier, and their line had to be contracted.

General Birdwood and his staff landed in the afternon and devoted their energies to securing the position so as to hold firm until next morning, when they hoped to get fieldguns into position.

Some idea of the difficulty can be gathered when it is remembered that every round of ammunition and all the water and stores had to be landed on a narrow beach, and carried up pathless hills, through a valley several hundred feet high, to the firing line. The whole mass of troops was concentrated in a very small area, and was unable to reply, though exposed to relentless and incessant shrapnel fire, which swept every yard of the ground. Fortunately much of it was badly aimed, and burst too high.

HEROISM OF WOUNDED.

A serious problem was the getting of the wounded from the shore. All those unable to hobble had to be carried from the hills on a stretcher, and then hastily dressed and carried to the boats. Boat parties worked unceasingly the entire day and night.

The courage displayed by these wounded Australians will never be forgotten. Hastily placed in trawlers and lighters' boats, they were towed to the ships. In spite of their sufferings they cheered the ship from which they had set out in the morning. In fact, I have never seen anything like these wounded Australians in war before.

Though many were shot to bits, without hope of recovery, their cheers resounded throughout the night. You could see in the midst of the mass of suffering humanity arms waving in greeting to the crews of the warships. They were happy because they knew they had been tried for the first time, and had not been found wanting.

A WORTHY FEAT.

For fifteen mortal hours they occupied the heights under incessant shell fire, without the moral or material support of a single gun ashore, and subjected the whole time to a violent counter attack, by a brave enemy, skilfully led, with snipers deliberately picking off every officer who endeavoured to give a command or lead the men.

There has been no finer feat in this war than this sudden landing in the dark and the storming of the heights, and above all, the holding on whilst reinforcements were landing. These raw colonial troops in these desperate hours proved worthy to fight side by side with the heroes of Mons, the Aisne, Ypres, and Neuve Chapelle.

Early on the morning of the 26th the Turks repeatedly tried to drive the colonials from their position. The latter made local counter attacks, and drove off the enemy with the bayonet, which the Turks never face.

TURKISH ASSAULT.

The Turks, who were largely reinforced overnight, prepared a big assault from the north-east. The movement began at 9.30. From the ships we could see the enemy creeping along the hilltops, endeavouring to approach under cover. He also brought up more guns, and plastered the position with shrapnel, while the rifle and machine-gun fire became unceasing.

Seven warships crept close in, with the Queen Elizabeth further out as a kind of chaperone. Each covered a section, and opened a terrific bombardment on the heights and valleys beyond.

As the Turkish Infantry advanced they met every kind of shell our warships carry, from "Lizzie's" 15-inch shrapnel to 12-pounders. Our shooting was excellent, yet owing to the splendid cover the Turks advanced gallantly, while their artillery not only shelled our positions, but tried to drive off the ships.

HILLS ABLAZE WITH SHELLS.

The scene at the height of the engagement was sombre and magnificent. It was a unique day, perfectly clear, and one could see down the coast as far as Seddul Bahr. Three warships were blazing away, and on shore the rifle and machine gun rattle was incessant. The hills were ablaze with shells, while masses of troops stood on the beaches waiting to take their places in trenches.

The great attack lasted two hours. We received messages that the ships' fire was inflicting awful losses on the enemy.

ENEMY CHECKED.

Then amidst the flash of the bayonet and a sudden charge by the Colonials, before which the Turks broke and fled amidst a perfect tornado of shells from the ships, they fell back, sullen and checked.

They kept up an incessant fire throughout the day, but the Colonials were now dug in.

Some prisoners were captured, including officers, who said that the Turks were becoming demoralised by our gunfire, and the Germans had difficulty in getting them to attack.

SATISFACTORY CONDITIONS

MR. ASQUITH'S STATEMENT.

LONDON, May 6.

Replying to a question by Mr. Bonar Law in the House of Commons, the Prime Minister, Mr. Asquith, detailed the landing of troops in the Dardanelles.

He said the troops were landed at three important points simultaneously on April 25 in the face of much opposition from entrenched infantry and artillery. By nightfall 29,000 men had been landed.

The Indian troops were held up during the whole day, and eventually succeeded by a fine attack in taking up a position, which enabled them to cover the disembarkation of the remainder of the forces.

"The landing of the Australians and New Zealanders," he proceeded, "was opposed by a heavy fire at point blank range, but they carried the position with a rush. The attack was pushed forward with the greatest dash."

The French troops landed on the Asiatic side and advanced with great gallantry.

The whole landing was magnificently supported by the naval forces. The losses during the disembarkation were heavy.

The disembarkation of troops was continued on April 26 and every attack by the enemy was repulsed. The troops on April 27 were firmly established across the Gallipoli Peninsula.

"The Australians and New Zealanders," said Mr. Asquith, "defeated every counter-attack. By May 2 the position everywhere was consolidated. The successful performance of this difficult operation in the face of determined opposition displayed unsurpassed courage and skill on the part of the troops. The operations are now being continually pressed on under highly satisfactory conditions."

DESPERATE FIGHTING.

TURKS REINFORCED.

ATHENS, May 7.

The Allies have captured the heights facing Suandere Fort. The Allies are advancing steadily and devoting their attention to the section between Gaba Tepe and Seddul Bahr.

The Turks have been reinforced by a division, and desperate fighting is in progress, the Allies endeavouring to prevent the reinforcements functioning with other Turkish forces.

The losses on both sides are heavy.

CONSTANTINOPLE.

RUSSIANS DROP BOMBS.

ATHENS, May 7.

Three Russian airmen dropped bombs on Constantinople, doing considerable damage.

THE NARROWS.

FORTS BADLY DAMAGED.

LONDON, May 6.

The "Daily Chronicle's" correspondent, writing from before the Gallipoli Peninsula on Sunday night, says that the most prominent feature of the operations since the despatch of his last message was the damage to the Narrows forts by the guns of the fleet and the artillery of the land forces.

Maidos, he says, was still on fire on Friday afternoon. The Queen Elizabeth succeeded in getting most destructive shots into Boghali-Kalessi, opposite Nagara, until the place was on fire. Chanak was on fire at midday on Saturday.

"It is evident," he continues, "that the fleet has made considerable progress. The Australians and New Zealanders are pushing on towards the coast opposite Nagara, and the pitter-patter of machine guns in the hills can be clearly heard. The battleships at the entrance to the Dardanelles late on Saturday shelled the positions inland to facilitate the progress of the French troops from Kum Kale. The week's progress was amply satisfactory in every way."

AIRMAN'S GOOD WORK.

BRIDGE DESTROYED.

ATHENS, May 7.

As the result of a British airman destroying a bridge at Panderma, communication between Smyrna and the Dardanelles is interrupted, and the transport of troops and supplies hampered.

WOUNDED SOLDIERS.

TAKEN TO MALTA.

MALTA, May 6.

Many of the wounded soldiers from the Dardanelles have arrived here. Large hospitals have been established and staffed with English nurses under Sir Frederick Treves.

The Maltese ladies are forming a nursing association.

Arrangements have been completed to accommodate 8000 wounded soldiers here. Sixteen hundred are coming from Egypt.

WAR FINANCE.

FRENCH BOND ISSUE.

PARIS, May 7.

M. Ribat, French Minister of Finance, has tabled a bill in the Chamber of Deputies raising the National Defence Bond issue to six thousand million francs. He also seeks power to issue bonds for one thousand and sixty million francs, which will be discounted in England in payment of French purchases there, under arrangement with Mr. Lloyd George.

CHINA.

JAPAN'S DEMAND

THE RUSSIANS.

THE ENEMY'S CLAIMS

Japan has issued an ultimatum to China, demanding an answer within 48 hours.

Austro-German communiques continue to claim victory in Western Galicia and the Carpathians.

Austraia states that the Russian prisoners exceed 50,000; also that Tarnow has been occupied.

The Russian communique refers to heavy fighting against superior artillery, and to the development of a Russian success in one locality.

The Russian Ambassador in Paris denied the enemy's reports of victory in Western Galicia. The Austrian announcement regarding Tarnow came subsequently.

On the Western front the Allies have regained ground at Hill 60 and Bois d'Ailly.

THE FAR EAST.

ULTIMATUM.

JAPAN TO CHINA.

TWO DAYS FOR REPLY.

TOKIO, May 7.

Japan's ultimatum has been presented to China.

A reply is demanded within 48 hours.

BELIEVED CHINA WILL YIELD.

WASHINGTON, May 7.

It is officially announced that the Japanese ultimatum has been delivered to China. Under it China is given until Sunday to decide the position she will take up. It is believed that China will yield to force majeure.

EARLIER REPORTS.

LONDON, May 6.

A report from Tokio to New York stated it was officially announced this afternoon that Japan had sent an ultimatum to China.

The Japanese Legation in London did not confirm the issue of the ultimatum to China, and unofficial advices from Tokio stated that the ultimatum had been withheld in order to prove that Japan did not desire war.

EMPEROR'S SANCTION.

The Emperor of Japan sanctioned the ultimatum to China.

AMERICAN ATTITUDE.

INTEGRITY OF CHINA.

WASHINGTON, May 7.

The Secretary of State (Mr. Bryan), explaining the United States Government's attitude regarding Japan, reiterates its adherence to the open-door policy and the maintenance of China's territorial integrity. He says the United States sole interest is that negotiations between Japan and China shall be concluded satisfactorily to both nations.

The State Department allows it to be understood that the United States is willing to offer her services for the adjustment of the dispute.

WESTERN FRONT.

GROUND REGAINED.

PARIS, May 6.

The British by a counter-attack recovered portion of the lost trenches on Hill 60.

Our counter-attacks have regained more ground at Bois d'Ailly.

GERMAN COMMUNIQUE.

AMSTERDAM, May 7.

A Berlin communique claims that the Germans have captured 2000 French soldiers and several guns at Bois d'Ailly.

The French losses, the communique adds, were very severe.

POISONOUS GAS.

HORRIBLE EFFECTS.

LONDON, May 7.

A correspondent who visited the victims of the gas used by the Germans near Ypres found the patients propped up. Their faces, arms, and hands were shiny, and of a grey-black colour. With mouths open and lead-glazed eyes, they were all swaying backwards and forwards, struggling for breath. It was an appalling sight.

Practically nothing can be done for the patients beyond giving emetics. The gas fills the lungs with watery, frothy matter, gradually increasing until the lungs are filled. The victims die of suffocation in a day or two. Hundreds died in the trenches, and half of those reaching the hospital succumb. Without doubt this is the most awful form of scientific torture.

IN GALICIA.

ENEMY'S CLAIMS.

SANGUINE TONE.

TARNOW OCCUPIED.

AMSTERDAM, May 7.

An Austrian communique claims that the Russians are retreating along the whole front.

A party of Russians in good defensive positions is endeavouring to cover the retreat, but our armies' flanking movement threatens strong Russian forces near the Beskid Mountains.

The districts of Jaslo and Dukla are already conquered. The fighting which is proceeding will complete the destruction of the third Russian army. The number of prisoners taken exceeds 50,000.

A German communique confirms the Austrian communique in regard to the Carpathians.

The latest Austrian communique states: —We have gained the last Russian positions on the heights east of Dunajec and Biala.

We have also occupied Tarnow.

RUSSIAN VIEW.

REPORTS DENIED.

PARIS, May 7.

The Russian Embassy denies the enemy's victory in Western Galicia.

ENEMY'S ARTILLERY.

TROOPS SEVERELY TRIED.

PETROGRAD, May 7.

A communique states: The Austro-German forces continue to concentrate on the right bank of the river Dunajec, and their main efforts are being made in the direction of Biecz and Jaslo. Our troops were severely tried owing to the superiority of the enemy's heavy artillery, but the enemy suffered severely from our shrapnel and rifle fire.

We developed our success in the positions we hold near Mt. Makuvka, and captured 2000 men, including 40 officers. The retreating enemy was thrown back a considerable distance.

IN POLAND.

GERMAN EFFORTS FAIL.

A communique states:—Incessant abortive German attacks are being made east of the Mlawa railway. The enemy left 1000 dead on the field.

CAPTURED GERMAN GENERAL.

General von Wedel, who, commanding a German division, was taken prisoner near Ossowiec, tried to commit suicide. He was disarmed before his attempt succeeded.

BALTIC PROVINCES.

NAVAL ENGAGEMENT.

A communique states: An engagement took place yesterday near Libau, with a number of German torpedo-boats. The result of the engagement is not stated.

A Copenhagen message yesterday stated that four German cruisers and eight torpedo boats have been sighted in the Baltic going eastwards.

SOUTH-WEST AFRICA.

BOTHA'S ADVANCE.

CAPETOWN, May 7.

It is officially announced that General Botha has occupied the railway junction at Karibib, also the stations of Johann Albrechtshohe and Wilheimistal.

BRITISH INVINCIBILITY.

SPEECH BY MR. MACKENZIE.

LONDON, May 7.

Mr. T. Mackenzie (High Commissioner for New Zealand), in a speech at the Oversea Club, said he believed, under God, in the invincibility of the British Empire, and had unshaken faith in that invincibility.

COL. ROOSEVELT.

ON BELGIAN NEUTRALITY.

PARIS, May 7.

The American correspondent of the "Temps" reports an interview in which Colonel Roosevelt said:—"If I had been President I would have protested against the violation of Belgium, and asked the United States to take her place with the Allies. Perhaps that would have prevented war. Even when the Germans were before Liege they would have had time to reflect."

FOODSTUFFS.

INDIAN SURPLUS.

LONDON, May 6.

In the House of Lords to-day the Earl of Crewe stated that India had sown four million acres of wheat in excess of the previous year's sowing. It was hoped that the exportable surplus would be at least two million tons, or sufficient to prevent anything like a panic.

LIQUOR DUTIES.

VIOLENT IRISH OPPOSITION.

LONDON, May 6.

The second reading of the Defence of the Realm Amendment Bill disclosed violent Irish hostility to the proposed liquor duties.

Mr. John Redmond, the Nationalist leader, moved the adjournment of the debate.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Asquith, pleaded that it was essential that the passage of the bill should be expedited.

The debate was finally adjourned until Monday.

WINE AND SPIRIT TRADE.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, at the House of Commons to-day, met representatives of the wine and spirit trades, including an Australian representative. He expressed the hope that a definite arrangement would be arrived at with regard to wines and spirits by Friday.

SUBMARINES.

MORE VESSELS SUNK.

LONDON, May 6.

German submarines by gunfire sank the trawler Stratten in the North Sea, also the schooner Earl of Latham, off Kinsale Head, Ireland. The crews were picked up.

The Danish steamer Cathay (4076 tons) struck a mine or was torpedoed near Ramsgate, and sank. All hands were saved.

THE ALLIES' CAUSE.

GRATITUDE TO DOMINIONS.

LONDON, May 7.

The National Patriotic Organisation has arranged a meeting at the Guild Hall on May 19. Mr. Asquith is to move, and Mr. Bonar Law to second, a resolution:—"That this meeting records its abiding gratitude for the unparalleled services rendered by the Dominions and other parts of the Empire in the struggle to maintain the ideal of liberty and justice which is the common, sacred cause of the Allies." The High Commissioners of New Zealand, South Africa, and Canada will acknowledge the resolution, and Lord Crewe and Mr. Harcourt will speak.

PRISONERS OF WAR.

GERMAN TREATMENT.

LONDON, May 6.

Sir Edward Grey stated to-day that he had been unofficially informed that nine British officers imprisoned at Cologne had been subjected to solitary confinement and denied decent sanitary conditions. The cells in which they were confined had only single windows set high in the walls.

THE RED CROSS.

GENEROUS DONATIONS.

LONDON, May 6.

General Sir Ian Hamilton's family have given £7000 to the hospitals, and £10,000 to the British Red Cross.

MINERS' WAGES.

GOVERNMENT ACTION.

LONDON, May 6.

The Prime Minister informed representatives of the Miners' Federation that they had made out a prima facie case in their claim for an advance in wages. Unless the existing committee, he said, determined the amount to be paid per week, the Government would select an umpire to decide the question.

WAR NOTES.

THE GABA TEPEH LANDING.

The vivid account from the pen of Mr. J. Ashmead-Bartlett of the landing of the Australasian troops near Gaba Tepeh, published this morning, gives our people a fine idea of the heroic part played by our troops in the preliminary operations against the Dardanelles. It is a story that no Australian can read without a thrill of pride. And let it be said that this description of the fighting does not come from a man new to war, and one whose cool judgment has been influenced by the first overwhelming impressions of battle. Mr. Ashmead-Bartlett has been through many campaigns; he has seen men of many nations win glory on the battlefield. Thus he has been able to watch the behaviour of our soldiers with a steady eye and to weigh it against the behaviour of some of the finest troops in the world. And he has not written his despatch for the special edification of Australians—he has written it solely for the London papers which he represents. So when he says that the Australasian troops who bore themselves so gallantly at Gaba Tepeh have proved their right to stand beside the heroes of Mons, the Aisne, Ypres, and Neuve Chappelle, we can read into that declaration a glorious meaning indeed.

A REMARKABLE FEAT.

It is to be hoped that the people of Australia will be able to realise just what their troops had to face, and what they actually accomplished at Gaba Tepeh; though we are afraid that that is not quite possible to the civilian mind. Especially would we wish that the valour of that first covering party should be adequately appreciated. Five hundred of them towed to the beach under a pitiless rifle and maxim fire, with no chance of hitting back—about as galling an experience as young troops could be called upon to face—and then, when their boats neared the shore, without waiting for orders, they lept into the surf, formed some sort of rough line, and at once charged the foremost trenches with the bayonet. That bayonet charge delivered by absolutely raw young volunteers in such circumstances will stand as a glorious incident in the record of British arms. And as they began brilliantly, so did they proceed; for, in a few minutes they were scaling a cliff in the semi-darkness, and soon had the Turks out of their second position, thus clearing some sort of way for the men who had to follow them from the boats. Australia and New Zealand have good cause for pride in the deeds that followed, when the little army gradually secured a firm foothold on shore and beat off attack after attack launched at them by well-led, well-equipped, and determined troops—but they have especial cause to acclaim as heroes those of their sons who formed units of that gallant first five hundred.

THE PRICE WE PAID.

Mr. Ashmead-Bartlett's description of the circumstances in which the troops had to land, and the difficulties they had to face when they reached the beach, makes it clear how our men suffered so many casualties; and especially does it explain the high percentage of officers in the list of killed and wounded. The Turks found in the scrub-clad hills in the vicinity of the landing place the most admirable cover for snipers, and they apparently relied largely on these isolated riflemen to delay the advance of the Australasians until reinforcements came up. The snipers levied a pitiful toll upon our troops, and, after the manner of their kind, they paid especial attention to the officers. For many hours the invaders had to submit to the stinging fire of their hidden enemies, whom it was particularly difficult to locate and whose activity was in no appreciable degree affected by the shellfire from the ships. Added to this the Turks had guns placed in such positions that they were able to enfilade the beach, and the shrapnel from these pieces wrought havoc among the Australasians in the long interval before the ships' gunners were able to search out their cleverly concealed emplacements. Our troops suffered heavily indeed but, in the circumstances, the casualties cannot be regarded as unduly high. A big price was paid, but it was paid for a full meed of glory. Gaba Tepeh will go down to posterity as one of the brightest pages in the history of Australia and New Zealand.

ITALIAN ATTITUDE.

Judging by the tone of the comments of the German papers, it would seem that they now take it practically for granted that Italy will enter the war on the side of the Entente Powers. Whether or not they are correct in this assumption it is hardly worth while hazarding an opinion, for there have been so many "false alarms" and wholly confused and contradictory reports as to the Italian attitude that any clear idea as to what that country is likely to do 48 hours ahead is altogether out of the question. It seems evident, however, that the Italian Government has pursued a course suspiciously like bargaining with the belligerents, and has shown a keen desire to realise the nation's aspirations, if possible, without bloodshed. The Entente Powers have apparently been unable to discuss terms on the basis of Italian neutrality; and Austria has declared that the Italian demands upon her are greater than would be justified if she had already defeated her in the field of battle. During the last week or two Germany has been making strenuous efforts directly to influence Italy on the side of continued neutrality, and has also been striving to bring indirect influences to bear upon her to the same end. The premature announcement of an overwhelming victory against the Russians had clearly a political object; and, quite apart from purely military considerations, it will probably prove that the German invasion of Russia towards Riga, and the sudden assumption of a violent offensive in Flanders, were expected to give a wavering Italy considerable food for thought. Has it all gone for nought, and will Italy take up arms against her former Allies? If she does we can well understand the bitter chagrin of Germany; for, with the whole weight of Italy thrown into the scales against them, the Teutonic Alliance can scarcely regard the future with any degree of confidence. One German paper says that if Italy decides for war then the German hatred of England will be as nothing compared with the hatred of Italy. We really thought the limit of hatred had been reached in our case, and it will certainly be interesting to see in what manner Germany will go about expressing the more sublimated form of this emotion, in which she deals so largely and so blatantly.

INDIAN TROOPS IN FRANCE.

Reports have gained currency in Australia to the effect that the Indian troops had proved a considerable disappointment in France, especially when the trench phase of the war had been fairly entered upon; and in consequence it is interesting to note some references to these troops made by one of the war correspondents of the London "Daily Telegraph" in a despatch from France last month. "There has been a belief in England for some time," he says, "that it became necessary to take the entire Indian Corps out of the firing line, because the men had become demoralised and disheartened by the constant trench fighting and the cold and wet of the past months. This is quite untrue. After the heavy fighting round Givenchy, where the Indians suffered severely, it became necessary to give some of the brigades engaged there a rest, and the front held by the Indian corps was temporarily shortened. But they have never been withdrawn altogether, and are still responsible for a considerable section of our front." The correspondent goes on to say that when the Indian troops first arrived at the theatre of war it was some little time before they became accustomed to modern artillery fire. Since the Indian Mutiny the Indian army had never had to face any sort of shell fire except in the expedition to Peking. All the campaigns in which it had taken part had been against hill men, who were without this arm. There is no native Indian artillery, except some mountain mule batteries, and therefore the men were very ignorant of its employment and effects. It was, however, astonishing how well the Indian troops stood the strain.

LOST WITHOUT WHITE LEADERS.

As to the fighting qualities of the Indians, the war correspondent declares "that regiments have, with one or two exceptions, almost invariably given a good account of themselves in the face of the enemy. Some of their counter-attacks have been models of dash and skill. Their behaviour in face of the enemy, however, largely depends on the leading of their white officers. As long as they have had their officers with them they have never turned back or shown signs of demoralisation. Unfortunately, the losses have been very heavy amongst the officers, who cannot be replaced at a moment's notice. One who was present during a recent attack on a village in the fighting round La Bassee for the possession of the brickfields and the railway triangle told me he had seen a mixed battalion make a most gallant charge and capture a village at the point of the bayonet. The Germans counter-attacked, and every white officer was placed hors de combat. The battalion was then left without a leader, and abandoned the position. There was no panic or sudden flight. The men, with no one to direct them, retired very slowly, bringing many of their wounded away. They came back for some distance, then halted under cover. Two officers were spared from another battalion to rally them. They were then led forward to the attack, and retook the position."

ANOTHER HOSPITAL.

NEW ZEALAND GIFT TO BRITAIN.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Friday.

The Imperial Government has accepted New Zealand's offer of another stationary hospital at the front. The staff will number 100.

PRESBYTERIAN ASSEMBLY.

HEARING APPEALS.

The New South Wales General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church met again yesterday in St. Stephen's Church, Phillip-street, when the following reports were presented and adopted:—Statistics, St. Andrew's College, Ladies' College, Coorerwull Academy, and Scots College.

The assembly had before it an appeal against the decision of the Sydney Presbytery to issue a call from the Scots Church to the Rev. Thomas Tait, of Chalmers Church, Adelaide. Sitting in judicial jurisdiction the assembly dealt with this and another appeal to calls.

The decision of the presbytery of Sydney to sustain a call from Scots Church in favour of Rev. Thos. Tait, was appealed against on a number of grounds; principally that the Rev. Tait had not been a reasonable period of time in his present pastorate.

The court decided to sustain the call, and transmitted it to the presbytery of Adelaide, with the request that the translation of the Rev. Mr. Tait to Scots Church be agreed to.

There was also an appeal on the finding of the presbytery of Sydney that the translation of the Rev. D. P. M'Donald, minister of Ultimo, Pyrmont, to the Mosman congregation be not agreed to. The parties to the appeal were heard, and it was decided that as new evidence was available the evidence should be referred back to the Sydney presbytery. Subsequently the Sydney presbytery met and agreed to the translation of Mr. M'Donald from Ultimo to Mosman.

Miss Dumolo, principal of the Sydney Kindergarten Training College, gave an address to a young people's demonstration.

The Rev. G. R. S. Reid, B.A., also spoke.

MOTOR AMBULANCES.

SEVERE TEST IN WARFARE.

The Acting Secretary of Defence in a letter to Messrs. John Williamson and Sons regarding the gift of a motor ambulance by the legal profession of N.S.W., says:—"It will no doubt interest the subscribers to learn that Australian motor ambulances have undergone a severe test in the Suez Canal fighting, and their value has exceeded the most sanguine anticipations."

The department thanks the profession for the car ordered direct through the High Commissioner, and for the efforts now being made to augment the balance on hand of £188, with a view to purchasing a second ambulance.

LIEUT. STEEN.

A private cable message was received yesterday by relatives of Lieutenant Steen, previously reported as killed, to the effect that he was only slightly wounded.

LATE WAR NEWS.

PARK MYSTERY.

VICTIM IDENTIFIED.

The woman who was outraged in Prince Alfred Park on Monday night has been identified as Sina Heri Pocock, 40 years of age. She had lived with her husband at Abercrombie-street, Redfern.

A reward of £250 has been offered by the Inspector-General of Police for information that may lead to the arrest of those responsible for Mrs. Pocock's death.

THE CHINESE ASSAULT.

The Chinese, Ah Lee, who was so foully assaulted in the city on Wednesday night, died at Sydney Hospital shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday evening. On his arrival at the Hospital, after the occurrence, an examination showed that an operation was necessary. This was undertaken, the operation lasting three-quarters of an hour. Thirty stitches had to be inserted, and the man suffered severely from loss of blood. He appeared, however, to be recovering, but yesterday gradually sank away.

Deceased was a barber, and resided at 231 Botany-road, Waterloo.

MINE EMPLOYEES' GIFTS.

BROKEN HILL, Friday.

Officials and employees of Central mine (Sulphide Corporation) this afternoon formally handed over to the military authorities five horses.

Mr. James Hebbard, manager, in making the presentation, said the staff had already given £700 to the various war funds, but was now devoting its moneys to the Belgian Fund.

SUBURBAN FIRES.

A four-roomed wooden house in Tennyson-street, Mortdale, occupied by Arthur Vincent, was destroyed with most of its contents early on Friday morning.

PUBLIC SCHOOL ROWING.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The preliminary heats of the public schools head of the river boatrace were rowed on the Upper Yarra this afternoon. There was an attendance of about 15,000 people, among whom were hundreds of old boys of the various schools in khaki, who had come in from Broadmeadows camp. Many of them had taken part in previous races. The attendance has never been exceeded.

Results:—First heat: Scotch College, 1; Xavier College, 2. Second heat: Wesley College, 1; Geelong College, 2. Third heat: Geelong Grammar School, 1; Melbourne Grammar School, 2. The final will be rowed to-morrow between Scotch College, Wesley College, and Geelong Grammar School.

THE PREMIERS.

SUPPORT FOR BELGIAN FUND.

CONCESSIONS TO BRITAIN.

LAND VALUATIONS.

The Premiers' Conference resumed its sittings in the Legislative Assembly Chamber yesterday, this being the third session, Mr. Holman presiding.

Mr. Holman suggested that the matters dealt with in camera by Mr. Fisher should now be taken, the strategic railway to be discussed among the last of them.

It was arranged that on the following day an inspection should be made of the third rail device at Sydenham.

It was moved by Mr. Holman that the Commonwealth should, as early as possible, relieve the States of the responsibility of minting gold, on which there was a loss. The Commonwealth, he said, had already taken over the minting of silver and copper, on which there was a profit. The Commonwealth said they were not prepared to do the minting of gold till the building of the Federal capital was more advanced, and sufficient progress had not been made in this direction during the year owing to the drain made by the war upon Commonwealth finances. He moved the resolution with no desire to harass the Commonwealth, but as an expression of opinion to be given effect to as soon as possible.

Mr. Walker (W.A.) said that the shifting of the State mints to the Federal capital would not suit his State.

Mr. Cann (N.S.W.) said, in reply to Sir Alexander Peacock, that the State wanted to retain the site of the mint in Macquarie-street, though the minting might be taken over by the Commonwealth.

Mr. Holman said he was agreed, after hearing Mr. Walker, that the gold minting should be done in the States where they were already situated.

Mr. Hagelthorn (Vic.) said it seemed to him absurd to maintain mints in New South Wales and Victoria at a loss.

Mr. Holman suggested that the mint in Western Australia, which paid, should be retained there alone.

A resolution was carried that the minting of gold coin should be taken over as early as possible, the Commonwealth being recommended to give favourable consideration to the maintenance of the gold mint in Western Australia within that State.

STATISTICAL WORK.

It was stated by Mr. Holman that the Prime Minister had expressed himself favourable to the proposal that the statisticians of the various States be appointed officers under the Commonwealth Census and Statistics Act. This would give the Commonwealth Statistician power to "instruct" State affairs, whereas under existing conditions he could only "request." Mr. Fisher opposed the idea put forward by New South Wales for a quinquennial instead of a decennial census. This latter change was sought by New South Wales in view of the continual movement of population, the per capita contribution being made by the Commonwealth on the count taken every ten years.

A decision was arrived at to invite the holding of a conference between the Commonwealth Statistician and the State Statisticians on the matter of the overlapping of statistical effort, and to refer to the conference the question of a five-yearly census instead of a ten-yearly, and the collection of interstate trade statistics by the State Statisticians.

RECRUITING.

On the suggestion of Mr. Holman, it was decided to invite Mr. Fisher to attend the conference to discuss the question of recruiting men for the front in view of his offer to the Imperial authorities to despatch an unlimited number from Australia.

The conference discussed in camera with Mr. Fisher proposals by Mr. Holman for assisting in the formation of Australian contingents.

LAND VALUATIONS.

Mr. Griffith (N.S.W.) moved that each State pass a Valuation Act similar to that now before the New South Wales Parliament, and that the Commonwealth agree to accept State valuations for land tax.

Mr. McKinnon (Vic.) said that the Commonwealth valuations were more favourable to the taxpayer than the State valuations, and there should be the same basis of valuation adopted by State and Commonwealth.

Mr. Griffith said his point was that a valuing body should not be a taxing authority. The interest of the taxing authority naturally was to make the values high.

The conference decided that each State take the necessary steps to appoint State authorities to establish uniformity in land valuations.

MURRAY RIVER COMMISSION.

Mr. Griffith (New South Wales) moved that, as a tentative step, the Murray River Commission consist of the Ministers in the respective States concerned who were associated with the matter at the time of the completion of the agreement. He said this would provide a commission of three, one representative each from New South Wales, Victoria, and South Australia. After the preliminary work was disposed of, a permanent commission would be appointed.

It was decided that the matter should be referred to the respective States interested for determination after the passage of the ratifying bills.

BELGIAN FUND.

Mr. Holman said he thought the question of the provision of £75,000 per month from Australasia for the relief of the Belgian people might well come within the scope of the conference. Personally, he thought, if uniform action were decided upon, the result would be more satisfactory. He moved—"That the sum of £75,000 monthly, as asked for by the International Commission for the Relief of the Belgians, be obtained by subscriptions, plus Government guarantee."

Sir Alexander Peacock (Victoria) said he was afraid the mention of Government guarantee might have the effect of suppressing private contributions. In Victoria the Lord Mayor's Patriotic Fund was helping Victoria's monthly contribution. He thought the conference should content itself by carrying a general resolution that Australia ought to contribute £75,000, and let each State decide the method of raising the money itself.

Mr. O'Sullivan (Queensland) said Queensland's estimated proportion was £9000. The Government had guaranteed £4500 of this money if necessary.

Mr. Walker (Western Australia) said the subscriptions to the Belgian Relief Fund should be spontaneous. He thought it would be dangerous to decide upon concerted Government action.

Mr. Hagelthorn (Victoria) said if the war lasted 12 months these suggested large Government guarantees would run into big figures. They could not go on paying them for ever.

Mr. Hall (N.S.W.) said the German army was not going to last for ever.

The following resolution, moved by Mr. Hall (N.S.W.) and seconded by Mr. O'Sullivan (Queensland) was adopted—"That the various State Governments use every endeavour to induce the people to provide for the relief of the Belgian people by providing, according to the population of the various States, the £75,000 per month, as asked by the International Commission."

PANAMA TRUST FUND.

Mr. Holman said the Commonwealth and three States, New South Wales, Victoria, and Queensland, had agreed to contribute £30,000 in connection with the Australian representation at the Panama Pacific Exposition. The Commonwealth Government had recently announced that in the event of the amount being exceeded it will not increase its contribution. He moved—"That any expenditure in excess of the estimate should be contributed by all parties concerned."

Mr. Holman's resolution was adopted, and the question of negotiating for a settlement was left in the hands of the Victorian Government.

RAILWAYS IN WAR TIME.

The Commonwealth Government requested—(1) Free railway passes for officers and men of sea-going ships of the Royal Australian Navy; and (2) reduced railway fares for subordinate officers at naval and military colleges when on leave.

On the suggestion of Mr. Holman the conference agreed that both requests should be granted during the war.

Mr. Holman further explained that in a conference with the Commonwealth authorities shortly after the outbreak of the war it had been agreed "that men and material, mostly horses, for the purpose of the Expeditionary Force, be transported free on the State railways." He presumed that would be agreed to by the conference. But since then the president of the Imperial Remount Commission, Lieutenant-Colonel Peacock, had also raised the question of railway concessions in respect of horses for the Imperial Government travelling, after purchase, to depots and ports.

Mr. Holman thought the concession of free travelling should also be allowed in these cases, for the same reason as the other. They did not want to make any money out of any part of the Empire at a time like this.

Mr. Jackson said they had assured the King of their determination to do all in their power to assist the Empire in the war. In the face of that, they could not charge for Imperial horses being bought for war purposes. He moved that during the currency of the war the request of Lieutenant-Colonel Peacock be complied with to the extent of free travelling, and that each State facilitate the trucking and transportation of the horses and those in charge of them as much as possible.

The resolution was agreed to.

Conference then adjourned till Monday morning. To-day will be spent in an inspection of the third rail railway device, a visit to Daceyville, and a trip to the Mountains.

RABAUL.

ALLEGED SALE OF RED CROSS GIFTS.

THE RELEASED SOLDIERS.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Further revelations with regard to the Australian occupation of Rabaul were made today in the Federal Parliament.

It was stated that the men convicted by court-martial at Rabaul had been released.

In the Senate Senator Millen (N.S.W.), having moved the adjournment of the House, said:

"I make no accusation against anyone. I only desire to draw the attention of the Minister to certain facts. It seems to me that the honour of our troops is concerned, and the enthusiasm of the Red Cross workers may be affected unless the matter is given attention. The facts are that in December last a Sydney newspaper published an article headed 'Shopping in Rabaul.' In this it was set out that a member of the Expeditionary Forces then at Rabaul had written a letter to his mother in Sydney, in which he said he and another soldier had each purchased a pair of pyjamas, and had found in the pockets of them notes from ladies who had made them, with good wishes to those who should wear them. The writer of the letter was Private Campbell, and the other soldier was Private Jones. There was some uneasiness in Red Cross circles after the publication of that article, for it appeared the goods that were being sent as presents to the men were not being distributed as it was intended they should be.

"Colonel Holmes then submitted a report on the subject. He stated, among other things, that the man referred to was Private Campbell. He had a letter from Campbell denying that he had ever written the letter referred to in the newspaper, and stating that the goods might have gone astray, and come into the hands of those for whom they were not intended, or that they might have been stolen in transit. The report went on to state that nothing was sold at the store, so that the pyjamas could not have been purchased there. Senator Millen said that, on top of all that, the same newspaper came out with a statement, not only confirming what had been previously reported, but stating that they had a letter from Campbell, in which he stated he had never written the letter mentioned by Colonel Holmes. Campbell states that the pyjamas were purchased at the dry canteen, and that he had been called up and asked why he had been writing to the Sydney newspapers. He denied having done so. He was then sent away on a steamer called the Metlong, delivering stores to the outlying islands. He was with the guard. He added that after he had been allowed to leave the Metlong, he purchased a pair of pyjamas at the dry canteen, for which he paid 9s. They had worked on them the letters 'O.I.N.,' and the assumption was that those were the initials of the lady who had made the pyjamas.

"It would seem to strike members as little short of extraordinary that an officer holding such a position of responsibility as Colonel Holmes should write to the Minister enclosing a copy of a letter from Campbell, and that Campbell should then deny having written the letter. He thought that it would be in the interests of everyone connected with the enterprise at New Guinea that there should be some sort of an inquiry into the matter."

The Minister for Defence, Senator Pearce, said he thought no apology was needed from Senator Millen for bringing such a matter before the Senate. From the point of view of the Department, all they knew was that the matter was first brought before them in the form of a question by Mr. Burns (N.S.W.) in the House of Representatives. Colonel Holmes was asked for a report on the matter. His reply was that the report circulated had no foundation whatever. In fact, he enclosed a copy of a letter which, he said, Campbell was writing to the newspapers. He went on to state that all the articles given for the use of the troops were properly dealt with, being sent on to the principal medical officer at the hospital. None of them had been broached on the journey, and all reached their proper destination. It might have been that some of the men sold them after receiving them from the medical officer. He had no hesitation in saying that the report was false.

The Minister, continuing, said that anyone reading that would come to the conclusion that it was a complete rebuttal. It was not to be imagined that a man of Colonel Holmes's station would make such statements knowing that they were false, and that they would be made public. Then, on top of that, they had the startling statement of Campbell. He thought the matter justified the fullest inquiry, and he would see that it was made. The statement of Campbell that he was sent away on a transport would seem to indicate obviously that he thought it was to put him out of the way. There was nothing extraordinary in that, as there were several of these transports doing duty, and a number of men had to accompany them as guards. The inquiry would be departmental.

SOLDIERS RELEASED.

The leader of the Opposition, Mr. Cook, asked the Attorney-General if it were correct that an order had been issued for the release of the men convicted by court-martial at Rabaul. If so, what were the reasons for the release of the men. He also desired to know whether there was any objection to placing on the table the papers in connection with the matter.

Mr. Hughes, in reply, said that the release of these men was decided by the Executive Council on the previous day. The matter fell within the province of the Minister for Defence, and he was not able to give any further particulars. He knew of no reason why the papers should not be placed on the table.

NATIONAL ART GALLERY.

Two fine oil-paintings, purchased for the National Art Gallery of New South Wales by the director (Mr. G. V. F. Mann) during his visit to England last year, have now been added to the collection in the Domain. "A Spring Day, Paris," is by George Oberteuffer, an American artist, who resided in the French capital, and is one of the most prominent representatives of the modern impressionist school. This work was exhibited at the recent Anglo-American Exposition at Shepherd's Bush, London, and, with other examples of the artist's manner, attracted much attention. The picture in question shows S. Sulpice, with its classic facade and towers rising in all the bulk of its formidable pile of grey stone towards a lovely blue sky with fleecy white clouds. This church is not in itself a thing of beauty, but the charm of the spring day conquers. Indeed, this vivid glimpse of Paris, with the tender green of the young foliage, and the omnibuses and fiacres in the streets, wins the heart as only a day in Paris can do. The "feeling" of the work thus described is everything.

"A Northern Haven on the English Coast" is by Algernon Talmage, and here again the collection is enriched. The artist has caught a characteristic and somewhat sullen aspect of English scenery. The lofty brown cliffs are forbidding in their rugged resistance to wind and wave, but above them is an exquisitely handled sky with stormy, wind-scattered clouds. The work makes further appeal in the colouring of the calm sea with its rings of white foam, and the patch of shadow reflected from the clouds, whilst there is a certain reserve-power in the treatment which makes itself felt. Talmage studied in Professor Herkomer's school, and is an open-air painter whose studio is at St. Ives, Cornwall. He is a well-known and highly-appreciated exhibitor at the Royal Academy.

BELGIAN DAY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In reference to a letter appearing in your issue of 4th inst above the nom-de-plume of "Historicus," it is to be regretted that even a feeble protest is made against Belgian Day on the 14th inst. Your correspondent mentions Canowindra as being a township where any further effort would seem a tax upon the enthusiasm of the people, and there may be a possibility of Belgian Day being labelled as "poor response." I should like "Historicus" to just come along to our little town on the 14th, and see whether the people here agree with him. We are going to celebrate the day in fitting manner, and present indications point to our efforts being labelled "A great success." Cold water throwers are not appreciated up this way.

I am, etc.,
JOHN S. PARKER,
Hon. Secretary Belgian Relief Committee.

PAPUA.

OFFICIAL REPLY TO DR. SIMSON.

GOVERNMENT'S DEFENCE.

Mr. J. T. Bensted, Commonwealth agent for the territory of Papua, was yesterday authorised by the Lieutenant-Governor of Papua (Judge J. H. P. Murray, C.M.G.), to make the following statement in regard to Dr. Simson's criticism of the Papuan Government's policy which appeared in yesterday's "Herald."

Mr. Bensted said: "The two companies referred to by Dr. Simson, when he says, 'For political purposes the Native Affairs Department has been straining every nerve for the past few months to obtain convictions against the two largest companies in Port Moresby. It has been alleged that the companies did not feed or treat the natives properly,' are presumably the British New Guinea Development Company, Ltd., and the Fairfax Harbour Plantations and the P.R. Proprietary Ltd. The value of Dr. Simson's statements may be tested by a return which has been made of all prosecutions of Europeans for ill-treatment of natives, and for breaches of the Native Labour Ordinance for the preceding six months in the Resident Magistrate's Court at Port Moresby. The return was divided into three parts—assaults, offences under the Native Labour Ordinance, and proceedings for cancellation of contract. There were only eight cases of assault for the whole six months, and all the eight pleaded guilty excepting two, one of whom did not put in an appearance at all. Of these eight only two were connected with plantations: both pleaded guilty, and were fined one pound. As regards the offences under the Native Labour Ordinance, there were eight of these cases, all for serious offences, such as not returning natives after their contract had expired, and neglecting to supply labourers with sufficient food. Of these eight only three were against the companies named; of these three cases one was dismissed, and in two there were convictions; one was a case of neglecting to return the native home after the expiration of his contract, the other two were for neglecting to supply the labourers with sufficient food. As regards the cancellation of contracts, there were six such cases in the six months—only one against each of the companies named.

"Surely in the face of these figures it is idle to argue that 'every nerve has been strained to obtain convictions' against anybody. It is, of course, impossible to set forth the evidence in each case, but a glance at a photograph in the possession of Judge Murray, taken of the labourers who have been insufficiently supplied with food, would, I think, be sufficient to convince even Dr. Simson that in this case certainly, if the officers of the Native Affairs Department had not prosecuted, they would have been guilty of a grave breach of duty.

"As regards the railway, this is a matter which concerns the Federal and not the Papuan Government. It is confessed that the bearing of many of Dr. Simson's remarks is not understood. The line was abandoned, perhaps only temporarily, for reasons which would approve themselves to anyone who is not personally interested in its construction.

"The resolution of the public meeting to which Dr. Simson refers states that the local administration has shown a decided want of sympathy for all industrial development, and instances railways, wharfs, and oilfield development. These are all matters which depend rather on the Federal than the Papuan Government, and the other works were to be carried out by a loan from the Commonwealth, which at present is in abeyance.

"The attitude of the Government toward the white man and the Papuan is said to be a mistaken one. This statement is really too vague to deal with, for it does not appear what Dr. Simson considers the Government attitude to be. As regards the respect of the native for the white man, white men who deserve respect will receive it in Papua; perhaps those who do not deserve it may not receive it; but this is surely their own fault rather than the fault of the Government.

"The last point, and the most important of all, is the question of the murders of Europeans. There is a rumour, which may or may not be correct, that a white man has been murdered quite recently in Papua. Disregarding this murder, there have been only three Europeans murdered of recent years—one in 1913, one in 1914, and one in 1915. The names of these men were Werner, MacIntosh, and Ballot. Werner was killed in a district which had not been visited, the natives had never seen a white man before, and did not know there was a Government in existence. MacIntosh was killed in the neighbourhood of Mount Yule, a district which has been visited but very rarely, and is just on the fringe of Government influence. MacIntosh, like Werner, had neglected every precaution; he was, it is said, travelling absolutely alone, armed only with a shot-gun; but the facts are not fully known, as the case has not yet been tried.

"Ballot was killed in settled and well-known country. It is said that he was killed because he had shot the natives' pigs. This cannot excuse the murder, but it probably explains it. Thus, in the case of Werner and MacIntosh, the attitude of the Government cannot have anything to do with the murders, for they were killed, the one on the extreme limit, and the other entirely outside Government control; in the case of Ballot his action in killing the pigs would surely be a sufficient reason without speculation on the possible effect of any Government 'attitude.'

"As regards the punishment of murderers, murderers of Europeans are usually punished with death. In the case of Werner seven men were shot dead by the police, including the ringleader and the accused, and eight, I think, in number, were sentenced to imprisonment for life. Three arrests have been made in MacIntosh's case, and eight in the case of Ballot; these cases have not been tried.

"As regards murders of indentured labourers, there only appear to be five cases in the last three or four years; less than there used to be some years ago, when only a quarter of the number of boys were working. The penalty inflicted was death in two cases, and in the other cases imprisonment for life for seven years and for five. This is the attitude Dr. Simson complains of as too sympathetic. In one case—and only one—the murderers have not been discovered."

EMPIRE DAY.

Preparations are well forward for the celebration of Empire Day on May 24, which this year is to be proclaimed a public holiday, in view of its special significance, due to the war.

The Premier has been in communication with the Commonwealth Government in regard to joint action. Flags are to be flown from all public buildings, and bands will be in attendance in the parks and public places. Arrangements are being made with the military authorities to fire a salute at noon.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Permit me to express the earnest hope that parents and others will not take their children from the schools on Empire Day until the celebrations are over. The children generally have assembled for a part of the morning only, and there has been time afterwards for excursions and other outings. Citizens' demonstrations also should go on as before. One's fear is that now that the day is to be a public holiday, nearly all will go off early picnicking down the harbour and other places, as on Anniversary Day, and the Empire be largely forgotten.

I admit that in your columns before an Empire Day was won I favoured a public holiday for it, but experience has shown very fine results without one, and thoughts of Empire unity and duty should not give way to pleasure. By reasonable consideration each object can be attained. Let there be duty first and amusement afterwards.

Empire Day has been a powerful factor in our many lands in defeating separatists, and in preserving and promoting solidarity. The present magnificent help of the Dominions in the war is one of the outcomes. It is fairly certain that had there been no Empire Day troops would have been sent, but the day has been a potent educational force that has very richly increased the aid. Probably never did the British people in the world stand more solidly together than now, and it is very important in a serious crisis like we are in that this unity should be emphasised. The brotherhood of the race should stand out boldly before our enemies, and the whole world. It should be seen that we live, and, if needs be, die, together. To do this Empire Day presents an unique and splendid opportunity. Indeed, this should be, and will be, easily the greatest of Empire days, as no doubt elsewhere demonstrations by citizens and in schools will show an intensified enthusiasm. The same should be seen here. But it will be a weakening and a misfortune if, it being a public holiday, and kindly meant, the main reasons for its observance are almost wholly lost sight of in picnicking and other pleasures.

I am, etc.,
F. B. BOYCE.

BELGIAN DAY.

FIFTEEN £500 CHEQUES RECEIVED.

Four more cheques for £500 were forthcoming yesterday to the Belgian Day nucleus of £10,000. The morning post brought a letter from Mr. N. C. Bucknell, of Inverell, offering to be one of the 20, and thanking Mr. Ward "for giving me this opportunity of in a small way showing my appreciation for what the Belgian nation has done for us." The next letter opened was from Mr. Wm. Macleod, of the "Bulletin." "Herewith," he wrote, "please receive my cheque as one of the 20 you wish to gather in for the benefit of the Belgian Fund." The rest of the mail was opened with high hope, but it was not until the afternoon that Mr. Percy Hunter, joint secretary of the National Belgian Relief Fund, telephoned that a cheque for £500 had been offered by the Civic Club. This was conditional upon the £500 cheques reaching at least eighteen. "You can count them in," said Mr. Ward; "they're gone!" Following closely upon that came a letter from the committee representing the employees of Messrs. W. D. and H. O. Wills (Australia), Ltd., the British-Australasian Tobacco Company Pty., Ltd., and the States Tobacco Company Pty., Ltd. The employees of these three companies had combined in making one of the twenty £500 cheques. "I cannot say how much I appreciate this very fine example of self-sacrifice," said Mr. Ward. "It shows," he added, "a splendid democratic spirit. That men should give from their weekly savings in this way is something to inspire the men and women with the big banking accounts."

These four cheques bring the number now in hand up to fifteen. The givers are as follow:—

Mr. John Hunter £500.
Mr. Sam Hordern £500.
Mr. Anthony Hordern £500.
New South Wales Railway and Tramway War Fund £500.
Mr. J. Joynton Smith, M.L.C., £500.
Mr. Charles W. Bennett £500.
Mr. Lebbeus Hordern £500.
Messrs. David Cohen and Co., Ltd., £500.
Mr. Wallace J. Carson £500.
Mr. F. G. Sargood £500.
Mr. Francis T. White £500.
Mr. N. C. Bucknell £500.
Mr. Wm. Macleod £500.
The Civic Club £500.
Employees of W. D. and H. O. Wills (Australia), Ltd., British-Australasian Tobacco Co. Pty., Ltd., and States Tobacco Co. Pty., Ltd., £500.

It was notified to Mr. Ward yesterday that the Automobile Club was well on the way toward making up a £500 cheque. The members of the club were also assisting on Belgian Day with a large number of cars.

The programme for the gala matinee at Her Majesty's on Belgian Day is indicated in the amusement notifications to-day. The actors to appear comprise a notable list.

THE R.A.S.

MR. S. HORDERN PRESIDENT.

Mr. Samuel Hordern was elected president of the Royal Agricultural Society at a meeting of the council held yesterday.

There were three candidates—Messrs. Samuel Hordern, S. E. Lees, and Alex. Hay—and the former was elected by an overwhelming majority—4 to 1.

Mr. Hordern, who was one of the vice-presidents of the society, has been a prominent and popular member of the council for some years. In addition to being a notable exhibitor at past shows, particularly of Jersey dairy cattle, he has also been conspicuous as an active worker as a steward both in the horse and cattle rings, showing a practical interest in the work of the society.

The following office-bearers were elected:—President, Mr. S. Hordern; vice-presidents (elected unopposed), Messrs. James Angus, H. S. Badgery, Major P. Charley, J. G. Dight, W. A. B. Greaves; council, Messrs. A. Hordern, J. C. White, J. Barnes, S. C. Pottie, C. H. Gorman, F. A. Mackenzie, H. W. Potts, J. C. M. See, P. H. Morton, V. R. Gosche, V. H. Green, A. L. Manning; hon. treasurer (elected unopposed), Lieutenant-Colonel A. T. Pringle; auditors (elected unopposed), David Bell and H. Dunstan Vane.

ENGLISH RACING.

THE ASCOT MEETING.

LONDON, May 6.

The Royal Ascot race meeting will this year be confined to three days, nine races, including the Hunt Cup, being abandoned.

ROYAL SAILORS' REST.

LONDON, May 7.

Mr. T. Mackenzie (High Commissioner for New Zealand) visited Ramsgate in connection with the gift of a cot to the Royal Sailors' Rest, from King George's Rest, Lyttelton (N.Z.). Queen Alexandra has sent a message in appreciation of Lyttelton's generosity.

THE SUGAR SHORTAGE.

ANXIETY IN THE TRADE.

INCREASED DEMAND NOT MET.

The correspondence which has passed between the Colonial Sugar Company and the Government regarding the probable shortage of sugar has emphasised to the trade the precariousness of the situation. From the replies which the Government has made to the warnings of the Sugar Company it is opined that the members of the Ministry are inclined to believe that an alarm is being unnecessarily raised. The trade, however, which watches the statistics closely, and which keeps informed of the prospects of the sugar yield, undoubtedly agrees with the manager of the Sugar Company in his presentation of the facts. The fixing of the price at least £7 below the world's markets, leaving duty out of the question, taught them that importation would be stopped, and that we should have to depend on our own diminishing stocks. How those stocks diminish may be seen from the following table of the stocks in bond from the beginning of April to date during this year and last year, and stocks in bond on various dates up to August of last year.

SUGAR STOCKS IN BOND.

	1915. Australian. Tons.	1915. Foreign. Tons.	1914. Australian. Tons.	1914. Foreign. Tons.
April 1	27,201	7,329	29,914	16,088
April 9	27,064	7,188	29,111	16,022
April 16	25,095	5,991	27,805	15,965
April 23	23,292	5,992	25,731	15,897
April 30	21,561	2,723	24,051	15,762
May 7	19,561	2,654	21,992	16,607
May 29	—	—	17,016	16,284
July 4	—	—	8,533	16,131
July 31	—	—	2,509	14,948
August 28	—	—	4,394	13,861

It will be seen from this table that the course of the consumption this year is normal reckoned with last year, that Australian stocks show little difference in each year, but that the stocks of foreign sugar are not half as large as last year. Further, if the consumption proceeds at a normal rate stocks will be quite exhausted by the end of July.

The result has been a rush for sugar, and it is a rush that the wholesale grocers have not been able to satisfy. For the past six or eight weeks the retailers in the city and suburbs and the storekeepers in the country have increased their orders every week, but to no avail. The company will only supply orders to a wholesale grocer to the same amount as in the corresponding week of last year. Some retailers have attempted to get in not only a month's supply, but two, and in a few cases three, months' requirements. No doubt they were actuated not alone by the thought of a shortage, but also they entertained the idea that the Necessary Commodities Commission might agree to raising the price. In some cases when a storekeeper found that he was not supplied by his merchant he sent the order to another merchant, from whom he rarely or never purchased any goods at all. But that scheme was unsuccessful. In every such case the retailer was referred to his own proper merchant, and at the same time it was pointed out to him that the Sugar Company supplied his own proper merchant with sufficient to furnish him as well as other customers with their normal weekly requirements, and no more.

Retailers are insistent that the Government should move at once in the matter, that prompt inquiry should be made, and that, if it is found that a famine in sugar is imminent, even for a few weeks, measures be taken to import sugar. In the meantime, for fear that the Government should move too slowly they are making inquiries as to the best form in which sugar substitutes, such as saccharine, can be procured.

REDRESS FOR LOSS OF TRADE.

"Inquirer" writes:—

Your article on the sugar shortage in the issue of May 6 raises the question to what extent the Government should interfere with private enterprise. I understand any business concern is liable to be prosecuted if it can be shown to be a combine in restraint of trade or unduly inflating prices of necessary commodities. The laws of the country also demand solvency in any business concern. As your article foreshadows it is either closing down the Sugar Co.'s refinery work, thus throwing more men out of employment—when everybody is endeavouring to keep things moving—or running the business at a loss. Is there any redress if a Government proves itself a combination in restraint of trade, or if it so adjusts prices as to bring about anyone's insolvency? Could you say why we had a more economic state of affairs under previous Governments, without so much interference with our rights and liberties, and why prices of nearly every commodity have so greatly increased under the present Government even before the war? I think it would greatly interest your readers. We do not know whose turn will come next.

PRICE OF BREAD.

A PROTEST.

"Womerah" writes:—

Sir,—Allow me to enter my protest against any further increase in the price of bread. According to to-day's "Herald," the master bakers are claiming an increase because, amongst other reasons given, "the book debts are heavier than usual." This simply means levying a tax upon the over-burdened man who pays his way to enable a bad business man to continue to trade. Of course, it doesn't appeal to him that he should shut down on "tick" or charge his "tick" customers the interest necessary to cover his outlay and losses in regard to his false trading. Oh, no, it is far simpler to get it from those unfortunates who pay their way. As one who, as a result of the war, has been unemployed six months out of the last nine, but who has struggled on, to pay his baker and other tradesmen in cash, I decline to sit idly by while such barefaced compulsory contributions are extorted, by master bakers or any other tradesmen. Any master baker worthy the name ought to be heartily ashamed to be identified with such a movement.

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

In metals yesterday a movement was noticed in imported wire-netting, purchases being made between houses for speculative purposes. News was received of an advance in English rates, and it was confidently expected that the Australian manufacturers would follow suit. All wires remained firm. The market was cleaned up of all parcels of black offering at £14, and in distributing lines nothing was obtainable under £14/5/ for No. 8, and 10 black being more plentiful continued at £14. Galvanised No. 8 sold at £16/10/.

The market for turpentine was excited. It was not known when any more shipments would be available. The market was cleaned up of everything offering at 4/3 for Pinetree, and 4/4 was asked. Linseed oil was without alteration. Champion's whitelead was steady at £43 for parcels in cwt packages. The English rate continued at £32/10/, or £1 above the convention price.

In chemicals the excitement had been switched off from caustic soda on to rosin. Some traders were quoting N and G in distributing lots at the same rate, £21. A fair parcel of N sold at £19/10/. As to caustic soda sales of 70/72 per cent. were made at £22, and powdered 76/77 at £26. Cream of tartar was a little firmer, and was difficult to buy in quantities at 1/9 per lb. The new line of steamers from Genoa is having great difficulties on account of the congested state of that port. The steamer, which was to have left at the beginning of April, has not yet left. Carbide sold at £25 for all brands. Advices from England stated that there was a restricted supply, owing to one factory having difficulties in manufacture, that freights had increased so much that if they increased much more it would not be profitable to do business. Further, it was expected that the Admiralty would shut down on the export of anthracite coal, because Norwegian manufacturers using that coal were making munitions of war which found their way to Germany.

Cables were received reporting increases in cocoa of from 35 to 40 per cent.

There was again very little business passing in jute fabrics, and prices were nominally unchanged. Cornsacks were quoted at 6/6½, and branbags at 5/2 net to rails. On spot woolpacks were worth 3/4½ net, but for forward delivery supplies were offered at from 3/3 to 3/4 net.

MONDAY'S HOMEBUSH OFFERINGS.

The number of sheep and cattle listed for next Monday's sales at the Homebush yards is as follows:—
Sheep (including lambs) 23,318
Cattle (including calves) .... [illegible]

LONDON MARKET CABLES.

BUTTER.

LONDON, May 6.

The butter market is very firm, owing to supplies being short. Several thousand boxes are being shipped back to New Zealand by the steamer Ruahine. It is estimated that about 10,000 altogether have been returned to Australia and New Zealand. Choicest Australian is worth 134/ to 136/, unsalted 138/; New Zealand, 138/ to 140/, unsalted 142/ per cwt.

Cheese is firm, New Zealand selling at 94/ per cwt.

SUGAR.

The sugar market is quiet, foreign granulated selling at 27/6 per cwt., a fall of 1/9 on the week.

WOOL.

At the wool auctions there was a better tone. Crossbreds had a hardening tendency, and merinos were unchanged. Prices for the clips mentioned were:—Waima, highest 23½d, average 22¼d; Spring Plains, 14½d, 13½d; Warbreccan, 13d, 11¼d; C.B.W.B., 11½d, 10½d; Bedcoba, 13¾d, 12½d.

BRADFORD TOPS.

In the Bradford tops market merinos were strong; medium and low crossbreds were neglected. Prices are:—Sixty-fours, 32d (1d up); super sixties, 31½d (1d up); common sixties, 30½d (1d up); fifty-sixes, 29½d (unchanged); fifties, 28½d (unchanged); forty-sixes, 25½d (½d down); forties, 23½d (1d down).

SHEEPSKINS.

At the auction sale of sheepskins 8600 bales of Australian and New Zealand lots were offered, and 6200 bales were sold. There was a fair attendance, and competition was irregular. Merino combings were a farthing down, crossbred combings and all clothings were a half-penny down.

CEREALS.

Wheat is firm, with few offers.

Flour is firm, and tending to be dearer.

Oats are quiet, New Zealand selling at 37/, Bahia Blanca of May-June shipment 30/3 per quarter.

Peas are quiet, New Zealand maples selling at 58/ to 65/ per quarter.

PRODUCE.

DAIRY.

EGGS FROM AMERICA.

The 400 cases of eggs which the Sonoma brought from San Francisco were available in Sussex-street yesterday. On the whole the eggs were of good quality, and realised to 2/ a dozen. Locally produced eggs were slightly weaker. New-laid suburban were quoted at from 2/4 to 2/6, railways and South Coast's at from 1/10 to 2/, and rivers at from 1/6 to 1/9 a dozen. A fair number of cold stored eggs were available at up to 1/9 a dozen. Storage eggs often keep in perfect condition for long periods, coming out in as good condition as they went in except that the air cells may have enlarged a little as a result of evaporation. What has gained ill repute for the storage egg is its tendency to spoil rapidly after being taken out of storage. Hence it is important that storage eggs be got to consumers with all possible speed after being removed from the lower temperature. If this were always done storage eggs would be a decided benefit to the consuming public wanting eggs for ordinary cooking purposes.

Butter was unchanged at 126/ per cwt delivered in boxes. Many orders for bacon were received from Victoria, South and Western Australia, and values were consequently well maintained.

Quotations were:—

DAIRY PRODUCE.

Bacon.—Sides /8 to /9, flitches /8½, middles /10 to /10½, shoulders /6½ to /7, bacon hams /11 to 1/1; special brands, sides /9½, flitches /9½, middles /11½, shoulders /7½, bacon hams, 1/ per lb.

RAILWAY MARKET.

Auctions were completely demoralised at Sydney goods-shed yesterday. Of 31 trucks of produce in position, only five trucks were offered at auction—an unprecedented state of affairs. Both buyers and auctioneers transacted business privately long before the usual hour of commencement. Indeed, at half past 9 o'clock, at which time buyers are usually only preparing to start operations, all transactions for the day were practically completed. All fodder which could be classed as medium and prime sold at the maximum proclaimed figures. Two trucks of wheaten and oaten straw chaff were submitted at auction, and brought 6/6 and 7/6 per cwt respectively; whilst business was done in potatoes at 6/1 per cwt. Oats changed hands at 5/7 per bushel.

Consignments placed in position for sale:—Hay, straw chaff 26, grain 1, potatoes 4.

Produce manifested to arrive:—Hay, straw chaff, 75; grain 25, potatoes 1.

Wheaten Chaff.—Ex Crookwell (6800), straw chaff, 6/6 per cwt.

Lucerne Hay.—Ex Lochinvar (5425) 6/10½ per cwt.

Oats.—Ex Goulburn (14345), 70 bags Algerians, 5/7 per bushel.

Potatoes.—Ex Crookwell (9765), 6/1 per cwt.

FRUIT MARKETS.

The wet weather as usual had a very depressing effect upon trade in the fruit markets, and prices were unchanged.

WHOLESALE SELLING HOURS.

UNFAIR COMPETITION ALLEGED.

"Fairtrade" writes:—

Sir,—As I notice the present Government is introducing legislation to do away with unfair competition in several of the trades in our midst, I wish to call its attention to the present unfair conditions ruling in the wholesale fruit trade.

Some time ago a meeting of the City Fruit Markets' Association agreed by an overwhelming majority to request the City Council to adopt the selling hours ruling at the privately owned fruit exchange, Bathurst-street, and which are as follows, viz.:—Opening hours, Mondays to Saturdays, 7 a.m.; closing hours, Mondays to Fridays, 4 p.m., Saturdays 11 a.m.

These hours were agreed to by the City Council, but on the Chinese merchants being approached by the association they refused to comply with the request, although most of them lease their stores from the City Council, and are adjacent to the City Council markets. At the present time these Chinese merchants sell fruit from 5 a.m. till 6 p.m., and even later, with the result that fully 150 of the City Council's tenants are daily losing business by this unfair competition.

I trust that this matter will be investigated by the proper authorities.

Quotations were:—

Passionfruit.—Local: Choice 4/ to 4/6, medium 3/ to 3/6, small 1/ to 1/6 a half-bushel case.

Pineapples.—Queens, 7/6 to 10/; Ripleys 6/ to 9/ a case.

Lemons.—Choice 5/, medium 3/, small 2/ a bushel case. Small Italians, 8/ to 9/; Americans, 6/ to 8/.

Bananas.—Fiji 25/ a case, 7/6 to 12/ a bunch; loose, 11/; Tweed River, 18/ to 20/ a case.

Mandarins.—Second crop: Extra choice 10/, choice 9/ to 10/, medium 3/ to 5/, small 1/6 a bushel-case.

Oranges.—Second crop: Extra choice 5/, choice 4/, medium 2/ to 2/6, small unsalable. Navel, second crop, choice 10/ to 12/, medium 3/ to 5/, small 1/6 to 2/ per bushel-case.

Apples.—Local dessert, choice 7/ to 7/6, medium 3/6 to 5/, small 2/6; cooking, choice 6/, medium 2/ to 4/, small 2/6 a bushel-case. Tasmanian: Alexanders 4/ to 5/; R.P., 4/ to 5/; Jonathans, 7/ to 9/; scarlets 6/ to 9/; French Crabs, 4/ to 7/; A.P.M., 5/ to 7/; S.T.P., 4/ to 6/; A.L.F., 4/ to 5/ a bushel-case.

Pears.—Victorian: B.D.C., 6/ to 9/; Golden B., 5/ to 7/6 a bushel-case. Tasmanian: W.N. and W.C., 4/6 to 5/6; Josephines, 4/ to 5/; N.P., 2/ to 3/ a half-bushel case.

Persimmons.—Choice 4/ to 4/6, medium 2/6 to 3/, small 1/6 a half-case.

PIG SALES.

At the City Yards yesterday 412 pigs, the bulk of which comprised porkers, were offered at auction to the usual attendance of buyers. Competition was active in the pork section, and values were a shade firmer. The market for backfatters and baconers remained unchanged, although a firm tone prevailed. The yarding included a truck of north-west "store" pigs, which, however, were unsalable.

Quotations were:—

Best backfatters, £5 10/; good, £4/10/ to £5/5/; medium, £3/10/ to £4 5/; light, from £2/15.

Best baconers, 73/, good 60/ to 70/; medium, 50/ to 60/; light, from 44/.

Best porkers, 43/; good, 30/ to 38/; medium, 25/ to 30/; light, from 18/.

STATION PRODUCE SALES.

The Sydney Wool-selling Brokers' Association reports:—

SHEEPSKINS.

The better qualities were without change, but heavy conditioned lots, when faulty or burry, were easier. Quotations:—Crossbred, full wools, best /7½ to /8 per lb, ordinary /6½ to /7½, medium wools, best /6 to /6½, ordinary /5½ to /6, short wools, best /5½ to /5¾, ordinary /4½ to /5, pelts, best /3½ to /3½, ordinary /2 to /3; merino, full wools, best /7 to /7½, ordinary /5½ to /6½, medium wools, best /5½ to /6½, ordinary /4½ to /5, short wools, best /4½ to /5, ordinary /3 to /3½, pelts, best /3 to /3½, ordinary /2 to /2½; lambs, crossbred, best /6½ to /7½, ordinary /5 to /6½; merino, best /4½ to /6, ordinary /3 to /4.

Hides.—Good conditioned lots ruled firm, but sloppy and faulty sorts were ¼d to ½d per lb lower. Quotations—Queensland butchers' hides: Heavy weights (56lb and up), /7½ to /8½ per lb; medium weights (44lb to 54lb), /7½ to /8½; light weights (33 to 40 lb), /7 to /8½. New South Wales butchers' hides: Picked lines of heavy weights, /9 and up; heavy weights (54lb and up), /7½ to /8½; medium weights (46 to 52 lb), /7½ to /8½; light weights (41lb to 44lb), /7 to /8½; extra light weights (30lb to 38lb), /7 to /8½; cut hides, to /7½; dry hides, to /9½; bulls, to /5½; calfskins, to 6/6 each, yearlings to 15/3; horsehides, to 12/.

The unassociated brokers also held sales.

MINING IN THE STATE.

EMMAVILLE, Friday.

To-day Warden Perry considered an application by the Stanthorpe Bucket Dredging Company for suspension of labour conditions on 23 mineral leases for three months. Mr. Harris, solicitor, appeared to oppose. The manager of the company gave evidence that no mining had been done on the leases for three years, although a number of fossickers were allowed free access. The warden refused the application, stating that allowing fossickers on the ground was not complying with the conditions. He was opposed to the accumulation of a large number of leases, thereby preventing the bona-fide miner making a living; regarding the application for cancellation, that matter rested with the Minister, but if left to him he would certainly cancel the leases.

B.H. BLOCK 14 COMPANY.

HALF-YEAR'S OPERATIONS.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Interest on investments enabled the Broken Hill Block 14 Company to show a profit of £261 for the half-year ended March 31. On the working account there was a loss of £598, but the above-mentioned interest was £859. Depreciation and provision for income tax amounted to £1125, which was not deducted till the profit was struck. The profit and loss account was credited with £7745 by writing back the fund set aside for the provision for a fall in metals. After meeting the interest on preferential shares and paying the dividend of 6d per share the balance carried forward was £55,147, as against £54,767 brought into the accounts. The surplus of liquid assets is £59,267. Mining operations during the half-year were confined to the carbonate stopes on a limited scale. The cost of mining carbonate ore was £1 17s 2d, or a reduction of 5s 4d per ton as compared with the preceding term.

OCCIDENTAL MINE.

ENGINE-DRIVERS' STRIKE.

COBAR, Friday.

The trouble at the Occidental mine, where the engine-drivers struck at midnight on Monday, throwing over 200 men out of work, is more serious than was expected. The management discharged a battery-feeder named Burns, who the union alleges had been victimised, and his reinstatement is demanded. The matter was considered at a meeting of the company directors yesterday. The legal manager said nothing could be made public, but it is understood that Burns will not be reinstated.

The Engine-drivers' Union met last night, and decided to appoint a defence committee to meet the A.M.A. to arrange to issue a manifesto to all the unions for support. They also decided to ask the Occidental directors for a conference.

MINING.

MARKET UNEVEN.

BUYERS LESS BRISK.

VALUES FAIRLY STEADY.

During the closing hours of the Stock Exchange on Thursday there were buyers all over the place bidding for shares. It was a complete change from the doleful state of affairs that ruled earlier in the day. Those who counted upon this more cheerful feeling continuing yesterday morning, and leading to an improved volume of business, even at better rates, were doomed to disappointment. True, the market did not relapse into the doleful mood that possessed members on Thursday morning, but there was a striking falling off in the demand for shares. Many of the leading Barrier stocks were fairly steady at the morning call, but at the noon one, buyers did not quote so vigorously. The same was the case with copper stocks. Tin propositions were practically unaltered. Vegetable Creeks were easier, despite the elaborate pronouncement of the directors in the public press as to the future development of the mine. According to our London correspondent, the metal market closed on Thursday with values mostly unaltered or steady.

The afternoon proceedings were very dull, and, therefore, very uninteresting. The sudden flutter earlier in the week appears to have taken the wind out of operators, and left them trying to recover their breath. Sales in two stocks were noteworthy, those in Hampden-Cloncurry at 25/3 and 25/, showing a marked recovery from the weakness of early in the week, whilst a parcel of Edna May scrip sold firmly on the strength of another dividend of 3s per share declared payable on May 18.

LONDON, May 6.

On the Stock Exchange yesterday Australian mining shares were quoted as follows:—Broken Hill, b 41/6, s 42/6; B.H. North, b 43/9, s 45/; Mount Elliott, b 60/, s 62/6; Waihi G.M., b 42/6, s 45/.

MINING NOTES.

Our Emmaville correspondent telegraphs:—"An additional 30 men have been put on by the Vegetable Creek Tin Mining Company, thus bringing the total employed up to 110. All the shafts are working. The Bourke's Hill mine has closed down one plant owing to a shortage of water. A few showers fell on Thursday, and there is every prospect of a heavy downpour."

VICTORIAN GOLD YIELD.

ON THE DOWN-GRADE.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The gold yield for April was 27,153oz gross, or 25,193oz fine, valued at £108,287. This shows a decrease of 5992oz fine, compared with the yield for April last year. The return for the past four months was 112,744oz gross, or 104,601oz fine, valued at £444,318, compared with the quantity won during the corresponding period of 1914. A decrease of 28,824oz fine has occurred.

KIANDRA GOLD FIELD.

KIANDRA, Friday.

The Nine Mile goldfield has been recently prospected by two representatives of an English company with a view to opening up the field again. The prospectors, who availed themselves of the low condition of the Bullockhead Creek, by turning the stream and cleaning up the bed of the creek, have done fairly well.

AUSTRALIAN WEATHER.

THE "HERALD" MAP.

The monsoonal disturbance which developed into a cyclonic disturbance on Thursday, between Brisbane and New Caledonia, has worked further southwards, and is at present situated between Sydney, Brisbane, and Lord Howe Island.

The extensive high pressure which on Thursday covered the whole of the southern half of the continent and extended across the Tasman Sea to the east of New Zealand, has now broken in halves owing to the intrusion of the cyclonic disturbance off our North Coast. The high pressure over New Zealand still maintains its energy; and, in fact, has gained slightly in barometric values during the 24 hours ended at 9 a.m. yesterday. This antarctic disturbance from Western Australia is advancing slowly eastward, and may possibly result in some rain in the southern districts by Monday or Tuesday.

Ocean Forecast:—Strong but moderating south-easterly winds on the New South Wales coast. Cyclone centred between Port Macquarie and Lord Howe Island, moving eastward, and weakening in intensity.

FEDERAL SESSION.

THE SENATE.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

In the Senate to-day the Minister representing the Minister for External Affairs was asked by Senator Needham (W.A.) whether, in view of the judgment of the High Court in connection with the powers and constitution of the Interstate Commission, the Government intended to do anything to make this expensive body more useful to the Commonwealth than it had been since its creation.

Senator Gardiner, in reply, said the Commission was engaged upon work of very great importance to the Commonwealth, and the Government was satisfied there would be no lack of important questions for the consideration of that body.

The Crimes Bill was received from the House of Representatives, and passed through all stages.

The Patents Bill was also received and read a first time.

The Senate adjourned till Thursday next.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The Minister for Home Affairs, Mr. Archibald, gave notice in the House of Representatives that he would move on Wednesday next—"That the questions of the city railway and plans for ornamental waters at Canberra be referred to the Public Works Committee for investigation."

Mr. Watt (Vic.) asked the Attorney-General, Mr. Hughes, whether he had seen in a paper dated May 4 an article over the name of Adela Pankhurst, which was of a very inflammatory nature; if so, would he take some action in the matter?

Mr. Hughes said he had not seen the copy. Of course he had seen the name before, but he had never been struck by the lady (laughter), and he did not know her well. If she had said anything to which the hon. member took exception he would see what could be done.

The debate on the second reading of the bill to annul Australian contracts made with enemy subjects or for the benefit of enemy subjects was resumed by Mr. Glynn (S.A.), who urged that certain important modifications were essential.

Mr. O'Malley (Tasmania) said the Attorney-General appeared to be losing his bearings in his hatred of everything German.

Mr. Massey Greene (N.S.W.) suggested that the bill was opening the door to the cancellation of contracts which never should be cancelled. That would be commercially immoral.

Mr. Carr (N.S.W.) supported the measure.

The debate was adjourned, and at 4 o'clock the House adjourned till Wednesday.

BARRACKS SWEPT BY RAINSTORM.

SPLENDID VOLUNTEERS.

When the men came up to the small shed yesterday where the enrolling is done nowadays at Victoria Barracks, the rain was coming down in sheets, sweeping across the barrack square in blinding squalls, but these unpleasant conditions failed to prevent over 150 men coming along to offer their services.

A splendid lot they were, too. Men in every sense of the word; and though in such a number of good men it would be hardly fair to differentiate, two out of the number deserve special mention. These two men happened to be the sons of station owners, and managers of the stations their fathers respectively owned. They had only recently arrived in Sydney in charge of a mob of cattle, and until their arrival had not realised the seriousness of the position from the war point of view. When they did they agreed to come up and enlist, and after having passed with flying colours they asked that they might be granted enough leave to complete their fathers' business, and then they would place their services unreservedly at the disposal of the King.

The enrolling officer, remarking on this little incident, said that it showed the spirit of Australians in a similar manner to the roll-up of the previous day, when so many professional men came forward to enlist.

CYCLONIC DISTURBANCE.

STORMY CONDITIONS ON COAST.

The cyclonic disturbance which developed during Thursday night between Brisbane and Clarence Heads has been responsible for a continuation of the bad weather in coastal parts. Heavy rains, strong winds to gales from SE, and rough seas were the chief features. The rain, however, only extended beyond the highlands in rare instances, and then was of such a light nature as to be almost negligible. At 6 p.m. yesterday thick driving rain, accompanied with south-east gales, was falling along the South Coast, but the seas and the wind were gradually moderating elsewhere.

TEN INCHES OF RAIN.

DUNGOG.—Heavy rain has fallen during the past few days, flooding streets and water courses. The river rose rapidly on Thursday, breaking over the banks and flooding all low lying lands. At nightfall the grazing flats on the east side, near the river, were a vast expanse of water, and stock had to be removed to a place of safety.

Mr. George Walker's residence in Hooke-street was in danger of being flooded. The water came up to the house. Nearly ten inches of rain were recorded up to 9 o'clock on Friday morning.

FLOODS AT WEST MAITLAND.

WEST MAITLAND, Friday.

Over seven inches of rain have fallen in the district since Monday night. The river is up 22ft, and overflowing its banks at Porter's, Pitnacree, and M'Rae's Hollow.

SOLDIERS' CLUB.

The Royal Hotel is making ready to house the Soldiers' Club, and the committee wishes to thank those who have already been kind enough to contribute furniture to it—Mrs. F. E. Winchcombe for easy chairs, Mr. Beale for a piano, and the promise of a linen tea to be given at Mrs. Adams' drawing-room at Willoughby. A few writing tables and some plain wall mirrors are needed for the club still.

The "Awakening of Australia" in aid of the club promises a unique performance in music, painting, and living statuary.

Inquiries about the club should be sent to Dr. Mary Booth, 17 Castlereagh-street.

LIGHTER SINKS.

NIGHTWATCHMAN MISSING.

Shortly after midnight of Wednesday a lighter, which was moored alongside the steamer Geelong at Garden Island, sank, and as its nightwatchman, Richard Strong, of Victoria-road, is missing, it is thought that he went down with her.

At about 12.30 a.m. a splash attracted an officer's attention on the Geelong, and he saw the lighter settle down. She is in about 26ft of water, and 10ft of her masts and ends of her derricks are showing. Such is her position that the Geelong was prevented from coming out from the wharf yesterday.

Operations have commenced to raise the sunken lighter. She is owned by Messrs. Brown, Limited, of Woolloomooloo.

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

Tattersall's Club will cater for metropolitan racegoers at Randwick this afternoon; and the Wallsend Jockey Club will provide an outing for Northern sportsmen. The South Australian Jockey Club will open its Cup meeting at Adelaide; the Moonee Valley Club will cater for Victorians; and the Albion Park Club for Brisbane sportsmen; while Western Australians will assemble at Kalgoorlie.

LATEST SCRATCHINGS.

TATTERSALL'S RACES.

Tattersall's Stakes: Bunny Hug.
Hurdle Race: Kurnalpi.

NEWCASTLE CUP MEETING.

Newcastle Cup.—Hallmark, Royal Rufus, Bally Seedy, and Lardner.

TATTERSALL'S CLUB.

AUTUMN MEETING.

ANTICIPATIONS.

Tattersall's Club will hold its Autumn race meeting at Randwick this afternoon, and the bill of fare provided promises sport of the high standard associated with the national pastime at headquarters. The recent rain has benefited the reserves and tracks, which are covered with bright verdure. The club has made due preparation for a pleasant outing, and in all departments the requirements of a large assemblage have been anticipated. The customary transit arrangements will be in vogue, special trams running between Circular Quay (via Oxford-street), and the Railway Square loop (via Cleveland-street) and the racecourse.

The sport commences at 1.30 p.m., with the Hurdle Race, in which the prospects of Bibbenluke, Merrimax, Demand, Compromise, and Jacoleen seem brightest, and Jacoleen may be escorted past the post by Merrimax and Compromise.

An interesting contest is promised for the Flying Handicap, in which Athenic, Lady Denman, Sweet Malt, Herringbone, and Best Scot should figure prominently, and the numbers may be hoisted for Sweet Malt, Best Scot, and Athenic.

Poinsettia, Utum, Lady Skopos, and Kolapore should have the settlement of Tattersall's Stakes among them, and the judge may declare for Poinsettia, Utum, and Kolapore.

A large field is foreshadowed for the Two-year-old Handicap, and the most likely to be in the fighting line towards the end of the trip are Sir John Barleycorn, Bulbo, Torchey, Galen, and Downstream; while Downstream, Bulbo, and Sir John Barleycorn may pass the post as named.

Should all start for the Winter Stakes the field will be two more than that of last year, when Sir Alwynton, carrying 7st, was successful, beating 17 others. Sir Alwynton on this occasion holds pride of place, with 9st 3lb, and that should be within his compass. Tartanus should act well under 8st 7lb, and on the same mark Simon Frisco should give a good account of himself, while Silver Grain, with 7st 13lb, should be handy towards the finish. Matouree should run well, while Chid, King Mostyn, Necktie, and Sir Vive should be prominent at the finish, and the honours may be devided by Simon Frisco, Silver Grain, and Sir Vive, unless separated by Tartanus.

The Welter Handicap brings the meeting to a close, and a large field may be expected at the post. The chances of Royal Laddie, Orama, Miss Bob, Danaus, Third Prize, and Kirribilli, seem brightest, and the places may be filled by Kirribilli, Miss Bob, and Third Prize.

DUBBO JOCKEY CLUB.

PEGANOIE WINS GRAND STAND HANDICAP.

MURIATE AUTUMN HANDICAP.

DUBBO, Friday.

The Show Meeting of the Dubbo Jockey Club commenced to-day in cloudy weather. The attendance totalled about 1500. The course was in splendid condition after the recent showers. All the races were well contested, and it is quite evident from the interest shown in this and recent meetings in Dubbo that the old-time popularity of the sport in this district is returning. Results:—

Opening Handicap of 20 sovs, 6f.—J. Evans's b g Coonoona, by Conqueror—Berenee, 5yrs, 8st 12lb (Fox), 1; J. Mayne's Muriate, 9st (M'Hugh), 2; J. G. Gilvie's Immediation, 8st 10lb (Wente), 3. COURSING.

MONTROY WINS DERBY.

ALL MINE THE OAKS.

The concluding day of the Derby and Oaks meeting was fairly attended. Light rain fell nearly all day, and made the running ground slippery. Speculation was brisk, and backers fared badly, as several hot favourites were beaten.

Montroy, the Derby winner, was not a public fancy, despite his sterling work. Yet he beat Noen's Hope (2 to 1 on), Live Wire (6 to 1 on), De Aar (5 to 2 on), and Castle Island (3 to 1 on).

All Mine accounted for the Oaks, Jewel Clad for the Woodstock Cup, and Francesca's King the Novice Stakes.

Mr. James White, of Corowa, judged most satisfactorily.

DERBY.

Second Ties.

Castle Island (4 to 1 on) beat Medium Vindex, leading by three lengths; he scored a hit on the hill.

Breech Block (2 to 1 on) led Flabbergasted by four lengths, and won easily.

Comic Opera (7 to 2 against) got the better of the slips against Black Agam, led by two lengths, and won after a well-contested course.

Montroy (6 to 4 against) led De Aar by a length and a half, and won with a good margin.

Third Ties.

Castle Island (even money) got a good break on Block Breech at the slips, and led up by a full length, the latter swinging out. The hare was caught in the soft ground on the flat. The course was not a satisfactory test.

Montroy (3 to 4 on) came from behind and led Comic Opera by a length and a half. The former, working with great determination, won very easily.

Deciding Course.

F. Schofield's blk and w d Montroy (Sockless Gold Bangle) beat A. Burke's blk and w d Castle Island (Kilmeadon Dewy Mist), and won the stake. From a level slip the rivals had a grand run up to the hare, which Montroy won by a length. Retaining possession, he piled on points in great style. Castle Island seemed to be affected by the heavy going. The betting was 2 to 1 on Castle Island, 5 to 2 v Montroy.

OAKS.

Second Ties.

Dusty Queen (4 to 1 on) beat Fine Frolic by four lengths in the run-up, and scored easily.

Hannolbar (even money) was two lengths faster to the hare than Lady Pistol, and won. The latter did not get away well.

All Mine (4 to 1 on) beat Sweet Ella pointless, leading by six lengths.

Third Ties.

Hannolbar (even money) made up leeway, and led Dusty Queen by two lengths, winning comfortably.

All Mine, a bye.

Deciding Course.

J. Adams's bk and w b All Mine (Grand Slam—Dividend), 5 to 4 on, beat E. Lees's bk b Hannolbar (Barcoo—Gipsy Girl), and won the stake. All Mine led by two lengths, and won easily. The loser was off the line of game on the hill.

WOODSTOCK CUP.

First Ties.

Foggerty Jones (5 to 4 on) led Light Aloft by two lengths, and won after a series of exchanges.

Wayback Tilly (even money) just led In Haste, and working with great keenness won well.

Jewel Clad (5 to 1 on) outpaced Paddy Slam, and scored easily.

Second Ties.

Wayback Tilly (6 to 4 against) got the best of the slip by five lengths against Foggerty Jones, who was two lengths behind at the turn. The former finished very strong, and scored with a good margin to spare.

Jewel Clad ran a bye.

Deciding Course.

Jarrett Bros.' bk d Jewel Clad (McDougall Jewel Box), 5 to 4 on, beat J. Wardale's r b Wayback Tilly (Galtimore—Waverleal), and won the stake. From a good slip, Jewel Clad led up by three lengths. Wayback Tilly took possession after the turn, and, working right on the line, rubbed out her arrears. When the points were level, she slipped on her head, allowing the speedy Jewel Clad to get in and drive to cover.

WOODSTOCK NOVICE.

First Ties.

Francesca's King (even money) led Hill End by four lengths, and won all the way.

Wild Fire (2 to 1 against) led Birthday, and on the hill gave him the go-bye.

Sealed Orders (6 to 4 on) beat Leta, leading by three lengths.

Lulu Belle (3 to against) beat Blue Berry pointless.

Second Ties.

Francesca's King (5 to 1 on) beat Wild Fire in the run-up by four lengths, and won in good style.

Lulu Belle (5 to 2 against) beat Sealed Orders, who lost six lengths at the slips, and was led by two. The go-bye went to Lulu Belle's credit, and she scored easily.

Deciding Course.

J. Donovan's bk and w d Francesca's King (Comedy King—Francesca), 4 to 1 on, beat H. Turner's f b Lulu Belle (Simonides—Refinery), and won the stake. The winner led by two lengths, and won easily.

BOXING.

DEMLEN AND M'NABB.

An international welter-weight contest will form the principal attraction at the Rushcutter Bay Stadium to-night, when the Belgian champion, Henri Demlen, will oppose Australian Billy M'Nabb, in a 20-round contest. Demlen accounted for Frank Loughrey, the hard-hitting American, a fortnight ago, and M'Nabb's last Sydney appearance was against Fritz Holland. The match will commence at 8.30, and will be preceded by two six round contests, in which Harry Lee will meet Arthur Corbett, and Ernie Williams is matched with Tommy Noel.

LIBERAL BANQUET.

SPEECHES BY INTERSTATE VISITORS.

ENCOURAGING OUTLOOK.

Mr. C. G. Wade, K.C., leader of the Liberal party in New South Wales, presided over a representative gathering at a dinner which was held at Parliament House last night, in honour of the visiting Cabinet Ministers.

In proposing the toast of "Our Guests," coupled with the names of Sir Alexander Peacock and Mr. O'Sullivan, Mr. Wade said Liberalism in New South Wales was temporarily, perhaps, under a cloud, but there was a good time coming. (Applause.) He was glad to know that in Victoria Liberalism was strong and steady, and he expressed the hope that in Queensland the cause would emerge triumphantly from the elections on the 22nd inst. If Liberals were returned they could be relied upon to support Australian sentiment. (Applause.)

Sir Joseph Carruthers supported the toast. He said we were now having a taste of the political ideals of the Labour party. This experience might save Australia in the future.

Sir Alexander Peacock said the gathering was one which clearly indicated that the Liberal party was not down-hearted, and that its members were determined to keep the flag flying until the cause could be triumphant again. He looked forward to a victory in Queensland. (Hear, hear.) In Victoria the Liberal party had practically a continuity of power, because it was progressive and democratic. He, as leader, would never neglect the interests of the workers, but he would not give them preference to unionists. (Hear, hear.) He always kept in mind the young and rising generation. Under the Liberal Government of Victoria it had not been found necessary to reduce the Public servants. The State had carried on its works, and borrowed when it wanted to "upon terms better than those secured by the Dominion of Canada." Liberalism would come again in New South Wales. (Applause.) He was glad to hear the cheerful note of Mr. Wade. The people outside liked to see a party game and plucky, and not dispirited. (Hear, hear.) There was hope for Liberalism even in Western Australia. The tide was on the turn there, and the Liberals might score a majority at the next elections.

Mr. T. O'Sullivan responded on behalf of Queensland. The prospects for May 22 were, he said, very hopeful. In the last Parliament the Liberals had a majority of 24. The Labour party would have to get 12 to be equal, and win about 14 seats to have a working majority. They could not deny the fact that the Labour party was a striking force. Liberals should, therefore, not represent any one class, but should consider the interests of the workers, as well as those of their own immediate supporters. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Donald M'Kinnon proposed the toast of "Our Allies," which was acknowledged by the singing of the Marseillaise.

Mr. A. H. Grimm, M.L.A., and Mr. Malcolm M'Eacharn ably assisted to the entertainment of the visitors.

FEDERAL CAPITAL.

MR. GRIFFIN'S METHOD REJECTED.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The Minister for Home Affairs, Mr. Archibald, referring to-day to the building of the Federal capital, said he had turned down the scheme which the Federal capital designer, Mr. Griffin, had submitted to the department last year, when the late Government was in office, for inviting competitive plans for the erection of the principal buildings. This would have probably involved a journey abroad by the capital site designer, and circumstances had so changed, in consequence of the war, that what might have been advisable before, was no longer so. The Minister intimated that another scheme had been prepared to which he intended to give almost immediate effect.

CASUALTIES.

RAILWAY FATALITY.

A navvy named Benjamin Durin, residing at the camp adjacent to the duplication works of the South Coast railway line at Thirroul, was run over and killed by a goods train near the Thirroul crossing at about 10.30 p.m. on Thursday night. His left arm was severed, and his skull fractured.

DANGEROUS FALL.

CONDOBOLIN, Friday.

Yesterday John Carroll, son of Edward Carroll, of Condobolin, while lopping currajong for stock at Boona West slipped and fell some distance to the ground. At the hospital it was ascertained that a couple of vertebrae were crushed. He is making fair progress.

MINER BADLY HURT.

BROKEN HILL, Friday.

James Moore, employed at Central mine, was rather badly hurt on Wednesday by a fall of earth at the 600ft level.

A MINE ACCIDENT.

GRENFELL, Thursday.

At Hoskins Bros.' manganese mine two men were seriously injured by a fall of earth. They were taken to Grenfell Hospital.

DOCTOR'S DEATH.

ANGLEDOOL, Thursday.

The death occurred of Dr. Murray Laffan as a result of his swallowing a chicken-bone. Bleeding in the throat was the cause from which he died.

COFF'S HARBOUR, Friday.

While returning to camp on Saturday J. Noye, employed on the line between here and Repton, was drowned. He with some others was crossing Boambee Creek in a boat, when the boat capsized, the occupants being thrown into the water. The others in the boat managed to cling to the bridge until pulled out by a couple of men.

METROPOLITAN BOARD OF WATER SUPPLY AND SEWERAGE, 341 Pitt-street,
Sydney, 22nd April, 1915.
NOTICE TO ARCHITECTS, PLUMBERS, AND OTHERS.

The Attention of Architects, Plumbers, etc., is drawn to the following regulations governing water supply services, which have been adopted by the Board:—

1. After the first day of September, 1915, only galvanised iron or steel pipes having an internal diameter of not less than ½-inch may be fixed in connection with water services laid under the control of the Board, whether the same be designed or intended to take water directly from the Board's water mains or from storage tanks.
2. Where, in the opinion of the Board, it is necessary to connect up to existing fittings, a short length of pipe to the approval of the Board of less diameter than ½-inch may, with the Board's permission in each case previously obtained, be used.
3. Any pipes which may be laid after the said first day of September, 1915, otherwise than in accordance with these regulations, must be forthwith removed upon the order of the Board, or its duly authorised officer, at the expense of the person who laid, or is found to be using, such pipes.
4. Any regulations of the Board heretofore made which shall be inconsistent with these regulations are to the extent of such inconsistency hereby repealed.

THOMAS ROSEBY,
(61-95) Acting Secretary.

ENGLISH AGENCY. The Undersigned, established upwards of 60 years, confine themselves exclusively to a General Commission Business, are well acquainted with Australian requirements, and possess special facilities for purchasing goods to the best advantage in the English and Continental markets.

Indents should be accompanied by cash remittances or bank letters of credit, to ensure full trade discounts. Account sales of produce under consignment rendered promptly, and net proceeds remitted or invested to order.

The Shipping Department has been largely developed of late years, and where indents are sent direct to manufacturers to shipment and insurance of the goods are effected upon the most favourable terms.

GOVERNMENT NOTICES.

State Fisheries,
Chief Secretary's Department,
Sydney, April 28, 1915.

APPLICATION FOR LEASE FOR OYSTER CULTURE.

It is hereby notified for general information that the undermentioned person has applied to lease for oyster culture the portion of land described below. A tracing, showing the position of the portion, may be inspected at this Department (Fisheries Branch) daily, excepting Saturdays, between 11 and 3 o'clock, and on Saturdays between 11 and 12 o'clock. Any person may, by memorial to the Chief Secretary, within thirty days from the date of this notice, and on grounds to be stated in such memorial, pray that a lease of the portion may not be granted. All objections on account of interference with alleged hauling grounds must be accompanied by a statutory declaration by one or more of the licensed fishermen so objecting, that they have personally known bona fide hauls to have been made over the area during the preceding 12 months. They must also be prepared to make a test haul with their own nets when requested to do so.

G. H. S. KING,
Under-Secretary.

ABSOLUTE WATER FRONTAGES
in this
MOST IMPORTANT LOCALITY.
"JERVIS BAY TOWNSHIP ESTATE" occupies a CHARMING POSITION about 1 mile from HUSKISSON, where SYDNEY STEAMERS call. Here the nucleus of a lucrative Shipping and Timber business has been established, and it is impossible to estimate to what bounds it will extend.
"JERVIS BAY TOWNSHIP ESTATE" is a site originally selected by the late Sir Henry Parkes, and adjoins Land reserved by the Crown for Railway and Defence purposes.
"JERVIS BAY TOWNSHIP ESTATE" is the only ABSOLUTE WATER-FRONTAGE Land available in Jervis Bay. ABSOLUTELY FREE FROM ROCKS. LOVELY WHITE SANDY BEACH, similar to Coogee and Manly,
overlooking the whole of JERVIS BAY, with all its lovely BAYS, HEADLANDS, HEADS, and the NAVAL COLLEGE.
THE ESTATE is to be offered by Public Auction,
IN OUR ROOMS, 283 GEORGE-STREET,
THURSDAY, MAY 27, AT 11.30 A.M.
THE NAVAL COLLEGE has been established, is now occupied by a large number of STUDENTS, and already great activity is to be seen in the District.
THE PROPOSED RAILWAY FROM NOWRA TO JERVIS BAY must pass very near, if not THROUGH, THIS ESTATE, and
BUYERS MUST REAP HANDSOME PROFITS.

DRUMMOND'S LATHES,
THE LATHES WITH THE REPUTATIONS.

Every engineer and fitter knows well DRUMMOND'S LATHES. Why? Because at the back of every DRUMMOND LATHE there is a reputation for reliability, durability, and Cash Value. The name of DRUMMOND BROS. on a Lathe is just as great a safeguard to the steel worker as the Hall Mark on Silver is to the public. The presence of either on an article means a solid guarantee. We cannot tell you here just what DRUMMOND LATHES will do; so call or drop a line, and our Expert will give full specifications and details.

DRUMMOND'S 3½in LATHES, centre back geared, self-acting, sliding, boring, and screw-cutting, as well; suitable for precise work and inventor's model work.

DRUMMOND'S 4in LATHES.—A new design for model makers, who require a tool capable of very varied and accurate work; highest grade workmanship throughout.

DRUMMOND 5in LATHES, specially designed for motor car repairing, adapted for reboring twin cylinders.

DRUMMOND 7½in and 9in LATHES, high speed, fully designed up to the capacity of modern steels. They do the heaviest work with wonderful accuracy.

Also in Stock:

HIGH-SPEED LATHES,	MILLING MACHINES
DRILLING MACHINES	RADIAL DRILLS,

IT'S THE INSULATION THAT COUNTS!

The point to consider in your Steam Plant is—is your insulation perfect? This is the most likely place for a leakage to occur; it is also a part of your plant that can be decidedly improved. The matter of insulation is in many cases sadly neglected, which means that you are really burning twice as much fuel as you should.

By adopting

NEWALL'S MAGNESIA SECTIONAL STEAM PIPE AND BOILER COVERINGS

you can effect a saving of 50 per cent. in your coal bill. This material has long been recognised as the most perfect insulation obtainable, and has been adopted exclusively by the British Admiralty, the N.S.W. and Victorian Governments, and by some of the largest power users in Australia. The reputation enjoyed by these coverings is due to their exceptional efficiency, unvarying quality, and adaptability. May we send you samples?

WUNDERLICH SHOP-FRONTS,
Australian Products for Australian PEOPLE.

There is no shop-front that has the dignity and artistic appearance that the well-designed and executed metal shop front has.

In this work we have exceptional facilities for turning out the higher class work.

Special machinery for working the metal mouldings has been installed, and there is no shop-front design which we are not prepared to undertake. Any of the metals may be used—Copper, Brass, or Silverite, etc.

You will find it good business to make your shop as up-to-date as possible. Others are doing so, and reaping the benefit in increased orders.

For further details, see our catalogues and other literature. Use the coupon.

SURRY MOTOR SCHOOL (Reg.), 81 Campbell-street, near Elizabeth-street.

MOTOR DRIVING MEANS MORE MONEY if you are trained at DOHERTY and ADAMS' MOTOR SCHOOL, where each pupil is tutored up to the highest possible pitch. Your driver's licence has no more value than A SCRAP OF PAPER if it is not backed up by a thorough knowledge of every mechanical and electrical detail of the car. Mr. JAMES McMAHON, 21 Loftus-street, writes:—
"I desire to express my high appreciation of your systematic method. When I joined your school I had not the slightest knowledge of motor mechanism, and had never attempted to drive; but the tuition was so systematic and easy that I could not fail to get on."
Our country pupils find their lodging expenses light. If you make full inquiries at the large garages you will join no other school. Call or write for testimonials. 64 OXFORD-ST, city (2 doors below P.O.). Tel., Wm.-st 384. Read Monday's Advt.

MEN WANTED, SYDNEY MOTOR SCHOOL, PALKER AND WILLIAM STREETS, CITY.
Before joining ask to see what you are going to learn and practise on. We Teach Everything in Motoring. COME AND SEE STUDENTS WORKING ON 14 CARS, such as Fiat, Talbot, De Dion, Oldsmobile, Ford, Humber, Flanders, Clement (4 Stoewer Cars), 20 Magnetos, Air Compressors, Motor Tyre Fitting and Repairs; Screw-cutting Lathes, Bosch Dual Ignition, 20 Carburettors, Tyre Vulcanisers, complete workshop. The largest and oldest in Australia. Testimonials by the score. The following is a fair sample:—
207 Bridge-road, Glebe Point.
H. S. Hardy, Esq.
Dear Sir, After having passed through the full course at the Sydney Motor School, and obtained my Police License, I wish to state that I have reason to be well satisfied with the instruction I received under your tuition, and feel quite competent and confident to take charge of any car. At present I am employed by the Government at the State Brick Works.
Although there were several applicants (and all the others had references of long experience), when the severe test was applied by the Manager I found myself the successful applicant.
I attribute my success to the careful tuition given by you to your pupils, leading them step by step through every portion of a car.
The car I am driving now is a 58-H.P. Lacre Motor Lorry.
Yours faithfully, (Sgd.) R. A. HAWKINS.
FULL COURSE, £5 5s. NO EXTRAS.
